

Plan 10-Storey Addition To C.N.R. Hotel In Halifax

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian National Railways announced Wednesday that plans for the new 10-storey addition to the Nova Scotia Hotel in Halifax are in their final stage and tenders for the excavation and foundations of the new $4,000,000 project will soon be called.

The announcement, by Robert Sommerville, general manager of CNR hotels, said the new wing will blend as much as possible with the present structure. Total rooms will be increased to 320 from the present 165.

Maritimes asking that the industry on the Island support them in an effort to forestall a rumoured increase in tariff. They were able to stave off the impending increase at that time, the Minister reported.

The Fisheries Minister said the increased tariff could not be explained by over production since fish landings all along the Atlantic seaboard showed reduction during 1957.

RAPS GOVT POLICY

Mr. MacKinnon said there was no doubt about it that the Canadian Government's attitude toward the United States was the cause of the Government's change in policy. He quoted from an editorial in a leading American publication which would tend to substantiate his argument. The editorial among many other things noted that Mr. Diefenbaker unlike his predecessor would not even spend his holidays in the United States, while Mr. St. Laurent invariably took a vacation in Florida each winter.

Mr. MacKinnon said he could not understand how the Federal Minister of Fisheries, Hon. Angus MacLean could explain a statement he made on a TV broadcast to the effect that "two American senators were in his office a few days ago, wanting to buy more Canadian fish."

"If the Minister's statement is correct and he is convinced that everything is all right and we have nothing to worry about, then I must say that we have been made to look pretty silly from information we have received here," said Mr. MacKinnon.

He said Canada and the United States have been held up to the rest of the world as a glowing example of friendliness. "Is this going to be destroyed—is any election worth that?" he asked.

BOYANZA IN FISH

"We have a boyanza in our fishing grounds," said the Minister. "There are fishing vessels from Europe and the United States fishing just off our shores and there is no indication of a depletion in the supply. But we have a tremendous advantage over these fishermen—we can land our fish and have them processed within two or three days after they are caught while they have a voyage of a week or two before they reach port."

Speaking of Opposition criticism regarding the second plant at Souris which he indicated has been taken over by the Government, Mr. MacKinnon said, "If you are not going to take a chance or take a few losses before the thing gets on its feet, what is the good of it. Anyone can borrow money if the proposition is 100 per cent sure of succeeding."

NOT DISCOURAGED

Mr. MacKinnon said he was not deterred with the outcome of the Griffin plant at Souris and went on to picture the time in the not too distant future when there would be processing plants all along the coast of the Island from Tignish to Murray Harbour.

Dr. Dewar: "What about Alberton, right now?"

Mr. MacKinnon: "Alberton, does not have the harbour at the present time but I understand the Federal Government is taking some steps to improve matters there."

On questions from Leo Rossiter (P. C. Second Kings), Mr. MacKinnon said the Griffin plant at Souris would be operating this season.

Mr. MacKinnon said there was nothing to stop the fishing industry from becoming as great in importance as agriculture. "All that is needed is a little courage and some clear sound thinking," he said.

The second to 10th floors will be bedroom floors. A new ballroom will be built on the mezzanine floor to accommodate 600 for dining and 800 for meetings. The present ballroom will become a banquet and meeting room, enlarged to handle 430 for dining and about 630 for meetings.

MOVE KITCHEN

The main kitchen, now located in the basement, will be moved to the main floor adjacent to the new dining room, cafeteria and four private dining rooms.

One of the private salons will be built on the mezzanine floor and three on the main floor of the present building, with seating capacity varying from 40 to 200 persons. The present dining room and front office will be relocated.

New passenger and service elevators will be installed. An entrance direct to passenger elevators will be built from a new parking area at the rear of the hotel.

The present basement will be renovated to provide for shops and storage space and an automatic laundry.

large trade with Newfoundland but added, "You can't do your selling from an office over on Great George Street, you must travel to these places to do a right job."

He noted that New Brunswick had sent trade commissions to South America and other places. "Why can't we send someone to these places to try to increase our export market?" he asked.

Coming to the defence of Provincial Leader Shaw, the member from Second Kings said he could not understand why a Liberal member should speak in disparaging terms about a former civil servant. He recalled that several noted political leaders were former civil servants, among them Mr. Pearson, Mr. Pickersgill and the late MacFlezen King.

STARCH FACTORY

The need for a starch factory on the Island was emphasized by Mr. Rossiter. He said Federal assistance should be sought in the erection of such a plant in a central location so that farmers could get clear of a part of their rough crop or use it at a time when potato prices were low. He noted that such factories are in operation in New Brunswick and Maine.

Another point raised by Mr. Rossiter was the lack of storage facilities for potatoes. He said many farmers had to sacrifice their crop each year because of no storage.

As a solution to the problem, he suggested the building of side-hill potato storage houses. These, he said need not be too expensive. He urged the Government to give consideration to the guaranteeing of loans for the construction of such storage places.

GRAND JURY REPORT

Recalling the speech of the Health Minister, Mr. Rossiter said the Minister's remarks regarding the Grand Jury were "quite uncalled for". He said the Jury was only carrying out their duty in bringing in their report as they found things.

He made reference to the report of the standing committee on public buildings submitted during the last session of the House. He noted that a number of things were referred to as needing "immediate attention" and that the Jury's report was to a great extent, an endorsement of that report.

SECTIONMEN

Speaking of the reduction in staff among C.N.R. sectionmen, Mr. Rossiter said "the men were not laid off, they were merely transferred. He said a lengthening of the sections had occurred under the Liberal Government and a similar readjustment had to take place.

Mr. MacDonald: "It was not right then and it is not right now. I don't care what Government does it."

Mr. Rossiter said freight rates under Liberal Governments had gone up and up over the last 22 years but when the railways came to Diefenbaker and asked for an increase, "He said no, you're not going to get it."

Mr. MacDonald: "No, of course not—lay off some more men."

Speaking of the fish plant at Souris, Mr. Rossiter said he understood the Government had taken it over. He was of the understanding that Mr. Griffin and his son had all their assets tied up in the plant and "hoped that nothing detrimental would be done."

The plant, he said was locked up and fishermen could not get in to get their equipment and many of them were wondering if the draggers would be operating this coming season.

Turning to rural electricity the Second Kings member said the north shore of the Island had some splendid beaches in Kings County and felt that one reason why these beaches had not become the tourist resorts they should be was through lack of electricity. "If we could get electricity in these areas we would have attractions which would be on a par with any in the Province," he said.

sonnel engaged in the survey are based at the Summerside RCAF station.

After dealing with the various types of ice described as aged, young, new and winter and its density, Mr. Black said that the authorities at Halifax and Saint John, N. B. need have no fear from winter competition via the St. Lawrence Seaway as the cost of ships built to deal with gulf and river ice conditions would be prohibitive. Some of the observers on the patrol were experienced in Arctic ice survey work, which however had little or nothing in common with the Gulf and River conditions.

J. J. Mustard thanked the guest speaker.
