WINDOW DRESSING

The May number of The Dry Goods Review has the following on the window dressing of one of Charlottetown's leading dry goods stores:—

A CARPET AND CURTAIN WINDOW.

In this issue The Review presents a photograph of a well dressed window in Charlottetown, P. E. I., at the enterprising house of James Paton & Co. It was designed to show carpets and curtains, and the verdict of the firm is that the display actually sold goods. No better evidence of success is wanted than this. In taking the photograph of the window it was found impossible, owing to the reflection, to get a front view. At the same time, as window dressers will observe from the cut, which gives a side view, it must have been a rich and imposing display. In the front row the trimmer placed five large jardinières full of spring flowers, back of which were arranged five or six large sized velvet rugs, folded with the point up. The sides were draped with point curtains down to the looking-glass. The front and side of the glass were draped with Scotch or Nottingham curtains, the back top of the window with lace curtains. The back ground consisted of Brussels and Cressley's velvets, the middle and to rows being borders and stairs. An examination will show, as nearly as it is possible for a photograph to do, how well the trimmer had selected his goods. There were 24 pieces in all.

"FELL DEAD."

What More Every-day Heading do you Read in this Paper than that?—They are Legion.

Don't dally with heart disorders. There is but one cure. "I had been for a number of years sorely afflicted with heart disease. At times my life was despaired of. Doctors had prescribed, and I had taken every known heart remedy made, I had supposed, and did not get my benefit. I read of the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle, and in less time almost than it takes to tell it, the distress was relieved. I followed the directions closely and to-day I am a well woman again, and I shall do all in my power to make known to every one suffering as I did the wonderful cure it worked for me. Mrs. William Burton, Dartmouth, Ont." For sale by Dr. S. W. Dodd, Medical Hall, and Geo. E. Hughes.

O. Y. B.—The entertainment and social given by the O. Y. B. and their young friends was a decided success in every sense of the word. All who had the pleasure of attending left well satisfied and hope to meet the boys and their friends again on some future occasion. The way that the different parts were performed was highly satisfactory to all present, and the young Britons tendered a hearty vote of thanks to all who in any way helped to make the entertainment and social such a great success. A snug sum was realized in aid of their Band for which the social was held. At the close, cake and coffee was supplied. The proceedings ended by singing "God save the Queen."
