

Rural High School Plan Outlined At Kensington

KENSINGTON — The Rev. Foster Hall, minister of Hunter River United Church, was guest speaker at the Kensington Home and School Association last night.

Until a year ago Mr. Hall lived in Scotland and previously in England, and on coming to the Island with his family found the standards of education to be "distressingly low".

He compared the Island standard of education with that of England and Scotland 100 years ago, and said times have changed.

He said that he and his committee believe in the need for higher education for all and they believe that their efforts may be rewarded with a rural high school at Hunter River, which would serve an area now served by 31 one-room schools.

The speaker was thanked by Rev. F. H. Bean. The president, Verduin Paynter, presided, and Lorne Moase introduced the speaker.

Larger Ice-Breaker Ferry Urged In Brief From S' Side

"The urgent need is for the construction of an ice-breaker ferry having a carrying capacity at least as great as the 'Abegweit' the Summerside Board of Trade maintained in its brief presented before the Royal Commission on Transportation here yesterday.

Held in the Court House, the largely attended one-day hearing saw four briefs presented with that of Summerside being offered the commission by B. Graham Rogers, provincial director of transportation.

Earlier in the hearing acting chief-commissioner M. A. MacPherson, Q.C. of Regina, in speaking of the whirlwind Island tour provided members by the provincial government and directed by Mr. Rogers said it was a very novel method of showing us your transportation disadvantages as well as your resources."

URGES CAUSEWAY The Summerside brief strongly urged the building of the causeway as a vital necessity but the immediate need of another car ferry was emphasized while waiting causeway construction.

"The time necessary for its construction would be so long that serious damage to the economy of Prince Edward Island could result before it could be completed" the brief stated as it noted that during the period 1941, following the sinking of the "Charlottetown," to 1947 when the "Abegweit" entered the service there was a definite loss of business.

It also pointed out that federal provincial spending of $15,000,000 on paved highways to promote the tourist industry is of little avail if lack of ferry accommodation prevents thousands of tourists entering the province.

Noting the swift growth of Prince County in general and the Town of Summerside in particular, the brief pointed out that the town has a real estate assessment now of nearly $49,000,000 and the county has an annual primary production value of over $18,000,000.

Speaking of passenger service the brief terms equipment in use between Summerside and Emerald Junction as "substandard and not complimentary to any transit system", and suggests better equipment would be conducive to more travel by rail.

The position of truckman is also remarked with special mention made of difficulties in getting on the ferries. It felt the railway should time its extra freight trains and railway traffic for night sailings.

It protests a reported move to reduce the free time for exports to United States points at Halifax from five to two days, maintaining that there should be 10 days allowed as the rail rates to such points at Norfolk, Va., are prohibitive.

Harvey Inquest Adjourned To Hear More Witnesses

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN An inquest into the death of William Arnold Harvey, held in the county court house here last evening, was adjourned until Nov. 26, in order that more witnesses may be heard.

Mr. Harvey died following a car-truck accident near Inverness last Sept. 21st. A total of seven witnesses were heard during the inquest, presided over by Coroner Dr. W. E. Callaghan of Summerside.

They included Vernon Francis MacDougall, Enmore, a passenger in the car involved in the collision; Raymond Joseph Arsenault, Sea Cove Pond, a passenger in the truck; Anselm Joseph O'Brien, St. Eleonors, who arrived at the accident scene shortly after the accident occurred; Alton Joseph Gavin, St. Eleonors, who was with Mr. O'Brien at the accident scene.

Other witnesses were George Albert Phillips, Inverness, in front of whose home the accident occurred; Simon Andrew Sampson, Cape Breton Island, driver of the truck involved in the collision; and Sgt. Thomas James Keefe, a member of the Summerside RCMP, who investigated the accident.

Mr. Sampson told the court that he was proceeding towards Inverness and was blinded by the lights of an on-coming car and at that moment he caught a glimpse of another vehicle parked on the highway in front of him with no lights on.

He said that he could not avoid hitting the parked vehicle and that immediately after the collision, as a result of the impact both vehicles were sent into the ditch. The witness said he managed to get out of the truck along with Mr. Arsenault and proceeded to get the passengers out of the other vehicle.
