

CHARLOTTETOWN Business College Writing Academy

Let these eight of practice illuminate the dark places of Theory. A THOROUGHLY Progressive Practical Institution, in which young men and women are not only taught Book-keeping (final its applications to commerce) both in single and double entry, but are trained how to do business, by actual business transactions. The students act as buyers, sellers, traders, bankers, book-keepers and accountants, in actual business operations, and the currency issued by the College Bank and the moneys issued from the Emporium, are used in bona fide business transactions, just the same as in mercantile and banking houses. Book-keeping in itself may be learned at home, but a knowledge of how to transact business, cannot be thus acquired. That our course system of training is eminently practical, is proved by testimonials from business men, and from students who are now holding lucrative and responsible positions.

SUBJECTS: Book-keeping by single and double entry (theoretical and practical). Actual Business Practice, Business Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Railroading, Steamboating, Banking, Banking, actual practice in the College Bank Typewriting, Shorthand and Navigation.

A STIRRING INTERVIEW.

The Adventure of a Yankee Lieutenant at Gibraltar in 1806.

Two noteworthy facts mark the battle of Lake Champlain and that of Lake Erie. They were the only squadron battles of the war of 1812, and the two victorious American commanders were very young. Perry was 28 and Macdonough 30.

When Macdonough was but 23 years of age, an adventure at Gibraltar, in 1806, described in Mr. Spears' "History of Our Navy," showed the character of the man. He was first lieutenant of the Yankee brig Siren, and one day while the captain was on shore at Gibraltar a Yankee merchantman came into the port and anchored near the Siren. A boat from a British frigate near by went directly to the merchantman and in a few minutes pulled away again, having one more man in it than when it left the frigate.

Macdonough noted the fact and sent Lieutenant Page to the merchantman, who returned with the information that the British had impressed one of the crew of the merchantman.

Macdonough ordered the Siren's gig away, manned with armed men, and getting into it himself overtook the British boat alongside of the frigate and took out of it by force the impressed seaman and carried him to the Siren.

Later the captain of the British man-of-war came on board the Siren and in a great rage demanded to know how Macdonough had "dared to take a man from one of his majesty's boats."

"I will," said he, "haul my ship alongside the Siren and take the man by force."

"I suppose," answered Macdonough, "your ship can sink the Siren, but as long as she can swim I shall keep the man."

"You are a very young man and very indiscreet," said the bully. "Suppose I had been in the boat. What would you have done?"

"I would have taken the man or lost my life," replied Macdonough. "What, sir, would you attempt to stop me if I were now to try to impress men from that brig?" thundered the captain.

"I would," answered the calm Macdonough, "and to convince yourself that I would you have only to make the attempt."

At that the British captain got into his boat, rowed away to his frigate and then turned and rowed toward the merchantman. Macdonough at once manned a boat with an armed crew and rowed out to protect the brig. The Englishman rowed around the merchantman without boarding her and then put back to his frigate. He had tried to impress the Yankee sailor not because he wished to add more to his crew, but to show his contempt for the little Yankee warship.—Youth's Companion.

Vanished Dream. Now there was the clatter of pursuing hoofs, and a moment later her father, pale with rage, burst upon them. "So," he hissed, "you have left my roof to fly with yonder adventurer." "Do your worst," answered Ethel calmly. "I forgive you," cried the old man, thus defied, and putting spurs to his horse he plunged away with a litter laugh. But Ethel was brave. Of course there wouldn't be any more fun in eloping now, but she would try nevertheless to be happy for Edwin's sake.—Detroit Journal.

Kahnis and Park. Professor Park of Andover figures rather amusingly in the reminiscences of the late Professor Schaff, just published. In 1842 Schaff (being a privat docent at Berlin) introduced Park to his German friends, and among the rest to Kahnis. He relates that, under the continuous pelting of Park's questions, Kahnis finally exclaimed in despair, "God forgive Christopher Columbus for discovering America!"—Argonaut.
