Pretty Wedding Held At Trinity United Church

Trinity United Church, Charlotte town, was the setting for a very pretty wedding at 1.20 o'clock noon Saturday, June 29th, when June Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacRae, Charlottetown and John Losey, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Philippe, Frankfort Indiana U.S.A., were united in marriage. Rev. A. Frank MacLean performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was very tastefully decorated with tall baskets of orange blossoms, snow balls, pink daisies and hydrangeas. The guest pews were marked with orange blossoms and satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor length gown of white nylon net over satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned of lace with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The dress had a full skirt with panels of inserted lace. A coronet of pearl and sequins held her finger tip veil of tulle illusion. She carried a white Bible, adorned with deep pink roses and streamers of white ribbon and snapdragons.

Mrs. Leith Stetson, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of pink chiffon over taffeta with a satin sash and carried a nosegay of deep pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Don Anderson, Miss Gladys MacMillan and Miss Mary Morrison wore similar styled gowns of ballerina length blue chiffon over taffeta. All carried nosegays of pink carnations.

Supporting the groom was his brother-in-law, Calvin Clear. The ushers were Mr. Leith Stetson, Mr. Kent Ellis and Mr. Don Anderson.

Mrs. MacRae, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's

Mrs. Watari Of Japan Addresses Cornwall W. M. S.

Wednesday afternoon, July 10th, was a very pleasant and happy time for the members of the Cornwall W.M.S. when they had the opportunity to welcome the members of Auxiliaries from all over P.E.I. This welcome was expressed by Mrs. Stanley Murchison, the president of Cornwall W.M.S.

Mrs. J.D. MacFarlane, Charlottetown, opened the meeting with a very suitable worship period and the mission given, sweetly sang, "Jesus Bids us Shine" and Joyce Lowther gave a reading.

Mrs. Kenneth Parker presided and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Watari of Japan, who is an editor and teacher there. She spoke from her heart to the hearts of her audience on the difference in the population, food supply and religion of the people in Japan and Canada.

Her fluent address was very interesting and inspiring. Her plan was for more Christian workers to help spread the Gospel in what she called Japan, a pagan land as yet. All present felt "It was good to have been there". Questions were asked and Mrs. Watari showed her wit and understanding in answering them.

Mrs. Frank Cutcliffe brought greetings of P.E.I. Presbyterial to the meeting. Mrs. Howard Laird, literature secretary, introduced the books on display and mentioned particularly the study packages, which this year are on Japan.

Mrs. A. MacKay Kensington, urged the subscription and reading of the Missionary Monthly. This very helpful and inspirational rally was closed with hymn and benediction.

A social hour was enjoyed during luncheon and all members had the pleasure of a personal word with the guest, Mrs. Watari.

Don't Force Your Body To Run On Short Rations

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Thin girls, are you forcing your body to run on short rations? You may think you eat enough because you eat all you want—but undereating is often habit. Or perhaps you accept your lot, attributing your thinness to something over which you have no control.

Dr. Ruth Leverton in her most helpful book "Food, Becomes You," published by the University of Nebraska Press, gives the scientific facts about some false ideas regarding underweight.

You do not inherit thinness. You inherit your build, but underweight comes only from undernutrition. Many thin girls, who blame on faulty metabolism, Dr. Leverton explains that the majority of underweights have normal metabolism rates and therefore do not require more food on that score.

FOOD THE KEY

This nutritionist shows you that food does become you—your blood and muscles, your strength and energy, your stamina... every part of you, including your morale, your happiness and your personality.

One thin girl who dislikes breakfast asks if breakfast really is the most important meal of the day. The results of three years of research on effects of starting each day with a breakfast that furnishes one-fourth to one-third of the day's food needs clearly show the benefits of a good morning meal. On coffee only there is a false energy spurt, followed by a sharp decline and dragging fatigue.

You can build an appetite for breakfast. Try adding just one tasty bit of food you relish—a couple of tablespoons of crisp cereal with a few slices of ripe banana. Or have an egg, prepared just the way you like it. Find some bread you really enjoy—and start by eating just half a slice.

ALTERNATE IDEA

If you cannot eat early, you might like this plan better—slip in a spot of breakfast a bit later in the morning. This system will work well for homemakers, and is possible for some career girls. At that coffee break, have milk.

WEST POINT W.I.

On Tuesday, July 9th, Mrs. Anna Bartlett entertained the West Point W.I. The meeting opened by repeating the Creed in unison. Roll call was answered by seven members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The business arising out of the correspondence was about the Red Cross Swimming classes and Mrs. Ioga Sabine was asked to contact Mrs. Cudmore about having Gertrude MacDonald as an instructor for classes at West Point.

New business concerned the boat races to be held at West Point on August 7th. Committee members for the Institute are Mrs. Anna Bartlett and Mrs. Frank Stewart. These members are to meet with Glenwood and Dunblane W.I.'s to make arrangements for refreshments for the races. All proceeds of these races are in aid of the Community Hospital in O'Leary, P.E.I.

The sick committee had no calls and were re-appointed. There will be no meeting in August and the September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ioga Sabine with Mrs. Ernest MacDonald and Mrs. Frank Stewart on the lunch. Roll call, money donations, meeting adjourned. Lunch served.

Pretty Summer Wedding Is Of Interest Locally

Crampton Harris Helms, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Helms, 29 Evans Avenue, and Miss Ruth Marie Seaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Seaman, River Hebert, Nova Scotia, Canada, were married on Wednesday afternoon, July 3rd, at four o'clock at All Saints Episcopal Church, Morristown, Tenn., with the pastor, Rev. Wm. O. Boyd officiating.

The brass vases of the candle-lit altar held arrangements of white summer flowers. Mrs. John W. Arnold, church organist, gave a brief musical program followed by the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by the groom's eldest brother. She wore an ankle length dress of white faille. The gossamer of the princess design were applied with lace motifs, the rounded neckline being edged with petals of the lace. She wore a fingertip veil of misty illusion held in place with a circle of orange blossoms and carried a white prayer book marked with a white orchard showered with white roses.

The groom's sister by marriage, Mrs. William O'Keefe Helms, served as the bride's only attendant. She wore a jacket dress of embroidered yellow organdy. Her tiny chapeau was of yellow rosebuds and harmonizing leaves. Her bouquet was an old-fashioned nosegay of yellow roses.

William O'Keefe Helms was his brother's best man. Ushers included Dr. James W. Richardson and Robert H. Athley.

Guests were limited to members of the family who also attended the informal reception held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the groom. Mrs. E.O. Susong, aunt of the groom, presided at the silver coffee service. Assisting in serving an ice course in the bridal colors of green and white were Mesdames H. Wm. Dick, James W. Richardson, Miss Cynthia Dick, Mrs. John M. Jones of Greenville, and Mrs. O.K. James Jr. of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Helms left in the late afternoon for a short stay at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, N.C., before returning by plane on Sunday to Charlottetown, where they will reside until the groom completes his medical course at McGill University in 1958.

Mrs. Helms is the granddaughter of Mr. Thomas W. Morris and the late Mr. Morris, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada. She will be graduated in August from the School of Nursing, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal where she has been a student for the past three years.

Mr. Helms enrolled at McGill following his graduation from Yale University in 1954.

ELLEN'S DIARY

How The Children Enjoy Lovely Summer Pastimes

What a fine time the holidaying children have now with summer so gracious to the countryside. While to most adults the days are winged units of time, we suspect the youngsters later looking back to these now altogether golden, will remember how lasting they were. Days full of long lazy hours, time to be directed prodigally toward many a young duty and pastime.

Our children spent some time assisting at today's wedding, not at all bound dutifully to it as is Jamie to the farm-work but only we fancied the better to enjoy the other pastimes which followed.

So many activities they turn to... They strawberry along a ferny hedgerow, "young lips redder still kissed by" the scarlet fruit; return then to visit the pets, the pup and kittens and rabbits; swing a while in the rope-swing attached to a wide-spreading birch branch; play tag or hide-and-seek about the lawns it may be, before being off to their "September Island" up the stream in the field "across the creek" or to "linger in Granddaughter's play-house set snug in the shelter and greenery of apple and spruce in the orchard."

And perfumed winds rove laughingly with them these days, and flowery carpets are there for young bare feet to tread.

They came in brown and hungry to meals, parting on the beaten path which leads to the house across the lane. Gage to be our guest. And presently Mack who is obliged to have been especially invited may also join us.

We spread the table in the coolness of the kitchen close to the open door, which serving as our picture window, affords a nice vista of the summer fields and trees and stream beyond. And often a robin runs up his scale for us sweetly, or a song sparrow from vine or branch without. And life is good. It is Summer.

Now firstlings of vegetables come to the table from the garden that did quite well for the housewives this Spring; dainty radishes, piquant-flavored, the sober green of tangy onion-tops, and lettuce to lend its own artistry and flavor. Now too to grace meals the cultivated strawberries appear, to make without exception in this family, most acceptable fare. And to answer inimitably the cooks' question as to "What shall we have today for fruit or dessert?"

So the farmers weeded... And this afternoon brought the babe from the house across the lane to our front verandah and his first sleep in the open in Granddaughter's carriage there... It was there too he received his first visit from the district nurse, a young lady who in passing won Mack's heart by bestowing a word and smile on the pup. So that she left all well with the babe and the lad.

"What weather's ahead, Ellen—or did you hear the forecast?" James asks coming in through the moonlight.

"Showers for tomorrow!"

"That's good!" he smiles happily.

And the second day of our workaday week passes smoothly now, off into the silvery reaches of the night.

Until Tomorrow — — — Diary Good-night.
