

Governor-General Enjoys Driving His Train In Nfld.

By GERALD FREEMAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

GRAND FALLS, Nfld., (CP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey took the controls and highballed his special train 15 miles through the hinterland of the province Friday.

He seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

The train rattled along as though its driver was a long-time railway man. Mr. Massey kept the throttle open and the engineer had to throw on his brakes on a grade.

The shiny little locomotive is a coal burner and has ridden the narrow gauge tracks here since 1926.

Mr. Massey amazed the crew by blowing the right signals on the whistle at the right time. He has handled the controls of two other trains in his tours of Canada and picked up a bit of railway lore.

"One of those trains was a diesel and I'm a steam man," Mr. Massey smiled.

SAW BIG BOWATER MILL

He left Corner Brook Friday morning and arrived here late in the afternoon. Before leaving Corner Brook Mr. Massey's party toured the Bowater paper mill.

The governor-general first looked over a clanking jack-ladder which feeds logs to the mill then followed the path of wood from water to paper roll. A powerful press for bundling craft paper caught his eye and two brawny paper finishers adroitly demonstrated it.

The Bowater plant puts out about 950 tons of newsprint a day and 200 tons of paper. Banks of paper machines spew forth newsprint at a speed as high as 1,700 feet a minute.

The mill employs about 2,500 men in Corner Brook and thousands more in the woods.

TOWNS UNITE INTO CITY

The company has relinquished its paternal control of Corner Brook town which recently voted to amalgamate with adjacent communities to become a city.

The company has contributed several major improvements to the town such as a playing field.

Corner Brook, founded in 1925, is still expanding on the strength of its main industry, paper-making.

Mr. Massey was scheduled to leave Grand Falls by car for Bishop's Falls, 12 miles away, Saturday morning. There he will pick up his train and head for Botwood where he will join the frigate Buckingham for a cruise of the outports in northeastern Newfoundland.

FOOD PROCESSING PROJECTS—Premier Matheson said yesterday that the Paton Firm which had anticipated setting up a frozen food processing plant in the Province had temporarily, though not entirely abandoned such a move.

He said, however, that a couple of other large organizations were gathering data on the possibility of starting a frozen food business here and it was unlikely that one or both would make such a move before the year was out.

No products could be processed during the present year but they might be ready to handle the next year's crop. He could not say what was being contemplated in connection with the plant started at Sherwood but stated that it was not the Government's intention to come to the aid of this organization.

Evidence Reds Stirred Revolt In Morocco

CASABLANCA (Reuters)—There is evidence that part of the disorders in Morocco last weekend was Communist inspired, usually well informed French sources said here Friday.

Communists were believed to have been particularly active in the phosphate mining town of Knouira before the riots last Sunday which caused about $3,000,000 worth of damage to the installations and threw about 8,000 Moroccans out of work.

The phosphate mines, among the world's richest, are a major Moroccan industry.

A detailed investigation into the origins of the disorders has been ordered.

French officials are investigating the riot in the phosphate town shortly before disturbances broke out of an official of a Communist French metallurgical workers union.

The sabotage in the phosphate mines had been done up with considerable technical skill, suggesting it had been carried out by men employed there.

Dismantling Old North R. Bridge

The planking on the North River Bridge is being removed by workmen this week and according to Hon. G. J. MacKay, Minister of Public Works, the steel will be dismantled shortly to be stored for future use as the need arises.

North River Bridge was constructed 43 years ago and the four span steel structure replaced the fill and piling work which served traffic for many years previous to that time.

The bridge was not suitable for double traffic, and vehicles arriving at either end were required to wait for the oncoming traffic before crossing.

With the completion of the new causeway about six weeks ago vehicles have been prevented from crossing the bridge.

The wife hit the hay, grey-haired grandmother over the head with one of the husband's shoes, leading to some bandaging.

The husband, trousers in hand, ran out the back door of the Brooklyn rooming house where all three live.

The wife went to bed. She woke up two hours later and heard noises in the kitchen and three share. She peeked in—and there was her husband with the other woman again.

WIFE GOT SHINER

This time the husband punched his wife in the eye for butting in, and she got a shiner.

He was locked up on an assault charge.

That's the blow-by-blow account related by the wife, Mrs. Katherine Luther, before magistrate Anthony E. Maglio in a Brooklyn court Thursday.

The wife was charged with felonious assault for clouting the grandmother, Mrs. Florence Mavis. The grandmother was in court to press the charge.

"SHOULD MOVE AWAY"

The judge told Mrs. Luther: "I think you should move away from that place. You are faced with heavy competition. You have one beautiful shiner now. You wouldn't want another."

The wife protested: "But at least my husband should get a younger woman."

Through the kind co-operation of Brigadier G. G. K. Peake, officer commanding No. 2 Militia Group, the Drill Hall at the Charlottetown Armory has been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross for the second of this year's "centennial" blood donor clinics next Thursday, September 1st, when there will be a morning, afternoon and evening session. The objective for this one day stand at Charlottetown is at least 500 donors and all who possibly can do so, are urged to turn out in the morning or afternoon and leave the evening for those who find it difficult to attend at any other time. If this is done there should not be the congestion at the evening clinic as there was when the June clinics were held.

According to a statement made by Mr. F. A. S. Jones, manager of Simpson-Sears local store, who is heading up the arrangements for the Charlottetown clinic plenty of chairs will be available and the number system will be used in order to avoid "changing seats". This should considerably improve the situation. Members of the High School Red Cross will provide the assistants for the mobile team at the morning session, ladies of the Parkdale and Spring Park Women's Institutes for the afternoon hours and the Charlottetown Red Cross Corps the evening helpers.
