60 AUTOMOBILE THEFTS ARE BLAMED ON VANDALS

MONTREAL (CP) — Because of the work of thieves and prankish young vandals, at least 60 automobiles are believed to be at the bottom of the St. Lawrence Seaway in the greater Montreal area, Quebec Provincial Police said here.

It is believed possibly another 30 may be at the bottom of lagoon-like waters between the seaway proper and the mainland, along the south shore of the St. Lawrence River.

Several youngsters have been taken into custody and questioned, said police, and investigations are continuing.

"They get their fun and kicks by stealing a car early in the evening, driving it a few hours and then sending it into the water," said Staff Sgt. Bertrand Marjot of the G.P.P. Lights of cars are left on so that they shine up for some time through the dark waters. Some cars are all but wrecked first.

Sgt. Marjot said it appears that the cars are moved along slowly and then, before reaching the drop-off point, a stone is put on the accelerator, causing the car to shoot ahead and leap into the air for its plunge.

So far, 21 cars have been taken from the seaway by equipment that is used for dredging in the waterway. Ten of these have been turned over to insurance companies and the other 11 have been placed along the side of the canal.

Police say they are studying how best to remove cars from the undredged lagoon sections because getting heavy dredging and other machinery there might be difficult.

Senator N. Rattenbury Sees Policies Aimed At Maritimes

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Nelson Rattenbury (L.-New Brunswick) said the government's legislative program contains concrete measures relating directly to "fundamental requirements" of the economy of the Maritimes.

He told the Senate during the Throne Speech debate that the government has "recognized the nature of social and economic problems which have so long been with us" and proposed "enlightened measures to deal with them."

Of particular benefit to the Atlantic area were the "promise of planned regional development measures, plans for the re-employment and training of workers, the opportunity for further vital power developments, the co-operation with existing provincial development plans and the assistance which must accrue to communications."

He said the Atlantic provinces have lagged far behind the national economic growth rate.

"Now, for the first time, we may look forward to a kind of participation which utilizes what we have in the best way which can, if properly done, overcome many of the almost insurmountable roadblocks we have faced in the past."

Bilingualism Commission Already Costs $1,653,316

OTTAWA (CP)—The royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism has cost the treasury $1,653,316 since it was appointed in July, 1963, the Commons has been informed.

A return tabled for Robert C. Coates (PC—Cumberland) by the government indicates that the "B-B" inquiry likely will become the most expensive in Canadian history, surpassing the $3,000,000 cost of the 1960-63 Glassco royal commission on government organization.

In addition to actual expenditures of $1,653,316 up to March 31, the bilingualism commission has submitted spending estimates of $2,485,000 for the 1965-66 fiscal year and more funds likely will be needed to complete the inquiry in 1966-67.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

TEST YOUR PLAY

You are declarer with the West hand at the Seven Notrump. North leads the four of hearts, which you win with the queen. South follows low. How would you play the hand?

It is obvious that if either the spades or the clubs are divided 3-2, you have 13 tricks, so you assume that both suits are divided 4-1 (or 5-0), and play accordingly.

Actually, the contract cannot be defeated—regardless of how the North-South cards are divided—provided you play the hand correctly. To make the contract you may have to execute a squeeze, but, to do this successfully, you must be careful about the order in which you cash your tricks.

Woolworths See Record Business

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The chairman of the board of the F.W. Woolworth Co. sees record sales and earnings ahead for his company and says it will expand store operations into Canada.

Robert C. Kirwood told the annual stockholders meeting here Wednesday that last year's net earnings of $1.99 a share of common stock represented an increase of 24 cents over 1963.

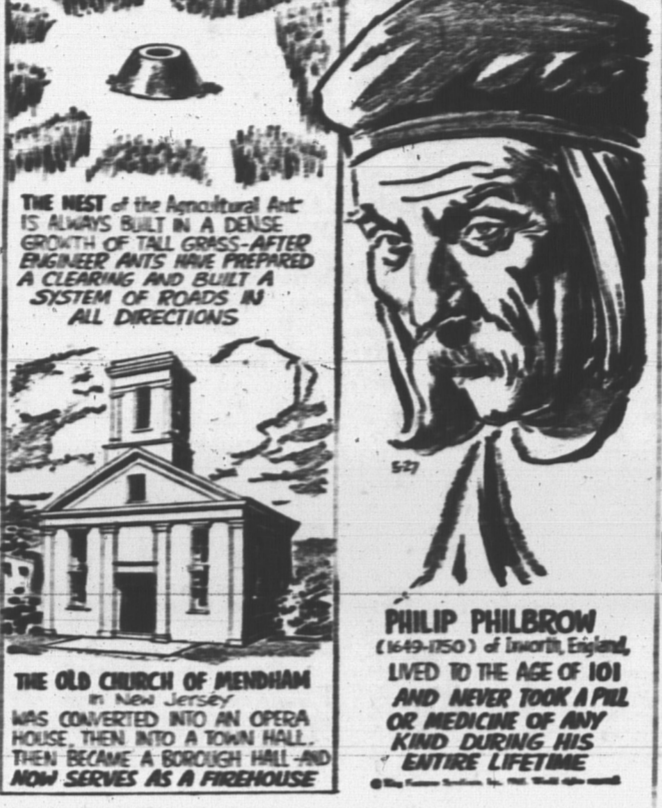

He announced that the Kinney Shoe Corp., acquired by Woolworth in 1963, would open shoe stores in Canada.

Woolworth also planned to expand operations of Woolco and Woolmark, mass volume discount stores established to compete with shopping plazas, he said.

The commission also had 65 "occasional" employees and 18 part-time employees.

The largest payment to a commission employee from his hiring to March 31 was $21,003 to O. Hall, a researcher. Research director Michael Oliver received $20,166 and his assistant Leon Dion, $19,120. Mr. Dion works on a part-time basis only.
