

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

Princess Recovering

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Alexandra, the Greek princess who married ex-king Peter II of Yugoslavia, has emerged from a coma induced by an overdose of sleeping pills and been pronounced out of danger.

Doctors who brought her out of 36 hours of deep coma by repeated blood transfusions said she showed great improvement.

Earlier Tuesday she was able to talk for two hours with her husband who has flown here from Paris.

Police guarded the secret of what Alexander, cousin of Prince Philip, wrote in the four notes she penned in English at the Venice island villa in her mother, Princess Aspasia of Greece.

Poet, Playwright Dies In London

LONDON (Reuters) — Louis MacNeice, leading British post-war playwright, died in hospital Tuesday. He was 55.

MacNeice was born in Belfast, Northern Ireland, and his later activities included lecturing in the classes at Birmingham University and producing plays for the BBC.

His literary works, in addition to his own verse, include a study of W. B. Yeats' poetry.

Former CNR Bridge Chief Here Retires

CAMPBELL — A Campbell engineer well known throughout the Maritimes has retired from Canadian National Railways after more than 46 years of railway service.

John Colin MacLaughlin, engineer for CN's Chaleur area, began his service with the railway in his native Campbellton in 1917. He rose through a variety of engineering posts connected with the lines around Campbellton and in the Gaspé peninsula, reaching the post of roadmaster.

In 1948 he was promoted to engineer and bridge and building master for Prince Edward Island. Three years later he moved to Halifax as engineer in charge of the Granby convention and three others have remained in the area since.

Dr. Guy Marcoux, independent Social Credit member for Quebec-Montmorency, said Monday he plans to return to the party led by Mr. Thompson and to reorganize the "official" Quebec branch of the National Social Credit Association.

Delegates at Granby also called for a national leadership convention.

But at a caucus later 3 C.I. (Continued on Page 3 Col. 1)

Technical Deficit Site For 1967-68 Large Trade Surplus Shapes Up In Canada

BY ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — The largest trade surplus in at least a decade appears to be shaping up for Canada on the basis of export gains in the first seven months of the year.

A surplus of $138,100,000 for the January-July period, in contrast to a $131,600,000 deficit a year earlier, was reported Tuesday by the bureau of statistics.

Exports were up 7.5 per cent while the value of imports showed virtually no change. The switch from red ink to black in Canada's trade balance produced a total improvement of nearly $270,000,000. Further surpluses are likely to show during the fall months—a period when the trade position is traditionally strong.

Last year ended with an $200,000 trade surplus and 1961 had a surplus of $125,000,000. The previous eight years showed an unbroken succession of deficits.

Officials attribute much of this year's improvement to the devaluation and pegging of the Canadian dollar's exchange rate to the U.S. dollar.

Imports slightly down. Total exports during the January-July period rose to $3,811,500,000 from $3,574,300,000 in the corresponding period of 1966.

Imports eased fractionally to $3,793,300,000 from $3,796,000,000.

Cumulative figures for the first seven months showed the sharpest export gains in sales to Britain and Commonwealth countries.

In trade with the United States, the national trade deficit was reduced to $368,000,000 for the seven-month period from $461,500,000 a year earlier. Exports rose 4.4 per cent to $2,293,600,000 and imports were 0.5 per cent lower at $2,586,600,000.

Trade with Britain in the January-July period showed a 13-per-cent increase in exports to $679,100,000. Total imports were down 12.4 per cent to $297,900,000. The traditional surplus on Canadian-British trade jumped to $278,100,000 from $180,400,000.

Naval Probe Seen Likely

HALIFAX (CP) — Associate Defence Minister Lucien Cardin said Tuesday there is a "quite likely" will be a thorough investigation of sharp criticism levelled at the navy recently by Retired Commodore James Plomer.

Mr. Cardin said at a press conference that Commodore Plomer's charges that the fleet was badly chosen, badly equipped and poorly manned "will certainly have to be looked into."

Commodore Plomer's criticisms of the navy were published in an article in Maclean's magazine.

BAIL CANCELLED

Richard Bizer, charged in connection with Front de Liberation Quebecois terrorist activities last spring, was cancelled Tuesday a few hours after he returned to Montreal from the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon to face trial.

A warrant for his arrest was issued in Quebec Superior Court. The court granted a Crown request for cancellation of his $2,400 bail on the basis of statements attributed to him in St. Pierre-Miquelon that he would never return to Canada unless recognized as a political prisoner.

Arriving at the Montreal International Airport on a TGA Vanguard from St. Pierre, the 18-year-old Bizer said he has dropped a petition to the French government for political asylum although he feels sure it will be granted.

He told his waiting reporters "I have returned of my own accord and I am ready to face the courts."

Along with 17 other persons charged as a result of terrorism explosions and other terrorist activities in the spring, Bizer is scheduled to face trial at the fall assizes.

UNDER STUDY He said his asylum petition was under study when he left St. Pierre-Miquelon but he was forgetting about it because "as far as I am concerned, I don't want to be the cause of complications between France and Canada."

He denied reports he had been told by the governor of St. Pierre-Miquelon that he would not be granted asylum.

Bizer had been in St. Pierre-Miquelon, a group of small islands 200 miles off the south Newfoundland coast, "exactly one month."

Traveling alone, he arrived in St. Pierre-Miquelon on the French supply vessel Miquelon and took the first available plane to Montreal.

A former elevator operator Bizer is charged in connection with the St. Pierre-Miquelon rioting in an RCMP technical services building in May.

He said newspaper reports quoting him as saying he would return to Canada only as a political prisoner must have been caused by "some misunderstanding."

"I believe what I said was that I would return to French-occupied St. Pierre and Miquelon," he said.

WANTS TO SEE LAWYER After the "press conference," Bizer said he would be the target of questions with apparent calm and ease, he was driven to the city by a radio station reporter. He said he was going to see his lawyer.

He said he had hoped either Guy Guerin or Gilles Duguay, two of the defence lawyers handling his case, would be at the airport but, apart from reporters, apparently nobody was present.

Bizer said he doesn't like "the violence attached to the P.Q. movement, but I think it will go on unless Ottawa changes its attitude toward the French people in Canada."

Asked who paid for his trip home, he said "it is an independent question."

CP Wirephoto

DEFECTOR German national prize winner for his work on classical and modern literature, has defected to West Germany. In Hamburg on a lecture tour, he announced last night he would "not return to Leipzig University where he has taught for 15 years."

(AP Wirephoto)

As a fair site "can't be prepared out of a hat," the informant said.

Work on a boom west of Champlain Ridge spanning the St. Lawrence River in west-end Montreal has not yet begun, he said. This boom must be built before work can start on a retaining wall around the proposed site.

"Work can't be done in the winter because ice comes in the river, and the retaining wall can't even be started until the ice boom is ready."

MUST AMEND ACT The informant said postponement of fair to 1969 would mean the federal government would have to amend its act to take effect in 1969.

The act specifies that the fair be held in central year—1967 or 1968. It can be easily changed, he said. The amendment would allow the fair to be held in 1969.

Continued on Page 3 Col. 1)

POPE MEETS FORMER CANADIAN PM

Pope Paul VI stands between former Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Mrs.

Diefenbaker during a special summer home at Castel Gondolfo Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Caouette-Thompson Fight Set For New Round Today

QUEBEC (CP) — The next step in a struggle between Robert Caouette and Jean-Jacques Thompson and Real Caouette for the allegiance of Quebec's Social Credit members of Parliament may unfold here today.

The Thompson-Caouette feud broke wide open at the annual convention in Granby during the weekend of the Baillement des Creditistes, Quebec branch of Social Credit, when 500 delegates voted by a majority of roughly three to one to disavow Mr. Thompson as national leader.

Mr. Thompson was not at the convention but his MP's issued a public statement supporting his leadership after meeting him in Montreal Monday.

Mr. Caouette has so far declined comment on this break in the ranks of Quebec Social Credit but it was reliably reported here that the loss caught him off guard. It was believed he was unaware of the intentions of the six Thompson supporters until their public statement.

Sask. officials Probe Sleeping Sickness

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan health officials continued laboratory studies Tuesday in efforts to determine whether sleeping sickness is the disease that has caused the death of one person and sent more than 50 others to hospitals throughout the province in the last week.

The disease, also known as western equine encephalitis, has been confirmed in eight horses and is suspected as the cause of illness in the humans and 12 other horses, of which 17 have died.

In Alberta, one case of sleeping sickness has been confirmed in a horse from the Lloydminster area and about another 20 cases are suspected.

However, provincial health authorities said no cases or suspected cases have been reported among humans.

Three horses have died considerably less than the danger of further spread of the disease.

Officials said more than 20 horses have contracted the disease. The outbreak is concentrated in the Neopawa area, 120 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

Dr. V. L. Matthews, Saskatchewan's acting deputy minister of public health, said few new suspected cases in humans were reported under investigation in addition to the 30 patients reported in hospitals last Friday.

Sleeping sickness causes inflammation of the brain. An other variety, western equine encephalomyelitis, also affects the spinal column.

In severe cases, paralysis, convulsions, drowsiness and a mental confusion are symptoms.

Mosquitoes are the main source of transmission of sleeping sickness from animal to man. An early frost of sleeping sickness in humans was reported in Manitoba.

lifeguards End Season; 10 Successful Rescues

As the National Park Life Guard Service for the 1963 season closed yesterday, supervisor Gene McGuigan reported "this year was very successful with no fatalities and a total of 10 rescues."

In releasing the figures Mr. McGuigan pointed out that 100 rescues were reported covered those beach areas of the park which are officially patrolled by his guard service.

In reference to the number of rescues, Mr. McGuigan said that, in comparison, the large number of people who participated in the beaches during the summer, the lifeguards were called upon to perform rescue service very rarely.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

ALL CHILDREN Mr. McGuigan pointed out that the guards were called upon to perform a rescue, the possible victims was a child, generally between the ages of 9 to 14 years.

He said that the number of times the lifeguards were called upon to perform rescue service was very rarely.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

He attributed the fact that the number of rescues reached zero was due to the constant alertness of the guards, otherwise the difficulties that the summer had gotten themselves into might have ended in tragedy.

FORMER PREMIER

Gen. Faroukh Zaidi, former premier of Iran, died in Geneva Monday night. He was 67.

Zaidi served Premier Mossadegh from power in 1953 and resigned in office until 1959 when he resigned the premiership because of ill health.

(AP Wirephoto)

Five Sentenced To Penitentiary

TRURO (CP) — Four Sherbrooke, Que., men were sentenced to two years each in penitentiary here Tuesday.

Joseph Hubert Frappier, 34, Joseph Real Allier, 21, Ferand La Plante, 20, and Eugene Courbure, 25, had pleaded guilty to charges of breaking, entering and theft at the Colchester co-op.

Clarence Thompson, 31, of Summerside, P.E.I., pleaded guilty to a charge of being in possession of stolen goods.

RICHARD BIZER, charged in connection with the terrorism of the Front de Liberation Quebecois, is surrounded by reporters as he arrives at Montreal airport from the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon where he had earlier asked for political asylum. Bizer is accused of placing a bomb at an RCMP establishment in the Montreal suburb of Outremont. His trial is to begin next week.

(CP Wirephoto)

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for the Performing Arts is planning a festival of artistic poets in Orleans, Ontario, this fall.

The festival, which will be a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Dragger Limping Into Souris Bizer Returns To Stand Trial

SOURIS — The Souris dragger, MV Souris II, was damaged and limped into Souris yesterday afternoon with her propeller fouled by her own net.

The accident occurred in Northumberland Strait. By operating her engines at just enough speed to give her storage-way, the dragger managed to make home port under her own power. No serious damage was caused to her crew and rudder.

Shortly after she docked, two members of the Souris fire department, Arthur Peters and Eugene Dupas, equipped with scuba tanks, went under the dragger and cleared the fouled net.

Crew members were working around the clock to repair the damaged net and the dragger hopes to sail for the fishing grounds this afternoon.

MONTREAL (CP)—Bail for Richard Bizer, charged in connection with Front de Liberation Quebecois terrorist activities last spring, was cancelled Tuesday a few hours after he returned to Montreal from the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon to face trial.

A warrant for his arrest was issued in Quebec Superior Court. The court granted a Crown request for cancellation of his $2,400 bail on the basis of statements attributed to him in St. Pierre-Miquelon that he would never return to Canada unless recognized as a political prisoner.

Arriving at the Montreal International Airport on a TGA Vanguard from St. Pierre, the 18-year-old Bizer said he has dropped a petition to the French government for political asylum although he feels sure it will be granted.

He told his waiting reporters "I have returned of my own accord and I am ready to face the courts."

Along with 17 other persons charged as a result of terrorism explosions and other terrorist activities in the spring, Bizer is scheduled to face trial at the fall assizes.

UNDER STUDY He said his asylum petition was under study when he left St. Pierre-Miquelon but he was forgetting about it because "as far as I am concerned, I don't want to be the cause of complications between France and Canada."

He denied reports he had been told by the governor of St. Pierre-Miquelon that he would not be granted asylum.

Bizer had been in St. Pierre-Miquelon, a group of small islands 200 miles off the south Newfoundland coast, "exactly one month."

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for the Performing Arts is planning a festival of artistic poets in Orleans, Ontario, this fall.

The festival, which will be a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for the Performing Arts is planning a festival of artistic poets in Orleans, Ontario, this fall.

The festival, which will be a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for the Performing Arts is planning a festival of artistic poets in Orleans, Ontario, this fall.

The festival, which will be a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for the Performing Arts is planning a festival of artistic poets in Orleans, Ontario, this fall.

The festival, which will be a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's Parish, Montreal, says the festival is a state of French-English literary in several typical cities across the province.

Under heavy public relations from Quebec, the government is putting the festival touches to a short-term program French as a working language in the civil service.

A committee of deputy ministers is hammering out several measures to be announced in Parliament soon after the recess ends Sept. 28.

Artistic Poets Lead For Orleans

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kennedy Centre for