What a Young Man Should do.

The Co-operative Farmer replies as follows to a young man who wanted to farm and asked some advice to what he should do.

It is not necessary for a young man to go into the backwoods to get a cheap farm. There are lots of places where partly cleared farms can be bought quite close to villages and towns and near railways for a sum that would not pay for the buildings that are on them. They may be partially exhausted, they may be too wet for profitable cultivation, or they may have some other ous which do not appear on the surface. Such drawbacks can be more easily overcome than to hew a farm out of the forest and build roads to get to it. In selecting a farm, good water and chance for drainage are two most important items. A location which has a reputation of being comparatively free from early frosts will also lengthen the growing season and ensure success in crops that would not be satisfactory where frosts fall early. The social situation of a farm is also an important matter to the farmer and the family he hopes to have. The markets will decide the operations of the business farmer. All farming in the Maritime Provinces must be generally comparatively "mixed" in the sense in which that word is used. The farmer's aim will be, unless he is in the market garden business, to market his produce largely through live stock, and we do not hesitate to say that the most successful farmers we are acquainted with in the Maritime Provinces are those men who are making the dairy cow their principal machine for turning the rough products of the farm into cash. A man to make a success of dairying, however, must know the cow thoroughly and love her so well that he will never know want or discomfort at his hands. He must be prepared to wait upon her 365 1/4 days in the year. He must then dispose of his milk either to a cheese or butter factory, to a city or make it into butter. He will be lucky if he can get a location where he can sell the milk and not have to make it into butter. If the latter is the case, he must master thoroughly the buttermaking business. The best place to learn this is at a dairy school.

Washing Butter.

Where a highly flavored, short-keeping butter is wanted to do not wash at all. For prints to be eaten in a week or two, wash once, and for tub butter, to ensure keeping quality, washing twice or until the water comes away "clear" is a safer practice. Do not leave the butter standing too long in the water as it will spoil the flavour.—Exchange.

—A big poultry farm is about to be established near Toronto. A company is now being organized with a capital stock of $40,000, of which nearly half is already taken. The farm will be located on Yonge street three miles north of the C. P. R. It is proposed to stock the farm with 15,000 laying poultry, and besides the export of eggs chickens will be raised for breeding purposes. A special feature of the concern will be the shipping of eggs to Great Britain.

—The Armour Packing Co. dresses from 3,000 to 6,000 chickens a day. They say that pure bred are far superior to common chickens in plumpness, fullness of breast, smooth skin and yellow legs. And they pay three cents a pound more for the pure-bred than for common stock. They advise farmers who raise chickens for the market to keep only pure-bred males of the best varieties, such as Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, or Indian Game. The farmer who keeps the pure-bred gains in two ways: they are larger and weigh more, and he gets several cents a pound more for them.—Exchange.

—The editor of a paper in Nevada has taken to the hills in the hope of saving his life, as a result of his getting the reports of a cattle show and a concert mixed up. The spicy article in question, when in his paper, read: "The concert given, by six of Carson Sink Lake's most beautiful young ladies was highly appreciated. They sang in a most charming manner, winning the plaudits of the audience, who pronounced them the finest herd of Short-horns in the country. A few are of a

My Dear Sir:—

I feel that you will be pleased to know that a few days ago I received my wife's portrait ordered through you. The execution of the work in every detail is as creditable to the High Grade Art Union as it is satisfactory to me.

I am very much pleased indeed. The painting is a perfect picture. Kind regards

Very truly yours,
JAMES L. HARKINS.

The only representative of the High Grade Art Studio for this Province is S. F. TarBush, Charlottetown.

SOL JACOBS AGAIN.—Captain Sol Jacobs of the schooner Ethel B. Jacobs claims to be high line of the seining fleets and wants to wager that he can substantiate his claim. He says that his crew have shared $30 more than the crew of any other seiner. Capt. John W. McFarland claims that he is far and away ahead of Captain Sol.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DEBT.—It is pointed out that the supplementary statement issued by Rev. Dr. Warden shows the indebtedness of the Presbyterian church at present to be almost $100,000, divided among the various departments as follows:—Foreign missions, $35,000; home missions, $25,000; Knox College, $7300; augmentation, $7000; French evangelization, $6400; aged and infirm ministers, $1600; widows and orphans, $4500; assembly, $25000; Pointe aux Trembles, $1700.

TREATMENT OF POTATOES.—They have a novel way in Bolivia of keeping potatoes according to the story told by an exchange. They are first soaked in water and then allowed to freeze, night after night until they become soft, after which the natives remove the skins by treading on the potatoes with their bare feet. The potatoes are then thoroughly dried in the open air, where they become as white as snow and as hard as stones and may be kept for a year or more. They have to be soaked for three or four days before they are eaten. Though they will keep well, the life of the potato seems to be taken out by this method.

A Great Book Free!

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medicine library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

Mortgage Sale

Valuable Property on Great George Street Charlottetown.
