FINANCE AIDS RELIGION. Shrewd Business Men in American Churches.

The metropolitan churches are great commercial enterprises, as well as abodes of worship. They are managed with shrewd business ability. They do not need to pay dividends, but they have the always weighty task before them of paying expenses.

Far and wide over the country it will be found that the ablest men of each community have been gathered into the financial boards of the churches.

A statistician has compiled for the Journal the figures of the nine richest denominations of America. These figures are in respect of the value of their church property.

Some curious details go with these figures. More money is invested in Methodism than in any other denomination of churches.

Financially, the Presbyterian, Episcopal and Baptist congregations run close together. The Presbyterian Church has, with $94,363,000 invested in buildings and land; $82,885,000 represents the amount the Episcopalians have expended in edifices, and $82,000,000 the Baptists.

Of these three denominations, the Baptists are ahead in the number of churches and worshippers. They have 42,909 churches, averaging less than $2,000 in value, and 3,700,000 members.

The Episcopalians have 5,000 churches and the smallest membership of these five smaller denominations—only 540,000. There are 18,476 churches in the Presbyterian ranks, and 1,278,000 members.

In the third group of the wealth of American religious denominations are the Congregationalists and the Lutherans. The former possess church property to the extent of $43,385,000 and have only 4,828 churches, each being worth a little over $8,500. They have 612,000 members, and thus, comparatively in every respect, are just half the size of the Presbyterian bodies.

There are many more Lutherans, over twice as many, and twice as many Lutheran Churches, but less money has been spent on the edifices of these believers—only $85,000,000 in all.

WOMEN DETECTIVES. They are Failures for Most Classes of Work.

"Women are not good detectives," says an experienced New York official. "To begin with, there are many places to which a woman cannot go without exciting suspicion, and this defeats her object at the outset; but beyond this a woman is unfitted by nature for detective work."

"In the first place, she jumps at a conclusion on a matter of which in opposition to all human probabilities, possibilities, and reason. As a rule, a woman does not reason. She looks on a thing as she wants it to be or thinks it ought to be, and will follow that theory. She is led by prejudices, favors or sympathies, regardless of facts. As a detective, she is sometimes successful in entrapping a man, but her work generally ends in a blunder which betrays her. She is persevering only when moved by passion. She does not look at a case dispassionately. She at once decides that he or she is guilty or innocent, and works on that theory."

"A woman enjoys the mysterious, and she is so elated at her position as detective that she is unable to conceal her identity or the secret investigation of a case."

"Women are even failures in running down criminals of their own sex. A woman criminal will not seldom be detected by working on her vanity, credulity or sympathy; and worst of all, if the detective be attractive and the man criminal handsome—well, a man is better for detective work."

Doing a Man a Favor. "I had been tried for murder and sentenced to be hung and the day named and as I happened to be in town on that day the sheriff invited me to witness the execution. Half a dozen of us accompanied him to the cell of the condemned at the proper hour, and he said to the man:—

"Well Jim, it's about time to be hanged."

"Folks all ready outside?" asked Jim. "Yes all ready. That's a big crowd to see you go, and I hope you won't make no fuss."

"Say, Bill," said the condemned after a moment's thought, "I've concluded not to be hung."

"Shoo! Why, you was regularly sentenced."

"Yes, I know, but I'm going to kick again. I don't hev no far show."

"It was far as could be, Jim, and only yesterday you agreed not to make any fussin'." "Pears like you'd want to do the right thing by me."

"Yes I do, but this here hangin' don't do a man no good. Maybe I'll hang next week, but darn my hide if I do it to-day! Jest go and tell the folks that it's put off."

"Shoo! shoo!" grumbled the sheriff. "The law says you 're to be hung between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock."

"Don't be no more, Jim. Jest get ready and cum out and be hung like a man. Hain't I used you 'all right?"

"Yes, reckon so."

"Gin you plenty to eat and a good bed?"

"Yes."

"Then why go back on me? If I don't hang you what's the Governor gwine to say 'bout it? What's the Judge gwine to do? I ain't askin' you to hang 'cause you killed yo' ole woman, but to oblige me."

"Is that it? Would it be a favor to yo' Bill?"

"I would, Jim—a big favor. You couldn't do nuthin' to oblige me no."

"An' yo'll remember it of me?"

"I will and if I kin ever do yo' a good turn yo' kin count on me."

"Wall, then," said Jim as he rose up, "I reckon yo' kin go ahead with the hangin'."

"I don't hear fur the Governor nor the Judge, but when a feller has used me white I'm willin' to do him a favor and won't go back on him. Git along to the gallus and hev it over with!"

The True Christian. Christian love is not the dream of a philosopher sitting in his study and benevolently wishing the world were better than it is, congratulating himself, perhaps, all the time on the superiority shown by himself over less amiable natures.

Injure one of these beaming sons of God, humor and he bears unceasingly, unrelenting and refuses to forgive. But give us the man who, instead of retiring to some small, select society or rather association, where his own opinions shall be reflected, can mix with men whose sympathies are unmet and his tastes are jarred and his views are traversed at every turn, and still can be just and gentle and forbearing. Give us the man who can be insulted and not retaliate; meet rudeness and still be courteous; the man who, like the Apostle Paul, buffeted and disliked, can yet be generous and make allowances.

A Royal Housekeeper. The Empress of Germany is a most excellent housekeeper, and moreover, takes great interest in the practical education of girls in domestic matters. Recently, accompanied by her sister, the Princess Caroline, she visited one of the largest schools of cooking in Berlin and not only showed a great interest in all that she saw, but engaged kindly to the girls who were engaged in various culinary operations.

Many of the dishes she tasted, and declared that any one of them she would gladly have had on her own table. One of the girls was made happy by being engaged then and there by Princess Caroline as an assistant cook.

A Boy's Lure Captivity. "Henry," said Mrs. Woodie, "I hear Willie's voice. Won't you step to the door and tell him I want him?"

But Willie was two miles away disputing a point with the umpire.

Nervous Prostration. Cured effectually by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

His heart was affected.

"Overwork as a student at college brought on an attack of nervous prostration," says Mr. Gilbert, a railway missionary. "I was exceedingly nervous and if I exerted myself my heart commenced to flutter violently, and I was warned that even ordinary exercise endangered my life. But thanks to Scott's Sarsaparilla I feel better than I ever expected to feel, for I can now address a meeting two hours or more without exhaustion and am free from that distressing palpitation. In my work I have often-time recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla, and have seen many cases where its effects have been most marked."

Scott's Sarsaparilla acts like magic in restoring shattered nerves because it rebuilds the nerve centres. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and all nerve derangements wear on the system. Scott's Sarsaparilla makes new blood and muscles and strong nerves. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

Now is the time to get supplied with glass and crockeryware as we will sell off cheaper than ever before removing. W. P. Colwill.

JOHN NEWSON FURNITURE

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date."

They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clapping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had more to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." Mrs. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.
