

MARY MCQUAID AND EARL BOSWALL
Womens Institute Awards
Given At Little York

Mary McQuaid of Millcove and Earl Boswall of Dunstaffnage were awarded Women's Institute scholarships during a special presentation ceremony in Little York Community Hall on Thursday evening, August 27.

In first place was Miss McQuaid, 15-year-old daughter of Joseph McQuaid. Mary completed grade 9 in Millcove school, then attended the Charlotteville Regional High for grade 10. She expects to continue her high school education at Notre Dame Academy but is undecided about any special career.

Earl Boswall, son of Gordon Boswall, is 16. He attended Dunstaffnage school until grade 10 when he enrolled at the Regional High. Although Earl has not as yet any definite scholastic plans, he will complete his high school education at P.W.C.

Mary and Earl led a group of 40 students from nine communities competing for the scholarships which are donated by the district president, Mrs. Nelida Murray, Irene Doyle of Pleasant Row, who placed third in the competition. Mary was warmly congratulated by the president for her excellent work.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. Rupert Godfrey, Marshfield. As the leader of the Marshfield Safety Committee which won the Canada Carol Lane Safety Award two successive years, Mrs. Godfrey enumerated some of the projects which she hoped would be adopted by other safety-conscious groups. She strongly decried the unprecedented number of accidents which have occurred already on the island this year and stressed the benefits which could be derived if more Institutes would organize safety groups.

Entertainment was provided by representative of various Institutes: Gail Palmer, Dunstaffnage, step-dance; Marjorie Maye, West Cove, head, a reading - Housecleaning; Charlene Peters, Millcove, step-dance; Donna Smith, Winslow North, a piano solo; Grandfather's Clock; Cathy Corrigan, Pleasant Row, step-dancing; Geryl Vessey, York, a piano solo; Paderewski's Minuet in B; Mrs. Jack Carr, Marshfield, vocal solo; The Lovelies at Night in The Year; Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Lloyd Vessey who played for the presentation, and Mrs. W. Kirby of Charlottetown. Following the program refreshments were served by the members of Alpha, the hostess Institute.

Publicity Director Accepts Metropolitan Opera Offer

By NANCY WHITE
Centennial publicity director Mary Joliffe has received a two-year contract to do public relations work with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York. It was learned yesterday. Miss Joliffe will leave Charlottetown Sept. 11 and spend a short holiday in Ontario before beginning her new job. Oct. 1, Miss Joliffe, who has been a publicity director for the Centennial and the Confederation Centre since February, said in an interview yesterday she is "excited" about her new position.

The Metropolitan Opera Company is embarking on a 15-year program of changes, which will include the move into the new Lincoln Arts Centre in 1966. Miss Joliffe said.

The first project will be the creation of a national company, "a young company of singers, performers, and conductors directed by people like Alan Schneider and Zeffirelli."

But this is due to be changed, according to Miss Joliffe. "What they're trying to do is create a company employed all year in the States, with a nucleus of the system of importing two or three stars," she explained.

There is also a movement to "freeze life" into the company, she said.

"They want to get away from the 'big fat singer who can't act' idea and make opera theatrical as well as musical."

Although the company's headquarters will be in New York, the plan is to bring opera to many American communities through tours, and the travel itinerary may also include such countries as Australia and South America, Miss Joliffe reported, adding that the American tour idea stems from the growing tendency for theatre to "move from Broadway into the rest of the States."

The Met's new program will also include a scholarship plan for promising young singers.

Miss Joliffe said she will be working with Rudolf Bing, assistant, Francis Robinson, and shudderingly termed her new job "institutional public relations" designed to create "a revamped Met."

BORN IN CHINA

Miss Joliffe, who was born in China and taught school in that country for several years, holds an honors B.A. from the University of Toronto and a B.Ed. from the Ontario Teachers' College.

She spent seven years as public relations director for the Stratford Shakespearean Theatre in the early period of its existence, and did similar work for Toronto's Community Theatre.

Before coming to Prince Edward Island, she was the public relations officer for the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Echo's Voice In Lower Lawn Is Intriguing To Youngster

"Come and hear!" Peter the three-year-old, and young Estie of the house across the lane, heaped their voices on the evening. The young face was smiling, filled with that wonder of childhood when the mind does not fully comprehend some happening; when the wind whistles over an electrical storm, or when an opening eye - shell in the hatchery of a chick, or a bird, when they stop to wonder why this or that happens, or when they run only to its own mother's tongue. Someone has said that when a youngster, carrying a basket of daisies, Ring bears was Gordon Bishop, brother of the bride.

The groomsmen was Ronald Johnson, brother of the groom, and ushers were Gordon Johnson and Ralph Perry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Queen Hotel for approximately 150 guests. The bride's mother was gown in a blue lace two piece dress with white accessories, carrying a basket of daisies. Ring bears was Gordon Bishop, brother of the bride.

Vows Repeated At Georgetown

The marriage of Margaret Gynn (Peggy) Johnson, daughter of Mr. Joseph F. Johnson of Georgetown, to Allan Ferguson MacLeod, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. MacLeod of Murray River, P.E.I., took place in August at Holy Trinity Anglican Church in Georgetown. Rev. F. F. Piercy, assisted by Rev. Rodney Ives performed the double ring ceremony. The Church was decorated with white mums and mixed flowers. Mrs. D. A. MacDonald of Montserrat was organist.

During the signing of the register, soloist Florence MacDonaid of Montague, sang, "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace organza dress, ballerina length. Her bridesmaids wore a short veil of net held in place by a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of red sweethearts roses.

Attending her sister, as matron of honor, Mrs. Phillip MacEeachern wore a street length dress of blue and white flowers, with a matching headband and a bouquet of white and yellow mums.

Dawn Marie Johnson, niece of the bride, wore a dress of yellow and white mums and white and yellow mums.

Kenneth MacLeod attended the bride as groomsmen and Phillip MacEeachern and Jack Publicover ushered the guests to the pews, which were marked with satin ribbon and wedding bells.

After reception the bride's aunt, Mrs. Florence Jenkins received, wearing a printed gown, a white dress with a white matching jacket and white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

The mother of the groom wore a two piece blue suit, white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

For travelling in the Maritimes the bride wore a pink dress, white dress, white matching jacket and white accessories and a corsage of pink and white mums. Mrs. MacEeachern has taken up residence in Cold Lake, Alta. where the groom is employed with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Plans were made for painting the fence at the school.

Reports of committees were heard and new ones appointed. Sick and program, Gerald in a Webster and Marjorie Dawson, school, Marie Dawson, a.n.c. Blanche Butler, lunch, Blanche Butler, Marie Dawson, lunch, Blanche Murphy and Helen Howatt.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Marie Dawson.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by committee aid.

Household Hints

Instead of discarding worn socks, clamp them into the hold-ers. You may and you have a fine new dry mop.

Add leftover sausage meat to plain pancake batter, or fry the fat in butter and use the fat, form into patties and fry.

Picnic sandwiches stay fresher if, after wrapping them, you seal the edges of the wax paper with a hot iron.
