

OSWALD'S FAMILY LEAVES JAIL

Mrs. Marina Oswald, wife of Lee Harvey Oswald, held as a suspect in the assassination of President Kennedy, leaves the Dallas City jail last night with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, after being questioned by officers. She is carried a baby in her arms and walks behind her daughter.

DALLAS STREET

(Continued from page 1) man ever elected president. Jacqueline Kennedy, who was riding with her husband just ahead of him in the big auto when a rifle slug ripped at his head and sent him sprawling forward. Crying "Oh, No," Mrs. Kennedy tried to cradle the dying president's blood-smeared head in her arms as Kennedy's Secret Service driver sped out of the emergency room nearest hospital. When the president was carried into the emergency room, Mrs. Kennedy walked behind—parts of her clothing drenched with blood.

MRS. KENNEDY COMPOSED She remained composed but, inside the emergency room, grasped hands with the new president, Johnson, and his wife, "Lady Bird," in a reflex display of deep anguish. Shortly after Kennedy's death "We never had any hope of saving his life," said one doctor—Johnson's driver, Dr. Dale Love Field, where he boarded the presidential jet transport. Before flying off to Washington to take up the reins of government, Johnson stood a moment on the plane, his left hand on a Bible, and swore to execute faithfully the duties of president and defend the constitution. The nation's admiral, the U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes, who became the first woman to swear in a president. She was named to her post by Kennedy in October, 1961. Placed aboard the big after, blue and white jet which Kennedy rode so often in life was the body of the assassinated president. Kennedy's body was to be taken home to the White House he occupied for 34 months to lie in state today.

GIVEN LAST RITES Before he died, Kennedy was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic church. He was the first Catholic president in American history. Secret of dignitaries, police and press reporters who had a place with Kennedy in the motorcade that became a rendezvous with death were stunned as they grappled with the reality that a president had been

P.E.I. Scout Jamboree Discussed By Council

Brig. W.W. Reid, president of the provincial council of the Boy Scouts of Canada, presided over Thursday night's meeting at

Move Planned To Cut Toll

Provincial Secretary J. David Stew said yesterday "the government is prepared to spend more money on an education program aimed at reducing the motor vehicle accident rate on provincial highways."

He indicated that some form of legislation would be introduced at the next session of the Legislature, providing for such a program. "We expect leadership to come from safety councils of the public," he said, "and we are prepared to spend money on a safety education program."

There was considerable discussion also on the proposed plan to hold the annual national regatta under the sponsorship of the Boy Scouts of Canada in Charlottetown in August. An invitation has been extended by the Council and further developments are being awaited. An interim report on the apple day sales indicated that receipts should be well up to those received last year.

NATIONAL REGATTA

There was considerable discussion also on the proposed plan to hold the annual national regatta under the sponsorship of the Boy Scouts of Canada in Charlottetown in August. An invitation has been extended by the Council and further developments are being awaited. Doctors were not certain whether Kennedy was struck by one or two bullets. While there were two wounds, one in the back of the head and another in the neck near the Adam's Apple, both could have traced the path of a single fatal piece of metal.

The future history of the United States, and perhaps the world, was inexorably altered as a bullet sped to its human target. All who saw or sensed what was happening were stunned. Almost beyond belief—perhaps none so much as Lyndon Johnson, the native Texan who had sought in vain the presidency. Kennedy won in 1960 and who was now in line to have it thrust upon him through tragedy. Kennedy and his wife had sought in vain the presidency. They had toured St. Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth before flying to Dallas.

A tentative program concerning organization, preparations and arrangements was received, and it was decided to poll various troops throughout the province as to their feelings on the plan. The last provincial jamboree was held in 1958 when close to 500 Scouts attended. It was expected that an equal number might attend the proposed 1964 camp, which would be held at Camp Buchan.

The Council also approved the sending of a contingent of five to the American Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge Pennsylvania, next July. The group would be made up of an assistant scoutmaster, a junior leader and three Scouts. The Council would assist in the financing of the contingent.

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says although skies were overcast in the other two Maritime provinces Friday evening, Prince Edward Island reported only a few clouds as drizzle air infiltrated from the north.
