AN ADROIT SELL

One day a gentleman called at the store of Mr. Ralph Hardman, with a violin-box under his arm. He purchased a neck-tie, for which he paid fifty cents, and then asked permission to leave his box while he did a few errands down town. Old Hardman—a dealer in new and second-hand clothing—had no objection.

"It is a violin," said the gentleman, "which I prize very highly. It was given me by an old Italian who died at my father's house. I beg you will be careful of it, sir."

Mr. Hardman promised, and the owner of the precious viol departed.

Toward noon, while the old clothing dealer was very deeply engaged in the work of selling a suit of shoddy for bang-up Prussian Tricot, a stranger entered the store—a remarkably well-dressed man, with a distinguished look. The violin-box was in sight upon a shelf, and as no one was near to prevent, the new-comer slipped around and opened the box, and took out the instrument—a very dark-hued and ancient-looking one.

"Hallo!" cried Hardman, when he heard the sound of the viol. "What for you touch dat, eh?"

The stranger explained that he was a professor—that he was leader of an orchestra—and that he could never see a violin without trying it. And then he drew the bow across the strings, playing a few passages of fine old German waltz.

"My soul!" he cried, after he had run his fingers over the instrument a while, "that is the best violin I ever saw! There is not a better one in the city,—a perfectly genuine old Cremona! I will give you a hundred dollars for it."

Hardman said it was not his.

"I'll give you a hundred and fifty!—Two hundred!" Mr. Hardman was forced to explain how the violin came to be left in his store.

The stranger had taken out his pocket-book, and drawn forth two one-hundred dollar bank-notes. He put them back remarking:

"I must have that violin if money will buy it. When the owner returns, will you ask him to wait for me? If he cannot wait, ask him to meet me here at six o'clock. If he cannot do that, tell him to call at the office of the Treasurer of the Academy of Music, and inquire for the Director of the Orchestra. Will you do it?"

Hardman said he would.

"But," suggested the stranger, "you need not tell the man what I have said about his viol, nor what I have offered; because he may have no idea of what a treasure he possesses. You will be careful and circumspect."

The stranger went away, and Ralph Hardman reflected. In the course of an hour the owner of the violin returned, and asked for his box. But the shoddy man had been captivated by the golden bait.

What would the gentleman sell his violin for?

At first the gentleman would not listen to the proposition; but after a deal of talk he confessed that he was not himself a professor, and could not well afford to keep such a valuable instrument. He would sell it for one hundred and seventy-five dollars,—not a penny less.

Ralph Hardman paid the money, and became the legal possessor of the violin, ready to take anywhere from three hundred to five hundred dollars from the Director of the Orchestra, as he might be able.

But the Director did not come. At the end of a week Hardman carried the violin to a professional friend, and asked him what was its real value. His friend examined it, and said:

"Two dollars and a half, without the box!"

Ralph Hardman was strongly of the opinion that the gentleman who left the violin in his care was a swindler, and that the Director was a partner in the business,—and that, together they had made him their victim. That night shoddy was marked up ten per cent.

To make Home Happy.—Nature is industrious in adorning her dominions; and man, to whom this beauty is addressed should feel and obey the lesson. Let him, too, be industrious in adorning his domain—in making his home, the dwelling of his wife and children, not only convenient and comfortable, but pleasant. Let him, as far as circumstances will admit, be industrious in surrounding it with pleasant objects—in decorating it, within and without, with things that tend to make it agreeable and attractive. Let industry make home the abode of neatness and order—a place which brings satisfaction to every inmate, and which in absence draws back the heart by the fond associations of comfort and content. Let this be done, and this sacred spot will become more surely the scene of cheerfulness and peace. Ye parents, who would have your children happy, be industrious to bring them up in the midst of a pleasant, a cheerful, and a happy home. Waste not your time in accumulating wealth for them; but plant in their minds and souls in the way proposed, the seed of virtue and prosperity.

To wash hair brushes, never use soap. Take a piece of soda, dissolve it in warm water, stand the brush in it, taking care that the water only covers the bristles. It will almost instantly become white and clean. Place it in the air to dry, with the bristles downward, and it will be as firm as a new brush.

Wisdom.—He who thinks no man above him but for his virtue, none below but for his vice, can never be obsequious or assuming in a wrong place, but will frequently emulate men in stations below him, and pity those nominally over his head.

Youth.—O spare to dying man his youth and its dreams! Too nearly are we like flowers, which close and sleep only while they bloom; and when they begin to fade, remain open to the long, damp, cold night.

Canadian Dominion Directory
For 1870-71.

THE Subscriber proposes to issue in September, 1870, if sufficient support by Subscriptions and Advertisements can be obtained to cover the cost of Publication, a CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY, comprising the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick; to which will be appended the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. The Directory will contain the Names of Professional and Business Men, and of the principal Inhabitants in the Cities, Towns and Villages, together with a large amount of general information, including Alphabetical Directories of Post Offices and Postmasters, Banks, Governmental Departments and Employes, Houses of Parliament, Law Courts, Educational Departments, Custom Houses and Officers of Customs, Ports of Entry, Tariffs of Customs, List of Patents of Inventions, Canals, Railways, Railway and Steamboat Routes, Benevolent and Religious Societies, Clergy of all Denominations, Registrars with their Divisions, Newspapers and Periodicals, &c. &c.; also, Statements of Imports and Exports, Revenue, Expenditure, Trade, Population, &c.

To be corrected to August, 1870.

The Canada Directory for 1857-58, published by the subscriber, contained the Names of the Principal Inhabitants in 1,320 Cities, Towns and Villages in Upper and Lower Canada. The CANADIAN DOMINION DIRECTORY for 1870-71 will contain a short description of at least 5,000 Cities, Towns and Villages in the Dominion of Canada, and the Provinces of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, together with the Name of the Professional and Business Men and of the principal Inhabitants.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

Valuable Property
FOR SALE
IN NEW LONDON!

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable Leasehold Property at present occupied by him, containing 110 acres of excellent Land, 45 acres of which are cleared and in a high state of cultivation; the remainder is covered with hard wood, pine, spruce, and longers in abundance. The lease is for 999 years. The greater part of the clearance has been covered with Mussel mud. There are on the Premises a Dwelling House, 26 by 36, a Barn and other outbuildings, all in good repair. On the back of the Farm there is a small Bay runs in, where an abundance of seaweed can be had. The mud beds are only about 200 yards from the front of the farm. There is a good Orchard and Garden near the house.

The above property is situated in a flourishing settlement, and is considered one of the handsomest farms in New London. It was once owned by the Rev. Dr. Jenkins, from whom it was purchased by the present owner. Any person wanting a good property will do well to inspect the above at an early day.
