—KILLED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT—Mrs. Maynard Schurman received the sad news yesterday of the death of her brother John K. Beattie in a railway accident on Sunday night. Mr. Beattie was about 65 years of age and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beattie of Summerside. He left his native province about 20 years ago and became an engineer on the Boston and Maine railways. He was on his usual run on a passenger train on Sunday night when the accident happened. Although no definite particulars have been received it is believed the train was crossing a bridge, when the bridge gave way and the engine was dashed into the river. Mr. Beattie's companion also lost his life. Besides his wife, who was formerly Miss Lottie Clark a sister of Mr. Edgar Clark of Summerside there are left to mourn three sons and one daughter, as well as Mrs. Schurmen and another sister, Mrs. Grace Beattie who lives near the deceased's family at Somerville, Mass. No particulars of the funeral have been received. —S

—GILLIS-HIGGINS NUPTIALS—A pretty autumn wedding took place in St. Mary's Church, Indian River, Wednesday morning, Sept 13 at eight o'clock, when Miss Catherine Gillis, daughter of Mr. Wilfred and the late Mrs. Gillis of Indian River and Mr. Alfred Higgins son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Higgins of Kensington were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the pastor Rev. R.F. McDonald who also celebrated the nuptial Mass. The bride looked very charming in her wedding dress of white taffeta, trimmed with narrow bands of white velvet and ended in a short train. She wore the conventional veil and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Helen was bridesmaid and her floor length gown was of aquamarine satin with peach accessories. She wore a shoulder veil and her bouquet was of snapdragon and fern. Mr. James Higgins, brother of the groom, was groomsman. After visiting the groom's father who was unable to be present owing to Hihealth, the wedding party had breakfast at the Clifton Hotel in Summerside. The beautiful wedding cakes were a feature of the table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins left by the afternoon boat for a wedding trip through the Maritimes, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit. On their return they will reside in Kensington where the groom is a prosperous young farmer. The Guardian unites with their many friends in extending congratulations. K.

Bette Davis In "Dark Victory" Capitol Theatre

Bette Davis came to the Capitol Theatre, S'side last night as the central figure in "Dark Victory" a sensational picture presenting Miss Davis as a 1939 model of all that is best in American girls of good breeding and great wealth.

The new film is fully worthy of the talents of its lustrous star. It tells a love story of transcendant beauty and deeply moving poignantly and it provides a central character upon whose portrayal Miss Davis can lavish every resource of her consummate art.

An exceptionally able supporting cast, numbering in it such luminaries as George Brent, Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Henry Travers and Ronald Reagan , was provided by Warner Bros., and the superlative performance of the star seems to have inspired them all to attain a degree of ensemble excellence which has rarely before been achieved either on stage or screen.

One of the most interesting features of the production is that it marks the American screen debut of Geraldine Fitzgerald. This Irish lass, who obtained her training at the Gate Theatre in Dublin and then made a sensational New York debut in "Heartbreak House" last year, is obviously being prepared by Warner Bros. for stardom soon, and in a role that second in importance only to that of Miss Davis in "Dark Victory," she demonstrates that the opinion of her employers is more than justified.

CITY CLERK

the matter was referred to Councillor Chandler.

Mayor E. A. Foster mentioned the need of doing something about the undesirable price boosting which is taking place in the city at present due to war conditions. He would like for the council to do their best to see that some action be taken to curb this needless profiteering.

Mayor Foster presided and a full slate of councillors was present. The routine reports of the meeting were read and adopted after discussion. Councillor McIntyre told the council that Constable Storey of the City Police was called for military duty and was given leave of absence without pay. A discussion over the possibility of purchasing a new water truck took place. Councillor Hennessey thought the present vehicle had passed its days of usefulness and the street committee were considering the purchase of a chassis of 4 or 4 1-2 tons and also to take the tank of the water truck and put the chassis on in the summer, turning it the opposite way to use as a sprinkler. It could then be used in winter for hauling snow off the streets. Councillor Holman and the Mayor were of the opinion that the matter should be thoroughly investigated before anything was done and the motion was withdrawn.

A suggestion of Councillor Hennessey's in regards to money being voted by the City Council for the purchasing of school books for children unable to buy them, was discussed. The councillor expected the Provincial Government to contribute a like amount but the Council thought the matter should be referred to the relief committee. The Mayor was asked to approach the School Board, the Provincial Government and Relief Committee with a view to bettering these conditions and if possible to obtain free school books for the children.

Permission was given to Service Clubs to erect a welcome arch on Elm Avenue at the approach to the City.

The following was the text of the resolutions brought in, with the name of mover and seconder:

Germans Claim Polish Capital Near Surrender

Nazi Officialdom Notes "Stubborn" Resistance Of Poles Before Warsaw.

By Louis Lochner
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP)— The fall of Warsaw is considered imminent here. The desperately fighting Polish army, German officials say, is hopelessly trapped by the high commands "vice" methods.

Official statements, however, increasingly mention the "stubbornly resisting" Poles.

Army advices said the bridge across the Vistula River between Warsaw and Modlin fortress - -18 miles northwest of Warsaw -was under heavy artillery fire. In several places between Radom, 60 miles south of Warsaw, and the capital, Polish troops were also reported caught by the German "vice."

There have been no figures indicating the number of casualties in the dramatic struggle over the Polish capital, Bannerlines in German newspapers, however, speak of the "great battle" before Warsaw.

Indicative of the importance attached to the Polish struggle is the fact the authoritative Voelkischer Beobachter, for the first time since the undeclared war began, issued posters under its masthead saying the "great battle in Poland approaches its climax."

Army advices reported that the troops advancing from east Prussia had taken Lomza, 80 miles north and east of Warsaw and had forced their way across the Narew river at Wizna, nearby.

Another section of the theatre of war where Germans claimed success was in west Poland where the city of Poznan, capital of the province of the same name, was reported about to fall to German arms.

The German army was reported at Jaroslaw on the San river in the south and informed sources claimed it was practically at the border of the Polish Ukraine, in the southwest.

The Polish port of Gdynia, across the harbor from Danzig, was still in Polish hands and its resistance has prevented Germany from gaining complete control of the disputed corridor.

There was little word regarding the western front.

Wilhelmstrasse officials said they had no knowledge of military activity there beyond minor skirmishes.

Persons close to the foreign office claimed Great Britain's readiness for a war of three years or more, not only was an answer to the peace offer of Field Marshal Herman Goering last Saturday, but also showed that Britain had been preparing for war for a long time.

Despite Britain's determined attitude, peace feelers seemed to continue.

They apparently were directed especially at France, of whom Goering said Germany wants nothing.

There were suggestions in informed quarters that Poland might yet obtain a "decent, sensible peace," if she would "raise the white flag of surrender."

This presupposed, however, it was stated emphatically, that Britain and France also would call the war off. It was freely admitted that Rome and Berlin, the axis partners, were in constant touch on the situation. This indicated to observers that Premier Mussolini is carrying the main burden of attempting to localize the conflict.

Paris Swings Into War-time Stride

By William McGaffin
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 1—(AP)— Parisians, never ones to cry over the good old days, are already swinging into the new wartime stride.

Many enterprises which were forced to close when their staffs were mobilized are reopening with older men.

The music halls, which locked their doors for the same reason, are calling back retired troopers of yesteryear. They hoped to be running full tilt when the soldiers return on their first furloughs.

There is a great demand, incidentally for comedians who can imitate Hitler.

"Les Tommies" are the topic of the hour, now that British soldiers are once again helping France against the common German foe.

"English beer sold here", "roast beef, 10 francs," and "welcome to our valiant allies," are some of the signs which Paris has prepared.

One restaurant even named an entree after the British Prime Minister-fisherman, calling it "trout Chamberlain."

BRITISH TROOPS

There are few British troops in Paris, however, most of them having gone directly to the Maginot line forts. Moreover, because of the danger of air raids, it is not certain that they will be permitted to congregate in Paris.

More taxicabs are appearing on the streets again, since they are not needed for mobilization, but there are fewer places to which to take them. Paris is an 11 o'clock town—all the cafes close at that hour and the movies must complete their programs by 8.30 p. m.

Parisians do not lack, however for ways to occupy themselves. Many women have abandoned cocktail soirees in favor of sock-knitting parties. Those not proficient in that craft can get instructions from the newspapers.

Even the principal couturiers are fitting themselves into a wartime pattern. Many of them are working on uniforms. Others are designing simple "air raid" costumes, quickly zipped together, so that milady can arrive at a refugee shelter within five minutes after an alarm sounds and still look smart.

WAR RISK RATES UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 11-(CP)-Marine Insurance Underwriters today raised by 50 per cent war risk insurance rates on shipments by British, French and Polish ships from North and South America to Europe. Under the new schedule, war risk insurance on such ships is $7.50 per $100. valuation.

No Peace Till World Freed Of Nazism, Eden

(By J. F. SANDERSON)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Sept. 11 —(CP Cable) —Anthony Eden, Dominions Secretary, tonight declared that "there can be no lasting peace until Nazism, and all that it stands for in oppression, cruelty and broken faith, is banished from the earth."

There would be no turning back, he said in an international broadcast, adding: "Our determination to see this war through to the end is unshakeable. This is an issue that admits of no compromise."

Mr. Eden, who once resigned as Foreign Secretary when his Cabinet colleagues could not follow him in his anti-Nazi stand, blamed Adolf Hitler for launching the war by embarking upon "naked aggression" against Poland.

"Poland was always ready to negotiate as Czecho-Slovakia was ready," Mr. Eden said. "Herr Hitler had preferred force. He has made the choice. He must suffer the decision. For us now there will be no turning back."

No Quarrel With German People

The British people had no quarrel with the German people, he said, but "there can be no lasting peace until Nazism and all it stands for . . . is banished. The German people must realize that Britain means to go on fighting until it has demonstrated that aggression does not pay.

"It is already evident that the Nazi Government seeks to delude its people into thinking that a quick victory in Poland will be followed by indifference or capitulation of the western democracies. That is not the truth," Mr. Eden said.

He warned the world and Germany in particular that "the people of this country are ready to fight a very long war to the bitter end, if that must be, to rid the world of Hitlerism and all that Hitlerism implies."

Encouragement and Warning

"Let the Nazi leaders take heed and let us all take encouragement from what has been happening in the British commonwealth of nations during the last few days.

"One by one the free peoples of that great association have been accepting the risks and responsibilities which the United Kingdom has taken upon itself. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa each in turn has given the answer to the challenge, each in turn has made the cause its own."

War Of Aggression

Reviewing the diplomatic exchanges that preceded the outbreak of the conflict, Mr. Eden asserted the "German Chancellor carried dissimulation so far as finally to invade Poland because Poland had failed to accept peace proposals which she had never even received from the German Government. There has never been a more flagrant mockery of international good faith.

"Five times in the last 80 years, Mr. Eden added "the rulers of Germany have embarked with only the slightest pretext upon war of aggression. Against peaceful Denmark in 1864, against Austria in 1866, against France in 1870, against the whole world in 1914 to 1918, and now against France, Poland and Great Britain in 1939."

With such a record, he said, Germany's present leaders "might well have thought that they should accept to negotiate, but "they preferred yet once more the path of lawlessness, the path of misery and of bloodshed, the path of anarchy and want."

Mr. Eden called Nazism a "passing phase" and said that "like all systems built upon force it cannot endure—in the long roll of history it will count but as a spasm of acute pain."

"By Herr Hitler's own decision, our new civilization must be built through a world at war," Mr. Eden concluded. "We would have wished it otherwise But our new civilization will be built first the same, for some forces are bigger than men, and in the new civilization will be found liberty and opportunity and hope for all."

SUGAR QUOTAS SUSPENDED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP)—President Roosevelt by proclamation, temporarily suspended marketing quotas on sugar today as "an emergency measure."

In a statement, Mr. Roosevelt said the suspension was necessitated by an increased world demand for sugar resulting from the outbreak of war in Europe, the "extra-ordinary purchases of sugar by consumers, and the apparent speculative activity."

The statement added that a great number of complaints had been made within the past few days that the quota restriction on sugar marketing were "making it difficult and costly for housewives and industrial users to get enough sugar to supply domestic needs."

FRENCH

the western front—just south of neutral Luxembourg.

The French operations there have reached a stage known in military terminology as "reinforced advance guard action." That means units up to the size of regiments are holding extended positions in the front lines first taken by separate platoons and companies.

Troops Moving Up

Behind the lines French troops are moving up in a steady stream. Air scouts have reported that on the German side, too, roads are congested and railroads are bringing up an almost continuous line of troop trains.

French fliers said their attacks against German concentration centres and communication lines were hampering the movement of German reinforcements.

The German drive is designed to thrust the French back off German soil—cut off the triangle of which the Moselle and Saar Rivers form two sides. It opened with an increasing thunder of artillery, shelling the little tree-dotted valleys where in the first week of fighting the French established advance positions.

From the Luxembourg frontier to Saarbrucken—50 miles to the southeast—the Germans apparently were taking the initiative, attacking across the Saar valley.

Fight Counter Attack

Fighting swirled around heavily fortified hills and through little villages that dot the rich Saar coal mining basin.

German troops, mostly young Nazi recruits in this sector, dislodged the French from some advance positions.

During the first shock the German advance apparently was limited to not more than a quarter of a mile.

The French immediately threw in more troops and fought the German counter attack to a standstill. French observers, while admitting the Nazi thrust, described it as "without appreciable success."

Personnel Of War Prices Board

OTTAWA, Sept. 11—(CP)— Two members were added to the war-time prices and trade board over the weekend, according to an announcement by labor minister Rogers. They are A. M. Shaw, director of marketing services in the dominion department of agriculture and Charles P. Hebert, a member of the tariff board.

The board was set up a week ago to regulate prices, prevent profiteering and ensure adequate supplies of essential commodities. It is clothed with wide powers of investigation and action.

The new appointments bring the board's membership to five, all permanent public servants. Hector MacKinnon commissioner of tariffs in the finance department, is chairman. The other members are David Sim, commissioner of Excise, department of national revenue, and F. A. MacGregor, registrar under the combines investigation act, department of labor.

of European military problems and how to meet them. Gort and Gamelin represent the most powerful military personal leaedship in the world.

How does this man, upon whose shoulders rests the colossal responsibility of recreating an army to guarantee the integrity and absolute security of the British Commonwealth, spend his leisure time? His office hours at Whitehall are from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m., or even later.

BRITISH IN ACTION

The communique on the dominion's participation said the decision of Parliament at Ottawa occasioned no surprise in London, but was another example of one was needed of the solidarity of the British Empire.

Canada's declaration of war "cannot be minimized either by our friends or our foes," the communique said.

Earlier in the day Prime Minister Chamberlain in a message to Canada thanked the dominion for joining Britain in "the common resistance to German aggression."

Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary and now secretary for dominions in Mr. Chamberlain's reorganized cabinet, in a broadcast said that "our determination to see this war through to the end is unshakeable" and declared there would be no turning back for the United Kingdom until the final defeat of Hitlerism.

An evening communique of the information ministry on field Marshal Goering's speech to munition workers Saturday struck the same note.

GERMAN POLICY BANKRUPT

This communique said that Goering's speech revealed "the bankruptcy of German policy."

"Hitler has made many promises to foreign countries. None of them has been kept. It is therefore not surprising that no confidence is placed in any assurance he may give, and Great Britain is therefore justified in requiring that peace should be concluded with a German government whose word may be trusted.

"But the German government have also misled the German people who were promised "peace and honor." They have not got peace, because the German government have deliberately pursued a policy of violence which has made war inevitable. They have not got honor because the world recognizes the crudity and falseness of the German government charges against Poland

LITTLE COMFORT TO GERMANS

"As regards the economic situation, Goering's remarks can have brought little comfort to hearers who already, even before the outbreak of war, have been reduced to such meagre rations. What is to be said of a government which frivolously embarks on an unnecessary war in economic conditions the gravity of which even Goering's optimism does not venture to conceal from an audience which is only too well aware of the facts?"

Austrian, Czech and German political refugees living in the Manchester area placed themselves at the disposal of British authorities for anti-aircraft or any other useful services.

London port authorities announced completion of their passive defence organization with the entry into service of hospital ships which will ply day and night along the Thames. The ships are fully staffed with doctors and nurses working 12 hour shifts, ready to aid air raid victims.

MANY WOMEN TO SERVE

The ministry of information announced that thousands of women will soon be serving with the navy at home ports. Already 1,140 women who received training during peacetime are on duty, including a number of officers. Volunteers now average 300 to 400 daily. Recruiting has already or soon will be started at Deal, Shotley, Dover, Bristol, Liverpool, Falmouth, Hull and other ports.

C. N. Railways Ask 30 Million For Equipment

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 —(CP)— A bill will be introduced in the House of Commons to provide $30,000,000 new equipment for the Canadian National Railways, it was learned tonight.

The C. N. R. Board had estimated before the war that it would require $15,000,000 for new equipment next year and it had been planned to provide that amount next regular session.

However, with the outbreak of hostilities, it was decided much more equipment would be required and the $30,000,000 now to be voted is expected to cover the Company's requirements for the present and the coming fiscal years.

Much of the money it is said, will be used to purchase freight cars. One reason more cars will be needed is that a larger proportion of the grain crop will be moved to Atlantic ports and less to Pacific ports, entailing a longer haul.
