Prohibition in Canada.

(Toronto Mail.)

The Mail has determined to cast in its lot with the advocates of prohibition. A contemporary is pleased to hint that our conversion is probably due to the circumstance that prohibition is now the winning side—that, in fact, we are fair-weather pilots and nothing more. But it must be evident to everyone that a long and severe contest still lies between prohibition and victory. The successes it has achieved up to the present are at best only isolated and partial; the real struggle is yet to come; and we do not think, therefore, that the tried friends of the cause need suspect the bona fides of any new adherent who throws in his fortunes with them at this stage.

Many old friends have been kind enough to advise the Mail on this question, some saying that the failure of the Scott Act has forever discredited prohibition, and that in allying ourselves with a doomed movement we are simply committing felo de se; others again saying that prohibition is on its merits unsound and indefensible. Our answer to the latter contention is that whilst, judging it by the strict philosophic-interpretation of human rights, prohibition may have its defects, it is nevertheless the only instrument yet forged by the wit of man with which an effective blow can be dealt at a crying evil. If moral suasion could check drunkenness in an equal degree, we should prefer moral suasion; but the world has been trying that agency for a long time, and though it has saved many it is not an adequate remedy by itself. On the other hand, whilst no one pretends that prohibition removes drunkenness absolutely, no reasonable person can deny that it strikes directly at its very fount and origin, for it is plain that if there were no liquor there would be no abuse of it. If any opponent of prohibition can point us to a better temperance measure or to one so good we will gladly embrace it; but at present, as Mr. Gladstone would say, prohibition holds the field, and we intend to do what little we can for it—drumming up recruits, guarding the camp, keeping the weapons bright, and even carrying a banner in the fight if the leaders think fit to entrust us with one.

As to the failure of prohibition in the Scott Act, it is necessary to remind our anti-Scott Act friends that that measure was not sought by prohibitionists. It is a compromise, and, like most compromises, a weakening. Its failure, therefore, would be no argument against a general measure of prohibition. But has it failed? We are well aware that it has not stopped drinking outright—a miracle would be required to make men "cease to do evil"—but beyond question in those localities where an honest attempt has been made to enforce it, the Scott Act has greatly diminished drunkenness; and that is something well worth striving for. Prohibitionists, let us say again, do not swear by the Scott Act, they simply contend that by its way, is that nothing; and that, by the way, is a proposition which the liquor men themselves do not dispute, otherwise we should not find them opposing the Act. The real goal towards which prohibitionists are moving is the suppression of manufacture as well as of sale throughout the whole Dominion, which is a very different thing from a local option measure, beset wherever it is in operation by breweries, distilleries and taverns, and by the innumerable influences radiating from them. So vast and momentous a change is not to be accomplished in a hurry. Public opinion has to be moulded and hardened, and more than a majority of the people brought to the conviction that drink is a direct, downright and irredeemable curse which ought to be outlawed from among men. This is a formidable task, but we believe it is possible to complete it within five years, provided prohibitionists go straight for the mark and avoid the pitfalls which the politicians, Conservative and Reform alike, are sure to dig for them at the instance of the liquor party. But whether victory comes in five years or not for five and twenty, the Mail has sufficient faith in the truth and righteousness of the cause to enter the ranks as a full private and serve in that capacity to the end.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

ONE OF THE BEST TONICS.

Dr. A. Atkinson, Prof. Materia Medica and Dermatology, in College of Surgeons and Physicians, Baltimore, Md., says: "It makes a pleasant drink, and is one of our best tonics in the shape of phosphates in soluble form."

One of the most earnest prohibitionists of the day is Cardinal Manning. His Eminence regards the use of intoxicants as the national vice of Great Britain, and he calls upon the electorate to suppress the sale of liquors, which are the parents of so much vice and wretchedness. Cardinal Manning regards the Government which licenses liquor selling and derives a revenue from the business as a partner in it, and he thinks the trade can be only suppressed by dissolution of partnership.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little shrewdly awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. 1645 cod wlc

About six months ago, John Matheis, of Norwalk, Conn., cut off the index finger of his left hand with an axe, while chopping wood. As the wound began to heal he noticed that the stump was growing longer, until at last a new finger, with joints and nails complete, had replaced the one he had chopped off.

Eldon Notes.

Business is, on the whole, in a favorable condition here. Our merchants are buying in fall and winter stock.

We have the Rev. Mr. Blaett here at present and he is doing good work, stirring up the people to further zeal and earnestness in the cause of religion.

The Government certainly deserves credit for improvements on the public highways in this (Belfast) district. Several new bridges have been built. One at Newton is now being built.

The remarks of your correspondent "George," upon the graveyards, &c., in this locality caused quite a pleasant sensation. His letters are certainly a very popular feature in the ever-popular EXAMINER.

We are a temperance people out here with very few exceptions. Bethie lodge of Good Templars is doing worthy work.
Debates take place every fortnight. The members have also entertainments which are both pleasing and interesting.

Mr. Murdoch Anderson has his new "Leslie's patent revolving mill" almost ready for work. The furnace in which it is being built is nearly completed and the whole arrangement will be in motion in a few days. Well done! Eureka Mills.

The earnestness with which the Subway question has been taken up has attracted considerable attention here. Some are hoping that should continuous steam communication become an accomplished fact between this Island and the mainland the question of more branch railways to this and other important districts will be taken up.

Eels put a "stop short" on a Letfell which the other day. They made a raid in force—some dozen or two of them—and met with death; but they stopped the mill.
A fragment of an issue of the Patriot somehow or other got into their company. The date had vanished but part of the first page showed up, and it contained something on "Sea Serpents." Didn't know but the eel so labelled had come from that office, and was a serpent of smaller type. They were "hail fellow well met," at any rate. An eel is slippery; so is the Patriot. An eel wriggles when you grasp it firmly; so does the Patriot. An eel is frequently hard to digest, in fact, nauseous; so is the Patriot. An eel is fond of mud; the Patriot is often there. When an eel lies for a while it becomes foul and slimy; what can the date when it lies so often? Eels will stop a mill wheel in their senseless career, not understanding the use of machinery, the Patriot would do likewise, and blame the N. P. Eels are said to be unscrupulous in maintaining an existence so long as it can lie; just like the Patriot.
Eels are not a very popular article with the most of folks, neither is the Patriot.
Eels are generally speared and skinned when caught in the wrong box; so has the Patriot been many a time. The thing has often been often being skinned, but it is an alive affair, like a cat with eight of its nine lives gone.

Many of our people are deeply moved by the aspect of the temperance movement in Charlottetown. People seem at last to be coming to their senses. The Scott Act should be allowed to take its full course.
—$50 the first fine, $100 or more the second fine, and certain imprisonment the third offence. Breaches of this law have been too often made the first offence to the same individual. No mercy should be shown to the liquor traffic. It is a mean, contemptible business at best. Rumsellers are law-breakers; the most rabid of them must admit this, and why not mete out to them the punishment of the law, as well as to all other criminals. Better to have rum-sellers in the country clapped into jail and build new jails to hold them if the old ones are not sufficient. There is little mercy in their composition towards the poor and helpless, rendered so by their business. Better, far better, to pay taxes to support lazar houses in jail than to pay taxes for workhouses and asylums, or support hospitals; besides, these fellows could be set at breaking stones, which would be some return for their board and lodging, and furnish material for the macadamizing of our Island roads. The women among them could be set at sewing and such like to help to clothe the victims of their whiskey. Crush the traffic by placing its dealers in safe keeping, where some of the city's guardians should accompany them, and intemperance, poverty, crime and degradation would soon get out of the way.

To the Antiseptic Inhaler Co.

GENTLEMEN,—According to promise I write to inform you that your Inhaler has worked wonders in my case. I have only used it about two months and I find my difficulty entirely removed. I was troubled very much with a bronchial affection, accompanied with nasal catarrh which prevented me from singing a part of my profession. I tried various posturms without relief, until I heard of "Butcher's Antiseptic Inhaler" through a friend, who had proved its efficacy. I shall do all in my power to recommend a remedy which, to my own knowledge, has been so beneficial in every case coming under my observation.

Yours truly,
JOHN HOWARD,
Prof. of Music.
