FORAGE CORN AS A CROP

RESULTS OF EXPERIMENTS AT A STATE AGRICULTURAL STATION.

Why,

Fresh Facts for Farmers—Highly Cultivated Small Farms Better Than Large Plantations Improperly Fertilized.

Forage corn is grown as food for stock instead of being intended solely for grain, and such crops are receiving more attention than formerly. As the grain may not be sold, the value of the crop does not depend on a limited period in which growth must be made. Forage corn gives a larger yield than any other crop, and it can be grown over a wide extent of territory. Like all other crops, however, its value does not wholly depend on its bulk, but mostly on its quality, and the actual food contained. Professor Armstrong, of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station, has given this subject his attention during the past three years, the method being to grow corn in plots of about one-tenth of an acre, and to note carefully the gross yield from the different plots, determine the amount of the various ingredients, and to test, by actual digestion, the quantity of food which can be assimilated by animals.

How

Can you test this? If you have never tried Sunlight Soap, ask those who use it what they think of it, then try it yourself. The result will please you, and you will see that it is not a mere advertisement, but a fact. Sunlight Soap is the best in the world. It is made in a factory where the quality is strictly supervised, and it is the largest sale of any soap in the world.

Is That

not the best way to decide the matter? First try Sunlight Soap. It will give you a fair trial. It is the best in the world. It is made in a factory where the quality is strictly supervised, and it is the largest sale of any soap in the world.

ADVANTAGES OF FULL GROWTH.

All experiments show that in the latter part of the season, after the growth of the crop has apparently ceased, there is a very large production of dry matter. This invisible growth takes place largely in the grain, and consists in the storing up of starchy material and fat, part of which the plant assimilates from the air, and part transferred from the leaves and stalks to the ears. The mature corn contains a greater weight of grain, and also about the proper proportion of grain and coarse fodder for productive feeding. Professor Armstrong's experiments demonstrate that while a grain and fodder crop can be thus combined, the fact that the nutritive matter is taken from the stalks to fill out the ears is a loss to the stalks, being simply the transferring of the nutrition of the plant from one point to another. Whether the work of the professor demonstrates that the growing of a forage crop with the greater proportion of the nutrition stored in the ears is an advantage in the face of the fact that the regular corn crop is looked upon as the main source for grain, is for the farmer to determine, but there is one point overlooked by the professor, which is the succulence of the material. He demonstrates the greater digestibility of the mature forage, however, which is valuable, and there is no doubt that with his experiments in the past, and the work planned for the future, he will in time reach all questions concerning the value of a forage crop and make them plain. His results will give the forage crop a higher place than it has before held.

SHORT TALKS WITH FARMERS.

Area and Production—One Way to Sell Wheat.

The size of the farm does not affect success. There is no limit to the productive capacity of any soil, so to the present methods of farming are concerned. In some portions of Belgium, where the farmers are compelled to utilize every square foot of land, the yields are enormous, far exceeding the farms of any other portion of the world, yet the original soil was poor and not considered very valuable. A high system of cultivation has changed the soil itself, which is now very fertile.

If wheat is low, good beef, pork and mutton are high. The fact alone is proof that the farmer can turn his attention to something better than producing the cheapest articles for market. The way to sell wheat and corn is in the shape of milk, butter and meat.

Clean seed is everything to a farmer, as it lessens his labor. It is better to overplant the seed than the fallow, and even land pick it, than to spend days and weeks in going over the field to pull out cockle and other weeds that are caused by foul seed.

The large hog is becoming a thing of the past unless he is a specialty. Hogs of medium size and the highest prices and it has been demonstrated that in proportion to the time required for converting a certain amount of food into pork a large hog can be made from a medium size hog than from an extra large one.

There is no necessity for having a field in fallow. It is better to plow it in the fall, cross plow it in the spring, and sow some crop to be turned under, which is a sure and quicker way than to lose time by the slow fallow process of re-cultivation.

More food than is required is a waste, as much will be thrown under foot and trampled. There is no fixed allowance. The best rule to serve to give each animal as much as it will eat up clean and be satisfied.

Even with the best of food, an animal will lose flesh in winter unless it is well sheltered. This means not a close roof only, but freedom from draughts of air. A hole or crack in the wall is more damaging to an animal than exposure to the open air.

The young animals are the future breeders. Every farmer knows that when the calf, colt or pig is stunted when very young the effect remains. Push the young ones, and keep them growing. The first year's gain is more important than any year in the future.

Testing His Honesty.

Your druggist is honest if when you ask him for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion he gives you just what you ask for. He knows this is the best form in which to take cod liver oil.

He Was Convinced.

A man in Nova Scotia was in doubt as to the genuineness of the reported cure of Mrs. Bernard Maguire and ex-Councillor Lingley, of Petersville, Queen's Co., by a course of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic and Hawker's Liver Pills. He wrote to Squire Lingley, and that gentleman promptly assured him that the testimonials were genuine.

WARD OF THE CHOLERA by getting your system in healthy working condition. Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic, with a course also of Hawker's Pills, will excite every organ of the body to healthy action and afford the surest safeguard against disease.

USE SKOLAN'S DISCOVERY.

GRAVELLY, PLEASING RELIEF AFTER MANY DAYS.

How a Queens County Man Found Permanent Healing.

His Own Experience Tells Fully and Freely some Truths which all Readers of this Paper Should Know.

Here and there, in almost every town of our province, are "chronic" cases over which doctors disagree; cases that become worse year after year. It is to reach such that the gentleman to whom these lines refer, and whose portrait is here given, has written the story of his case.

Mr. Branscomb's home is in Chipman, Queens Co., N. B. It was there that a representative of the Groder company called upon him, Sept. 1st, of the present year. His greeting was most cordial. He gladly acknowledged his thanks, giving expression to the following statement:

"It is five years since I first became afflicted with a form of indigestion. Last winter it became more severe, developing into chronic diarrhoea. I cannot tell you how much I suffered for SIX LONG WEEKS. It seemed as though relief could not be found. You will remember how I told you of my condition and asked your advice about taking a bottle of GRODER'S SYRUP. You told me that the medicine was a laxative and might not meet my needs. I delayed buying for a few hours until I began to hope that it would help me. Even my clothes seemed a burden because of bloating of stomach. It was with difficulty that I kept about sufficiently to attend to my business.

But I am a well man now from the use of your remedy. In three days after I bought GRODER'S SYRUP the terrible pain and distress across my stomach were removed. My bowels rapidly assumed a natural, healthy condition. Now I eat and drink as well as I ever could. I have gained constantly in flesh since March last. I am perfectly cured.

It seems a duty for me to state my case fully, that others who suffer as I did may know where to find a cure."

Truly yours,

E. A. BRANSCOMB.

TEA! TEA!

Our TEA TRADE last season was the largest for some years, and we attribute it to the fact that the Teas we offered the public suited them both in QUALITY and PRICE.

Numbers of our customers have come back to us this Fall, and told us that if we could give them as good value this year as we did last year they would want no better.

We believe that WE CAN give them, and everyone else who favors us with an order, BETTER VALUE than even last season, as this year's crop of Tea seems to run more even than last year's, and having bought a much larger stock of it this year, we sell in a position to buy it at very close figures.

We don't advertise to sell Cheap Shoddy Teas, as we don't keep them at all, and would not sell them at any price; but we believe we do sell the best 20, 24 and 28 Cent Teas in the city today. We make reductions off above prices on quantities of five pounds and upwards. Every Pound of Tea sold warranted by
