

Brazil Calm In Drastic Gov't Change

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters) Brazil as a whole reacted calmly to drastic new military government. But students demonstrated in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo. Several state governors backed the new measures, which include the temporary abolition of all political parties, announced Wednesday by President Humberto Castello Branco. In Rio, police used tear gas to disperse about 800 student demonstrators. Three persons were injured and several arrests made. Members of a law faculty organization in Sao Paulo declared themselves on strike until Nov. 15, saying the new powers "submerged Brazil under dictatorship." In Brasilia, the federal capital, senators and deputies discussed the situation which leaves them without party labels. Moves are under way to set up a revolutionary bloc, composed of parliamentarians backing the regime, and a bloc of opposition deputies and senators.

FORD STARTED SMALL

Henry Ford was originally a watchmaker and is said to have adapted watchmaking techniques to his automobile assembly line.

LONDON (AP)—The railway car that carried Sir Winston Churchill's body from London toward his grave at Bladon churchyard is going to Los Angeles for £350 ($1,150) and is saved from the scrap yard. American Express Co., which arranged the shipping, said the car was sold to the city of Industry, a Los Angeles municipal corporation, which bought it from the British state-owned railways. British railways had planned to scrap it as obsolete.
