

British Issue Revised List Of Most Wanted Men Of EOKA

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Nicosia, Cyprus (AP) — The British government Sunday issued a revised list of 35 "most wanted" men of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground.

It put prizes of up to £10,000 on their heads and offered free transportation to any place in the world for Cypriots willing to turn in any of the rebels.

The new list is headed by 59-year-old George Grivas, former Greek army colonel who is the reputed chieftain of Greek Cypriot rebels fighting to overthrow British rule and unite Cyprus with Greece. The British offer a reward of £10,000 for Grivas' capture.

The roster included 16 other EOKA leaders on whose heads the British put a price of £5,000 each and 18 lesser lieutenants for whom rewards up to £2,000 are offered.

A list published last February named only 19 EOKA "hard core" men, including Grivas.

Among those on the £5,000 list is 24-year-old Makos Drakos, reported to be Grivas' right-hand man and No. 2 in the EOKA command.

The British also offered rewards for the recovery of arms, ranging from £10 for a sporting gun to £100 for a Bren gun mortar.

The 35 men on the wanted poster are generally believed to be the hard core of EOKA. Most or all of them are thought to be hiding out in the rugged mountains along the north coast and in central Cyprus.

Meanwhile, Bishop Yennadios of Salamis said in a statement printed in the Greek-language newspaper Eleftheria:

"The presence in Cyprus of foreign troops for serving aims alien to the desires of the Cypriot people is condemned by them. We consider that this action by the British proves that Britain is not seriously concerned in finding a solution to satisfy the desires of the Cypriot people for self-determination, and so the gap between the British government and the Cypriot people becomes wider."

A British soldier was wounded Sunday by a bomb explosion on the recreation beach near Limassol on the south Cyprus coast.

Predicts Global Climate Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the Atomic Energy Commission predicted Sunday that nations within a few decades will achieve global climate control, raising the prospect of weather warfare.

Commissioner John von Neumann said man's knowledge is "rapidly approaching a level that will make possible, in a few decades, intervention in atmospheric and climatic matters."

He did not indicate what form climate control methods might take but said once they are developed, "they will be exploited."

Industrial Growth Has Changed Picture In Trade

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's growth in industrial statistics changed the character of her expanding international trade.

Some products which once ranked high as important exports and imports now are far down in the list. And some which barely counted in the 1920s have moved steadily toward the front.

Take cattle, silver, cheese and fur skins, for example. Back in 1926-29 they ranked among the 20 leading export products. Last year they were far down in the list. Undressed fur skins ranked 35th; unmanufactured silver, 38th; and cattle and cheese were lower than 40th.

Meanwhile, iron ore and oil, which ranked lower than 40th in the export scale in 1926-29, swept forward. Oil was 19th on the list last year; iron ore, eighth.

Some similar changes are noted by the bureau of statistics in imports. Coal, gasoline, whisky, wool fabrics, silk fabrics and crude rubber once figured high on Canada's list of purchases. Last year they were far down.

Anthracite coal ranked sixth among leading imports in 1926-29; last year it was 35th. Whisky dropped from the ninth spot to lower than 40th. Gasoline slipped to 20th from 15th.

An indication of the growth of the industrial structure could be obtained from some of these other shifts:

Among exports newspaper climbed to the No. 1 spot from No. 2 while wheat dropped to third from first. Nickel became the fifth most important export item after being 13th in 1926-29. Aluminium rose to sixth from 23rd. Wheat flour slipped to 11th from third.

Among imports, non-farm machinery and parts retained the No. 1 spot over the years while automobile parts rose to second from third. Tractors and parts climbed to seventh place from 17th and internal combustion engines and parts to eighth from 20th. Aircraft and parts rose to fifth position from one of lower than 40th.

Tignish Pastor Bids Farewell In Two Languages

On the Sunday prior to his leaving St. Simon and St. Jude parishes, Tignish, Rev. Dennis Gallant was remembered by the parishioners, all of who greatly regret his leaving.

Two well worded addresses were read to him, one in the French language by Mr. Alban Arsenault, and one in English by Mr. Ray Handrigan. A well filled purse was presented to him on behalf of the parishioners by Mr. Terrance Gavin.

Father Gallant thanks the people for their kindness and thoughtfulness to him during the five years he had been in the parish. For the past five years Father Gallant had laboured in the parish, and the fruits of his work is plain to see. He had the spiritual welfare of the people always uppermost in his thoughts, and especially the youth of the parish. As he goes to New York to take a special course in Gregorian Music for the coming year, he has the good wishes and prayers of the Tignish people with him.

The following is the English address:

Dear Rev. Father Gallant: Five years ago you came to our parish newly ordained, an "Altar Christus", consecrated in God's work in the salvation of souls.

That you prepared well for, and seriously considered your vocation, has been proven in your sojourn in our midst. Your constant effort to further the cause of the Christian Education, by your timely sermons, your visits to our schools, your exhortations to the youth of our parish, to take advantage of the facilities provided by our higher-grade schools, should continue to bear fruit for many years to come.

We have come to admire your straight forward attitude in regard to any matter which would seem contrary to the teachings of our religion. We must realize that there can be no appeasement of false philosophies and moreover, no compromise with

Hay Fever Still Holds Out Against Intense Research

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill university researchers are making headway against the allergy involved in hay fever and asthma.

A team of 14 young scientists, headed by a medical doctor and a physical chemist, is hard at work on the causes of the allergic reaction that makes autumn weeks a misery for thousands every year. Continuous research is under way in the university's Donner Building for medical research. Already a dozen papers have been published on the project, and scientists all over the world are calling for results.

Researchers are backed by funds from Canadian and U. S. health authorities, and grants from a number of pharmaceutical companies. They are aided as well by newly-developed laboratory equipment of great precision.

Dr. Bram Rose, associate professor of medicine at McGill and president of the Canadian Academy of Allergy, initiated the research in 1953. He soon saw the problem was too complex to be studied by the medical field alone, and enlisted the help of Dr. Alex Sehon, a physical chemist from Manchester University. Today the two head a research staff of highly-trained men in both physiological and biological science, many of them graduates of McGill's department of biochemistry.

Mrs. Felix Gaudet Elected President Of M. A. Alumnae

The annual meeting of the Marian Academy Alumnae was held in the Parish Hall on September 2, 1956. There was a fair attendance. The meeting was honored by the presence of the newly appointed Mother Superior, Mother Saint Jean-de Lorraine, and three other sisters of the convent.

The President, Mrs. Jerry Richard, presided. She noted that Sister Saint Mary Sextus, who has been prime organizer and leader of this association since its first reunion in 1934 has been changed this year. Her presence will be greatly missed among us.

The year was a very successful one from a financial standpoint. A lottery sponsored by the alumnae to help a seminarian netted $112.00. The drawing for the prizes of the lottery was the highlight of the meeting. The winners were: 1st prize, Mrs. Reggie Gaudet, St. Nicholas; 2nd prize Junior Laughlin, Missouche; 3rd prize Mrs. Laperle, Worcester, Mass.

Gerald Steele gave an interesting talk on the advantages of a Catholic education. The officers appointed for the coming year are as follows: President: Mrs. Felix Gaudet, Honorary President: Rev. Mother Superior; Secretary: Mrs. Sylvère Gaudet, Treasurer: Miss Eleanor DesRoches.

RELEASE HISTAMINE
Allergy symptoms occur when allergens, entering the body, release a substance called histamine, a powerful agent formally held in suspension by body cells. Anti-histamine compounds are frequently used to relieve symptoms. The McGill researchers' aim is to discover just how the allergy reaction is produced, why some people are immune to it, and what can be found to stop it.

Already the McGill team has demonstrated the presence of specific antibodies in the blood of individuals allergic to ragweed pollen, and has isolated the allergens in the pollen itself.

But there is no final solution yet. Some sufferers get relief by taking skin injections to desensitize the blood to specific allergens. Others dose themselves with a variety of drugs to relieve the worst of the symptoms.

The best medical advice is still to meet the problem by avoiding it. Don't go near that ragweed.

Former Airman Returns With His Family

Friends in Summerside are extending a welcome to Alex (Bill) Kerr formerly of Galston, Scotland and now of Halifax, who with his wife, mother and sister are spending a few days in Summerside, the guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. Donald MacKay.

Many in Summerside will recall the story of how seriously ill Bill Kerr was at R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, while he was training here under the NATO Plan about four years ago. At that time he underwent an operation for appendicitis after which peritonitis set in and for a time it was feared that he would not live.

His mother and father were flown from Scotland to Montreal and an R.C.A.F. plane was dispatched from Summerside to bring them to their son's bedside. Happily he recovered after days of patient nursing and medical care. Perhaps it was the excellent nursing that brought him through but in any event he later married his nurse the former Rowena Mercer and they with their fourteen-month-old baby have returned to them to their son's bedside.

evils. Your work to teach the children to sing the Divine Praises in a manner dear to the heart of our Holy Father, has become our special pride, and won the admiration of the whole diocese.

In your organization of the L'acordaire society, and in your treatment of the altar and choir boys, you have proven to our young people, that goodness, christian living and enjoyment of life, are far from being incompatible.

Your work with our dramatic club has given our people on incentive to continue, for they have been shown that talent abounds, if efforts are made to develop it.

Your resourcefulness on the unforeseen breakdown in health of our beloved pastor, and your selflessness in regarding his welfare won our heartfelt co-operation; that you have come to love our parish and its people, has been well shown by the manner in which you have thrown yourself, heart and soul, into the work at hand, even though surmising that your time with us might be limited.

Today, we regret that we must bid you farewell, you are going, let us hope, to prepare yourself for further work in our diocese, from which we may share future benefits.

May we be remembered in your prayers and masses, as you will be in ours.

Parishioners of St. Simon and St. Jude Parish, Tignish.

Nasser Calls Control Plan For Suez Canal "Provocative"

LONDON (AP)—President Nasser of Egypt said Sunday night any attempt to impose "collective domination" on the Suez Canal would signal "incalculable strife."

He made the statement in a note to the five-nation Meeles commission.

The text of the note was released here along with other conference documents by the Australian government.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia was chairman of the Suez conference to Cairo in the commission sent by the London present views of the conference on future control of the canal.

The talks closed without agreement after a final 25-minute session with Nasser Sunday night. Nasser reaffirmed that his policy was to maintain free passage through the canal without discrimination. He said the 18-nation plan to put the canal under international control was intended to take the waterway "out of Egypt's hands" and added:

"It would be difficult to imagine anything more provocative to the people of Egypt than this."

The published note disclosed he said "it would be not the end of trouble but the beginning of trouble."

He insisted the "Government of Egypt is fully entitled to nationalize" the canal.

"Whatever the system of operating of the canal is going to be," he said, "it will depend on the close, full and willing co-operation of the people of Egypt, among whom and through whose country the canal runs . . ."

LESLIE CARON AND JOHN KERR IN LOVE STORY AT CAPITAL SUMMERSIDE

A love story that touches the heart and that will leave most of its viewers misty-eyed is being shown at the Capitol Theatre. It is M-G-M's "Gaby", filmed in Cinemascope and color, with Leslie Caron and John, one of the screen's most talented newcomers, in the starring roles.

The theme of "Gaby" is a timeless one. It is that of a girl whose moral scruples keep her apart from the soldier she loves on the eve of his departure for the front. Then comes the report of his death and the realization that she has denied the few hours of happiness he might have had before being killed.

Now an embittered Gaby sets out to make up for her mistake by offering what happiness she can to other boys who many never come back from the fighting. And then she learns that Greg is still alive. When he returns, eager to marry her, Gaby has to face the crucial decision of whether or not to tell him the truth. The outcome of her decision and the story's final denouement make for a drama of surging emotional power.

Vatican Paper Says Reds Are Attempting To Use The Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano said Saturday Communists are attempting to use the Pope for propaganda purposes in an apparent drive to end their co-existence campaign to the Roman Catholic Church.

It notes the Communists speak now of "similarities" in preachings of the Pope and pronouncements of Russia for peace and disarmament.

The Vatican-published newspaper says editorially the Communist course is aimed only at weakening "the resistance of the Christian conscience."

"COMMUNISM today, as before," L'Osservatore Romano says, "considers religion the opiate of the people," and would use religion as a tool to destroy itself.

The comment was motivated by an article in the Italian Communist weekly Vie Nuova, which wrote of a new climate in relations between the Holy See and the Soviet Union.

Vie Nuova referred to a call made by the Soviet charge d'affaires in Rome on the Vatican's apostolic nuncio in late August to deliver a copy of a disarmament appeal by the Supreme Soviet.

FIRST CONTACT
Radio Moscow described this as "the first official Soviet contact" with the Vatican. Moscow and the Holy See have no diplomatic relations and their co-existence campaign to the Italian government.

Pope Pius himself warned in a radio address Sept. 2 against what he called the mirage of a false co-existence. He spoke of the gravest and most dangerous persecutions the Roman Catholic Church has known.

He said the fundamental conditions for any true co-existence to minister to its members and preach the gospel in conformity with a country's constitution and laws.
