Mighty NATO Arsenal Rising In West Germany

KAISERSLAUTERN, GERMANY, Jan. 2 - (AP) - A mighty arsenal for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is rising in this region just west of the Rhine line. When it is completed next summer it will be the largest military post in the world. At present it goes by the prosaic name of Rhine Military Post. Actually, it will be the great supply and storage area for Nato troops. Its an open secret its ultimate aim is to become the chief bastion for Europe's Allied defenders.

This enterprise will cost about 1,000,000,000 deutsche marks, and its supporting elements spread through six sub-posts. The area is admirably suited for defensive war. Behind Rhine Military Post on the west is a mountain range. Ahead, about 25 miles away at the nearest point, is the Rhine line.

They have built new rail lines, stepping up sharply the flow of electrical power from Cologne south, laying new water lines and throwing up solid brick-steel-and-mortar buildings. Much of the work is still classified and cannot be released, but such things as the largest medical supply depot in the world, hospitals which will house 1,000 and 500 beds, houses totalling 6,000 living units can be told.

Construction began in 1951. Since that date the Rhineland palatinate has become one vast boom town. Four big jet fields are already in operation. Not far off is the headquarters of the U. S. Second Army.

Press Probe Into Valparaiso Blast

VALPARAISO, Chile, Jan. 2 - (AP) - Government officials pressed their investigation tonight into the cause of the New Year's Day blast which rocked this Chilean port city. The toll mounted to 51 dead and 348 injured. Rescue crews still probed the smoldering rubble of the Highway Department warehouse where the blast occurred. Morgue officials said the total dead may never be determined because of mutilated and destroyed bodies. The blast shook this city of 200,000 early yesterday when a firecracker tossed by a reveler set the warehouse ablaze. Authorities, informed that the warehouse had contained 24 boxes of dynamite and other explosives, arrested Alejandro Lacalle, Valparaiso Province engineer. Lacalle, later released on bail, denied that dynamite had been stored in the warehouse.

GILL, Mass., Jan. 2 - (AP) - William Glenn Boyle today claimed credit for harvesting New England's first 1953 crop of hay. Noted for his custom of having until snow falls, Boyle wound up his operations yesterday.
