DDP Officials Arrive Here To Prepare For Festival

DDP national director Richard MacDonald has arrived here along with DDP performances of two-assisted Laurier Melanson and a secretary-representing the advisory board of the national body.

He has set up camp in the Charlottetown Hotel, and in tents to occupy the intervals until the Festival attendance details relating to its operation. Main task is the preparation for several meetings to be held Festival Week. There will be two executive meetings, the annual general meeting, and a meeting of the Governor's Court during that period.

For a number of years now Mr. MacDonald has been making the trip down from Ottawa. "I like Charlottetown very much," he said, adding that it was a great relief to get out of the heat of Ottawa into this refreshing coolness."

THEATRE DELIGHTFUL
Memorial Theatre is a delightful sight to the national director in reiterating the praise which most prominent theatre people have already given to the stage where will present the Festival's performers. Relatively small, very intimate, the auditorium of the theatre should enable actors to establish an easy rapport with the audience, the result should be good theatre, hopes Mr. MacDonald, who has already visited the newly completed structure.

"It is lovely to see house and accommodations so well," he said, commenting on the pre-Festival enthusiasm of ticket-buyers, who will be coming to the festival itself. 12 regional winners of best actor and actress awards will arrive in the city this week for stage presentation conference Saturday and Sunday. Their presence will constitute something of an experiment, according to the national director. They will act like "guinea pigs" to illustrate techniques which will be demonstrated by directors in what will constitute really a short theatre school.

Gales Damage Montreal Area
MONTREAL (CP)—Gale-force winds with gusts reaching more than 70 miles an hour caused considerable property damage in the greater Montreal area Saturday.

Firemen, police, Hydro Quebec and Bell Telephone Emergency crews worked for hours to control and repair damage caused by the winds.

Firemen experienced difficulty in raising their aerial ladders to fight a blaze which started at the roof of a three-storey apartment building in north-end Montreal.

The winds caused a ship to turn sideways in the St. Lawrence River near the St. Lambert sawmill causing blocking traffic in the direction until several logs arrived and set the ship back on course.

Soviet Bloc Trade Boost May Emerge From Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—A way to increase business with the Soviet bloc may be emerging from the world of trade talks that the late president Kennedy inspired.

Communist Poland has come up with a proposal that would warm welcome from the private enterprise countries, including the United States. It usually increases will depend on the negotiations.

The Polish proposal was presented only in outline form. The private-enterprise countries are waiting to see the full details and read all the fine print. U.S. officials are expected to meet with the Communist bloc in the near future.

The Polish proposal introduces an entirely new idea: introduction of lowering tariffs, which has little meaning in a state-trading Communist economy. Poland will guarantee to take fixed amounts of imports from the non-Communist world.

In return, the private enterprise countries would give Poland the full benefit of trade advantages they give to one another. This would include the Kennedy Round and whatever percentage is finally agreed on.

It would also eliminate many quotas set up by the Western countries to limit their imports from Poland.

As Polish exports grow in accordance with these advances, the Polish government would guarantee to take certain goods from the West.

Better Care Of Tonsils Urged By U.S. Visitors

"Don't forget you have only a bare inches of tonsil property; don't bring on a depression by losing it," Joseph Tucker, a U.S. visitor, urged here Saturday.

Mr. Tucker, who was here at the invitation of Minister of Agriculture Andrew MacRae to advise on a water conservation project, said there was too much valuable rain water running away in ditches.

He expressed amazement at the amount of erosion island farmers permit by the old fashioned method of plowing up and down hill instead of employing contour plowing.

A few weeks ago Hon. Mr. MacRae made a quick tour of various areas in the southern United States where conservation projects had resulted in organic matter and aids in keeping soil open to receive moisture.

He also disapproved of the straight up and down plowing and stated it was responsible for the loss of too much topsoil by providing natural erosion rills and ditches. Mr. Smith maintained the water supply should be controlled and better utilized.

Dr. West expert had five suggestions for improvement starting with proper subsoiling, contour plowing, and finally making grass waterways; construction of ponds with permanent spillways or permanent discharge outlets so as to avoid washouts and loss of dams; and prevention of soil erosion as it is expensive to repair and cost has to be kept down.
