ELLEN'S DIARY

The Little Boy Of Alderlea Turns Five On Spring Day

So beautifully this evening's dusk came in. It had already shadowed the low of the valley, though the rose of the afterglow still lingered brightly over the treetops to the west, when we came to assist James, who would bring in from the near pasture then, a fleecy motherewe and her new-born. In a fold-of-shed, they would remain, until the ewelet is well-being should return them again to the field. . .

So we followed James up the rise to the height of field above. Not that we could render much assistance. Nor were we apt to be needed, because as any child of a farm where sheep are a part of the husbandry knows, one merely has to pick up the lamb, or pair, and the mother, bless her, will follow closely and anxiously bleating and welcomed. Occasionally, however there are those feckless creatures whose motherly instinct is lacking. Or perhaps only latent for the moment. And sometimes it takes a bit of strategy to get these rounded up to the fold. And there, strange thing that it is sometimes the sight of a dog approaching.We have seen James before this call Scramble to the scene - will in a flash arouse that instinct of motherliness, which ordinarily, and so naturally, protects and loves, in a gift of Heaven, the youngster new-born. More for company than actually to help James, we fancied we were, as we came with him up the field this evening.

"I'm thinking, Ellen," he offered looking off up the fields, "we should have more red land showing this cropping - grow more, grain," he nodded. "But then, we do need the pasture. It's hard to know what to do for the best."

And up the line-fence to the hedgerow, were last twitterings and notes of the day. And down by the stream? We listened, with the night running it duskily now over the country-side. But there was no sound of spring-piping from there.

"We're getting on fairly well with the fencing," James said. "It won't be long before we get to the last of it on th's farm. We did that stretch today, about the woods. . .We have that heap of wood to saw one of these times too! There are so many things to do. . .Now," he advised, picking up the lambkin, "you just follow the ewe, Ellen. Don't say a word. And don't hurry her!"

And first stars were lighting now. And the moon smiled down on the little procession, which made its way down to the barns.

A little boy of the place is now no longer four. Today, Alex reached his fifth birthday. It was a happy occasion. The sun shone for him. A chicken was roasted. There was a fine candle-bedecked cake. A pair of happy young neighbors, lad and lass, came by to play and join in the birthday supper, Mark's companions on the trek to school each morning. And Paul, also a schoolmate, came too, and to remain an overnight-guest of his, in the house across the lane. They played games in the yard, and young voices were merry.

"Hear them! Aren't they having fun!" Granddaughter smiled, coming by on her way from her classes. . .She rested her books a moment. "Just think of it: with tomorrow's Exam, the Finals will be over-the last chapter of my 'First Year' closed!" she remembered.

"But it won't close just like that, if all goes well with you," we said.

"There'll be a white dress, won't there? And a happy ending? And a promise written in the last lines, that the young Miss in the story will go on happily adventuring into the 'Second Year' ahead."

"I don't see much in here I can lunch on," James says closing the refrigerator door with a sigh. "Oh well, I guess I can last till the morning."

Until tomorrow -- -- Diary--
Good-night. . .

MR. AND MRS. J. CLAYTON SINGLETON

Young Couple Plight Troth At Belfast Presbyterian Manse

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Belfast Presbyterian Manse recently by Rev. Donald Nicholson when Judith Marie, daughter of Angus Docherty and the late Mrs. Docherty of Mt. Buchanan became the bride of James Clayton Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Singleton of Eldon, P.E.I.

The bride was gowned in a floor length gown of white embroidered sorrento with boat neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt featured a bustle bow at back and a short train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a headress of flowers and sequins. She carried a cascade of white carnations and ferns.

Mrs. Dora MacKenzie, the matron of honor, wore a gown of green nylon with a full skirt. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Singleton wore a gown of pink wool with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was held at the groom's home for 75 guests. The bride cut the wedding cake in the traditional manner. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Nicholson.

The bride and groom left on a short honeymoon trip following the reception. For traveling Mrs. Singleton chose a suit of turquoise linen with white accessories .

Eleanor Rice Has Workshop For Leaders And Teachers

KENSINGTON — Miss Eleanor Rice, national consultant in children's work for the Anglican Church, conducted a workshop in St. Mark's church hall, Kensington, on Monday, for 22 teachers and leaders from a number of parishes in the area. The morning session, with an attendance of 22, consisted of group discussions on the objectives of christian education. Three groups after considerable thought and discussion, assembled and recorded their conclusions on the subject.

After the noon meal served in the hall, 24 leaders attended the afternoon session which dealt with Little Helpers and J.A. literature. New Little Helper kits will be available shortly in a greatly improved design, before-and-after a pamphlet to be left by the rector with the new mother. Miss Rice reviewed the new J.A. study book, which is the story of the trials of a family fleeing from Communism into Hong Kong. Hunger and want brought the children for a time to a life of crime, from which they were rescued by the ministrations of the church. The speaker told how members of the J.A. and C.B.L. may help to feed those less fortunate by saving or earning even small amounts of money for the Primate's World Refugee Fund. She said 10 cents will buy a meal for a child in Hong Kong, and money for this purpose should be especially marked. Miss Rice led in a devotional period at the close of the afternoon session.

Supper was served at five o'clock and the evening session opened at eight with thirty-three in attendance. The first item on the program was the presentation of a Dorcas Badge to Mrs. Campbell of St. Stephen's Church, Burlington. Julie is a G.A. Link, and the first Link in this province ever to earn this honor. Preparation for the award entails a great deal of work which was done under the direction of the Links

MacCallum: First Baptist, Mrs. Harold Huggan, Mrs. W. C. Hoyt and Mrs. W. R. MacNeill: Church of Scotland, Mrs. Percy Sharam, Mrs. Elliott Jones; Park Royal, Mrs. Eldon Campbell, Mrs. Walter Bearisto: Spring Park, Mrs. Albert Woolridge, Mrs. Lloyd Scott.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Rankin MacLaine, Mrs. James Power and Mrs. John MacLeod.

Mrs. A. B. Bagnall Re-Elected As Head Of Senior Ladies Aid

The combined monthly and annual meetings of the Senior Ladies Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital was held at the Cundall Home on Monday, May 6. The president, Mrs. A. B. Bagnall, chaired the meeting and welcomed Mrs. Tom DeBlois and Mrs. George Rogers of the Junior Ladies Aid.

Plans were completed for the nurses graduation to be held in June. The treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Moore presented the annual financial statement which indicated a successful year.

In her annual report the president, Mrs. Bagnall, reviewed the activities of the aid. The nurses graduation was sponsored by the group and prizes for proficiency in obstetrical nursing were donated. A small gift had been given each nurse at the capping ceremonies.

Mrs. G. H. Buntain and Mrs. W. E. Cotton represented the aid at the Maritime Hospital Auxiliaries Association annual meeting in Halifax where Mrs. Buntain was appointed zone chairman for P.E.I.

The "buying" committee with Mrs. J. W. MacKenzie as convener purchased many articles for the Cundall Home and Nurses Residence, including rugs, curtains, bedspreads, chairs; they also had many pieces of furniture re-upholstered. For the hospital, a bottle warmer and baskets, and infant resuscitators for the nursery had been installed; and bathroom fixtures had been installed in the Ladies Aid room. At the present time and draperies are been chosen for the main building offices at the hospital.

The organization, again this year, decorated the patients Christmas trays. This work was done by Mrs. W. T. Rogers and her committee. The members also assisted with the blood donor clinics, Cancer Drive, March of Dimes and other campaigns.

The Nearly-New Shop has retired from business in a new location and it is under the direction of Mrs. M. W. Weeks, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Hoyt and Mrs. Percy Crosby of the ways and means committee.

The annual "tag day" under the convenorship of Mrs. Hoyt reached an all time high, as far as funds were concerned.

The "marathon bridge" was held during the year and a closing bridge and tea were held on April 25.

The gift cabinet, stocked with knitted baby articles, is under the convenership of Mrs. W. E. Cotton.

Reports were also given by Mrs. J. W. MacKenzie, buying committee; Mrs. W. E. Cotton, gift cabinet; Mrs W. C. Hoyt, ways and means; Mrs. M. W. Weeks, Nearly New Shop; and Mrs. Eldon Campbell, telephone committee.

Mrs. W. E. Cotton, chairman of the nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers: honorary president, Mrs. Walter Shaw; president, Mrs. A.B. Bagnall; secretary, Mrs. Keven Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Moore; representatives to board of trustees, Mrs. G. H. Buntain, and Mrs. Donald Campbell; corresponding secretary, Miss Lillian Wennacott; buying committee, Mrs. J. W. MacKenzie, Mrs. G. M. Avard, Mrs. W. T. Rogers and Mrs. Frank Jelks.

Ways and means committee, Mrs. W. C. Hoyt and Mrs. Percy Crosby; Nearly New Shop, Mrs. M. W. Weeks, Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Crosby, and Mrs. Eldon Campbell.

The church vice presidents are: Kirk of St. James, Mrs. R. S. P. Jardine, Mrs. A. S. Walker, Mrs. Charles MacArthur; Zion, Mrs. James Power, Mrs. Rankin MacLaine, Mrs. Elmer Sutherland, and Mrs. Stewart Scrimgeour: St. Peters, Mrs. H. L. Palmer, Mrs. J. R. Davies and Miss Mabel Holt: St. Pauls, Mrs. N. H. DeBlois, Mrs. M. W. Weeks, Miss Lorna Weeks, and Mrs. Frank Jelks: Trinity United, Mrs. Weston Whitlock, Mrs. Edgar Gillespie, and Mrs. Milton Brehaut: Central Christian, Mrs. Waldo Bain, Mrs. Penna Moore and Miss Lean

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

TORONTO, May 17th — You too can "live modern"—by doing away entirely with an old-fashioned verandah perhaps, or, possibly, new garage doors are indicated. A good overall paint job will work wonders in the appearance of a home. Making your home look really up-to-date may be easier than you think, thanks to a Home Improvement Loan available at the BANK OF MONTREAL. These loans are inexpensive and you repay on the monthly basis most convenient to you. If you want to bring new life to your home and add to its value, have a chat with your nearest B of M manager about a Home Improvement Loan. He'll be pleased to show you how an H.I.L. from "My Bank" can help you.

HERE'S GOOD, GOOD NEWS for those who gasp for breath with asthma, or cough with bronchitis . . . fast-acting, relief-bringing RAZ-MAH Capsules make you feel so much better so quickly, yet leave no unpleasant after-effects. Keep a supply of Raz-Mah Capsules (Raz-Mah Greys Junior Capsules for youngsters) always handy at home or in your purse when you're away from home. You'll find they'll make a big difference in your life! A friend of mine who suffers from asthma, says that, with Raz-Mah, she's no longer afraid of a cold or cough. At the first sign of a wheeze or shortness of breath, she gets almost immediate relief by taking a Raz-Mah Capsule. Do try it!

HERE'S A SURE CURE for that all-too-familiar 'Laundry Demon' . . . 'Hangover Dirt'! Add CALGON, the wonder water conditioner, to your laundry water. It conditions water so you need less soap . . . gets clothes naturally soft, sweet-smelling and really clean. And, best of all, it prevents the soil of minerals, soap or detergent that I think of as 'Hangover Dirt'. (Like the ring you get in the bath-tub). Do try Calgon . . . it never, never leaves clothes stiff or scratchy. Use Calgon—the Water Doctor—you'll see . . . you'll always have a brighter, cleaner laundry!

BELIEVE ME, it's no chore at all to keep kitchen and bathroom drains clean, sanitary and free-running. No scouring and scrubbing . . . just 2 tablespoons of GILLETT'S DRAIN CLEANER in every drain, every week, will do the trick! That's because Gillett's Drain Cleaner has a special churning, boiling action to scour out every trace of drain muck and mess. So don't put off until tomorrow what can so easily be done today . . . keep all your drains germ-free, fast running and sanitary with Gillett's Drain Cleaner . . . no much more effective and easier to use than anything else you've ever tried.

Guides, Brownies Host Mrs. Latham At Luncheon

MT. STEWART — Mrs. F.M. Latham, visitor—observer from the United States Girl Scout Movement, and a number of the Queens County Guide Commissioner were the guests of the Mt. Stewart Guides and Brownies at a luncheon recently.

The luncheon was catered to by the district Women's Institute and the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion.

The guests were welcomed by the guides and brownies and after the welcome, the brownies formed a "fairy ring", and presented a program for the visitors.

The highlight of this was an address by Mrs. Latham, who also taught the guides and brownies a number of songs and games.

At the campfire gifts were presented Mrs. Latham from the guides and brownies in the vicinity.

Sunset Lodge Home League Has Meeting

Brigadier Dorothy Barwick presided at the weekly meeting of the Sunset Lodge Home League held on Thursday, May 14. Rev. Donald Campbell of Zion Presbyterian Church in Charlottetown was the guest speaker at this meeting.

Brigadier Barwick led the worship service and refresh-

Leader, Mrs. James Harris of Charlottetown. The presentation was made by Mrs. G. G. Wood, Diocesan W.A. president.

Miss Rice reviewed the literature and also the work of the C.B.L., and mentioned especially the knighting ceremony which is of special value due to the prior training received by the boys. Referring to Sunday School literature, the consultant announced that a complete revisal is being undertaken, and the new literature will be available in 1965.

The rector of St. Mark's, the Rev. Ron Parsons, closed the meeting with the benediction.

Mrs. Elmer Mcnear, president of St. Mark's Senior W.A., tendered a vote of thanks to Miss Rice, and expressed appreciation to members of the Diocesan Board. Mrs. Wood, President; Mrs. Currie, J.A. secretary; Mrs. Coles; Mrs. Aitken, Little Helpers secretary; and Mrs. Champion who were present for all three sessions.

Mrs. Vessey moved a vote of thanks for hospitality which was provided by the ladies of St. Mark's, Kensington, St. Stephen's, Hamilton and St. Thomas', Spring Brook.

NEW DEMOCRATS SPEAK

WHO CONTROLS MARKETS?

The following information gives a picture of the concentration of market power in some of Canada's leading food-processing industries in 1956. (1956 is the last year for which figures are available; but if anything concentration has become even greater since then.)

Prepared Brekfast Foods: 87 per cent of total industry output controlled by three firms.

Processed Cheese: 88 per cent of total industry output controlled by four firms.

Sugar: 75 per cent of total industry output controlled by three firms.

Flour: 80 per cent of total industry output controlled by four firms.

Animal Oils and Fats: 86 per cent of total industry output controlled by six firms.

Meat Packing: 71 per cent of total industry output controlled by four firms.

Biscuits and Crackers: 70 per cent of total industry output controlled by four firms.

Condensed Milk: 60 per cent of total industry output controlled by four firms.

Vegetable Oil Mills: 88 per cent of total industry output controlled by six firms.

Meat Packing:

In 1961 the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission published a report on the Meat Packing Industry in Canada. They reported that market power in the industry was becoming concentrated in few hands and that the activities of Canada Packers in particular were contrary to the public interest and designed to lessen competition in the industry. To date no concrete action has been taken by the government on this matter.

SOURCE: Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Profits in the food and beverage processing industries rose from 96 million dollars in 1950 to 130 million dollars in 1961, a gain of 35 per cent.

Of course prices have gone up at the same time so that the real gain in profit was only about 8 per cent. Even this, however, shoswsw that the food processing industries are doing very well.
