

Lin Supermarket

By MARY KEATING
Canadian Press Correspondent
DUBLIN (CP) — Trouble is brewing in the Dublin suburb of Phibsboro' over a supermarket planned by the Canadian bakery millionaire, Garfield Weston.
 The Weston group already owns three of Dublin's biggest supermarkets and plans three more in and around the city. It now has acquired property in Phibsboro' and will begin building when the present tenants agree to leave their one-storey houses.
 But some of the tenants, who have been there 40 years, are digging their heels in. Encouraged by the local tenants' association, they flatly refuse to move, though people who have left have been given accommodation and compensation covering two to three years' rent.
 Tyson Weston feels they may have been "wrongly advised" by the association that if they hold out they will receive a much larger sum in compensation. He describes charges of intimidation as "unfounded."

Doctors In Saskatchewan Earn More Under Medicare

REGINA (CP) — Doctors in Saskatchewan expect to earn more money now because the province has a compulsory medical care insurance plan most of them oppose.
 The major reason for making more money seems to be that they no longer have to write off unpaid accounts.
 "It's a situation the executive of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons said would occur.
 Under the medical plan, at least 90 per cent of each normal medical bill is paid by the government out of tax revenues it collects to operate the plan.
 Donald Tansley, chairman of the Medical Care Insurance Commission which administers the plan, said in an interview Friday the commission believes it is impossible to estimate at this time how much more doctors are making because of the plan.
INCREASE EXPECTED
 But he said some increase can be expected "where there is a large element of prepayment," such as the medical care scheme provides. The scheme is compulsory for virtually all residents of Saskatchewan.
 Dr. E. W. Barones, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, said "always predicted" their incomes would rise under a state medical care scheme.
 "A rise of up to 30 per cent

Mishap In Nuclear Storage Described Extremely Remote

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP said here in a statement that "over-zealous and inaccurate reporting has largely created false impressions" about the "so-called danger" of nuclear weapons.
 "People erroneously ascribe to nuclear warheads have arrived at RCMP bases for use by the Bomarc missile squadrons, it is perhaps an appropriate time to discuss these weapons generally," the statement began.
 Any fear for the safety of the population in areas close to nuclear storage depots is unwarranted, the statement said.
 "It has been pointed out that if by some remote chance, a mishap involving a nuclear warhead should occur, the extent of actual physical damage and loss of life would be far less than that of a service station fire, a hazard that is accepted daily for the most part, ignored by the urban population of today's world."
 The RCMP said "inherent," built-in safety factors make an accidental nuclear blast "for all practical purposes, all but impossible."
 The four-page statement outlines the physical processes of nuclear explosion, the safety features to guard against accidental detonations, and the measures adopted for safekeeping of the warheads at North Bay, Ont., and La Macaza, Que.

UNDER U.S. CUSTODY
 "U.S. Air Force personnel act as custodians for the nuclear warheads at Canadian storage sites. The bases, however, remain under Canadian command and control, the RCMP's security organization is responsible for the complex security measures at the storage sites."
 "As a security precaution all nuclear warheads are protected by fences, gates and concrete vaults, and only carefully selected personnel are permitted to enter the storage area."
 "In addition, elaborate alarm devices and round-the-clock armed guards provide further protection for the nuclear warheads."
 "While the weapons are in storage or in the process of being transported, sources of electrical energy required to activate the warheads are not permitted anywhere near the nuclear warheads."
 "Under a system of 'checks and double checks' it would be 'impossible to fire a nuclear armed missile either by accident or malice, or without the
