Head Boy Post Goes To Charles

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—Prince Charles, 17-year-old heir to the throne, began his final term here at tough Gordonstoun school in northeastern Scotland after being named head boy of his house—Windmill Lodge. The prince, who was chosen for the new post by his house master, will act as chief monitor, responsible for the discipline of the other boys. Prince Charles returned to Britain last month after spending two terms at Timbertop school in Australia. An outdoor branch of Geelong, Victoria, grammar school, Timbertop is located in the bush northeast of Melbourne and known for its emphasis on character-building and physical development. In attending Timbertop, the prince became the first member of the royal family to go to school in an overseas Commonwealth country. Plans for his further education when he leaves Gordonstoun have not been made public. The prince returned to Gordonstoun Monday night with his father, Prince Philip, and his brother, Prince Andrew, as passengers.

Bogus Bills Are Seized

MONTREAL (CP)—RCMP and Montreal police have seized about $200,000 in counterfeit $10 bills in a number of weekend raids. The investigation continues into the appearance in the Montreal area of phoney $10 bills which police said were "uncross, cleverly contrived and possibly nationwide in circulation. Eight men were taken into custody for questioning in the weekend operations, but all were later released. The $200,000 in bogus bills were reported to have been scattered in a northeast Montreal lane by two men, who fled in a car Saturday night as police closed on them. About 100 policemen from the two forces staged a dozen raids. STARTED FRIDAY The joint operation began Friday night. Saturday both forces released a statement warning the public about the counterfeit money. The bills, though deceptive, contained "minute printing defects" which could be spotted by an alert public. Police urged the public to compare the pictures of the Queen appearing on the genuine note and on any suspect $10 bill. The genuine bill features a picture that is lifelike in its portrayal of the Queen. Officers also described the counterfeit notes as having planchettes which could not be picked off, unlike those on genuine notes. Planchettes are the circular discs of paper scattered at random into the pulp during the paper-making process. "Counterfeited planchettes are just dots of ink," the police statement said.

WAITRESSES GO TOPLESS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Waitresses in the dimly-lit Bunkhouse restaurant in downtown Vancouver went topless here. The move came just as city licensing officials warned six cabarets they must cover up their go-go girls. Milt Harrell, chief license inspector, said however, that restaurants do not fall under the city licensing bylaw as do cabarets. He referred the matter of the Bunkhouse to police. Mr. Harrell, two morality squad detectives and a large number of male customers were on hand for the in-shon served by two young waitresses clad normally except for frontless peasant blouses. Restaurant owner Les Stark said there was "no trouble." Said a customer: "It's so dark in here I can't even see my food, never mind the girls."

Princess Will Represent Queen

LONDON (AP)—Princess Marie of Kent, an aunt of the Queen, will represent her at the Bechuanaland and Basutoland independence celebrations and afterwards visit President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, it was announced here. An announcement from Kensington Palace said she will leave Sept. 26 for Johannesburg. There she will board an RAF plane, arriving at Gaborone in Bechuanaland Sept. 27. Oct. 2 she flies to Basutoland's capital, Maseru. Oct. 7 she travels to Nairobi via Johannesburg. She returns to London Oct. 13.

PRISONER DIES SAIGON (AP)—U.S. marines airlifted a wounded North Vietnamese prisoner to the marine assault carrier Iwo Jima in a futile attempt to save his life, a spokesman reported Sunday. Captured in South Viet Nam, he was taken out by helicopter but died on the operating table several hours later.
