Tested Her Strength. Charley M. was at home from college, spending his summer vacation. The M's were people fairly well to do, and Charley was passing the forenoon very comfortably on the cool and shady veranda.

Down by the barn yard fence, in a neglected place, a crop of strong, healthy weeds had sprung up and flourished under the summer sun. Left unmolested in the rush of work on the farm, they were fast becoming a blot on the otherwise orderly premises, and that morning Charley's father—the "old man"—had sallied forth and was now making a vigorous assault upon the patch.

Suddenly he left off his work and came up into the yard. Taking a broomstick which happened to be leaning against the veranda, he laid it on the grass, then turned to Charley and said: "Git down here and see if you can pull me over that stick."

He held in his hand a small chain, in each end of which was inserted a stout stick to serve as a handle. Then the tug began and developed into quite a spirited contest. But at last Charley succeeded in dragging the old man across the line.

"There, that'll do," he said, dropping his end of the chain. "I guess you've got strength enough to pull them weeds down there by the barn."

"I never said a word," said Charley, telling the story afterward, "but before noon there weren't any weeds left standing."—Youth's Companion.

Dense Ignorance. It is almost impossible to imagine an ignorance so dense as that said to be possessed by the average French conscript from the provinces. Did it not exist, however, his comrade from the city, who writes about garrison life, would hardly have told about it. One day a fiery adjutant questioned Jacques, the provincial: "Come! you are a Frenchman—a soldier; do you know why you are here instead of working in the fields? I ask you why you are here—a soldier? You give no answer. Have you never heard of the Germans?"

"No, my adjutant." "You have never heard of the Germans? What is Germany?" "I don't know." "Are you a Frenchman or a German?" "I don't know." "This is wonderful! Where were you born?" "At Vaucouleurs, my adjutant."

"At Vaucouleurs, and not a patriot! Did no one ever tell you of the invasion?" "No, my adjutant." The clerks in the registration offices in many American cities relate wonderful ignorance of would be American citizens, still it is doubtful whether any one of them has had to deal with a Jacques de Vaucouleurs.

TANSTEAD JUNCTION, P. Q., 12th Aug. 1893. MESSRS C C RICHARDS & Co.

GENTLEMEN,—I fell from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting my men in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on my back, and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg. Only for its being very fleshy, would have broken it. In an hour could not walk a step. Commenced using MINARD'S LINIMENT, and the third day went to Montreal on business and got about well by the use of a cane. I can sincerely recommend it as the best liniment that I know of in use.
