DR. HOOFLAND'S CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS,

Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON, No. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weaknesses and affections of the digestive organs, they are, withal, safe, certain and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The "Philadelphia Saturday Gazette," says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters.

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, but in the absence and patronage of our readers; and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, which make a little noise for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally approved, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

"Scott's Weekly," said, Aug. 25—

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty as an article of much efficiency in cases of female weakness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon a weak system."

MORE EVIDENCE.

J. G. Moore, Esq., of the Daily News said, October 2—

"DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—We are trying this renowned medicine for a stubborn disease of the bowels, and can with truth testify to its efficacy. We have taken the contents of two bottles, and we have derived more benefit from the experiment than we derived previously from years of allopathic treatment at the hands of our first physicians."

Hon. C. D. Hineline, Mayor of the City of Camden, N. J., says:

"HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—We have seen many Bitters in the course of this practice, and the source from which they came induced us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and must say we found it specific in its operation upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration, is really surprising. It calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them into a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.

If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stomach, liver and nervous system, the great majority of real and imaginary diseases emanate. Have them in a healthy condition and you can bid defiance to epidemics generally. We will say nothing more unless we would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial—it will recommend itself. It should, in fact, be in every family. No other medicine can produce evidences of the same merit."

For sale wholesale and retail at

THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,

No. 120 Arch street, next door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

In this mammon-worshipping Age, it is rare to find a man place his usefulness to the public, before his interest. During a late visit to the City of Spindles, we were presented by a professional friend, to the celebrated Chemist, Dr. J. C. AYER, whose name is now perhaps, more familiar to every other, at the bedside of sickness, in this country. Knowing the unprecedented popularity of his medicines, and the immense sale of them, we were surprised to find him a millionaire, and rolling in wealth. But no, we found him in his laboratory, busy with his laborers, among his crucibles, alembics, and retorts—giving his best personal care to the compounds, on the virtues o which, thousands hang for health. We learned, that notwithstanding his vast business, and its prompt returns in cash, for the articles he manufactures and signed is, that the material is costly, and he persists in making his preparations so expensively, that the nett profit is small.—American Farmer, Phil.

For Restoring Preserving and Beautifying the Hair.

THIS elegant preparation is an effectual remedy for Baldness, or falling off of the Hair It prevents and cures Dandruff, Eruptive Scurf and Dandruff, strengthens the Roots of the hair; causes it to grow luxuriantly; gives it a rich, dark, soft and glossy appearance, and prevents it turning gray. The Hungarian Balm is a purely Vegetable compound, scientifically and chemically combined, and is warranted to contain none of those deleterious ingredients which prove so injurious to the hair. It acts directly upon the skin, cleansing and purifying it from all unhealthy secretions, thereby removing and preventing the accumulation of scurf, dandruff, and other impurities, which so frequently cause premature decay and loss of the hair.

The Hungarian Balm is especially adapted to ladies' use; and those who have tried the various oleaginous mixtures, with no benefit, will at once discover the agreeable and beneficial effects produced by this pure and delicate preparation. Instead of matting and tangling the hair, (which is more or less pulled out in the process of combing,) it leaves it free and clean; promotes a natural moisture, and imparts a beautiful dark and glossy appearance. Try it at once and you will be convinced of its superiority over all other compounds for the hair.

Much more might be said in favor of this inestimable compound, but it is deemed unecessary. The proprietor feels confident that ONE TRIAL will convince the most incredulous of its rare and manifold virtues. Therefore,

If you have lost your hair and wish to restore it,
If you are losing your hair and wish to preserve it,
If you are troubled with Dandruff and wish to remove it,
If you have any humour of the Scalp and wish to cure it,
If you are troubled with Nervous Headache and wish to cure it,
If you have hair eaters at the roots of the hair and wish to destroy them,
If you have harsh dry and wiry hair, and wish if to become soft, pliable and beautiful as silk; and it you wish to produce rich, graceful and luxuriant tresses to the latest period of life, use PERRY'S HUNGARIAN BALM.

Price 2S and 5S cents, in large bottles.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE EARLY LIFE OF OUR BELOVED SOVEREIGN.

EDUCATION OF THE PRINCESS VICTORIA.

During the spring of the year 1830, her Royal Highness the Princess Victoria in reading English history with her governess, the Baroness Lehzen, in the presence of the Duchess of Kent, met with some point connected with the line of succession to the crown. The Princess had recourse to her genealogical table, the constant companion of her historical studies, and after considering it attentively for some time inquired of her governess, "Is the event of the death of the King, my uncle, who would be presumptive successor to the throne?".

The Baroness parried the question by the reply, "that the Duke of Clarence will succeed on the death of the present King."

"Yes," said the princess, "that I know; but who will succeed him?"

The governess, who saw the bearing of the inquiry, hesitated for a moment and then answered, "Princess, you have several uncles."

Her Royal Highness now became agitated; the color rose rapidly to her cheek, and she observed with much seriousness, "True, I have; but I perceive here," pointing to her table, "that my papa was next in age to my uncle Clarence; and it does appear to me, from what I have just been reading, that when he and the present King are both dead, I shall become Queen of England."

The Baroness silently looked towards the mother of the Princess, who, after a short pause, replied to the following effect:

"We are continually looking forward, my beloved child, in the hope that your dear aunt, the Duchess of Clarence, may present to the living children. Should it please heaven, however, that this be not the case, and that you are spared to the period, very distant I trust, which terminates the valuable lives of our revered Sovereign and the Duke of Clarence, you will, indeed, by the established laws of our country become their undoubted successor. Should this event, at present too remote and uncertain to engage our attention further than to stimulate our endeavors so to form your mind as to render you not unworthy of so high a destiny—should this event indeed occur, may you prove a blessing to your country, and an ornament to the throne you are called to fill."

CONDUCT OF EXALTATION.

At five o'clock in the morning of the 20th of June 1837, the Archbishop of Canterbury having attended the death-bed of the departed monarch, arrived at Kensington Palace to announce to his youthful successor, the melancholy intelligence of the Royal demise. His Grace was immediately admitted to an interview with the Queen and the Duchess of Kent, which lasted a considerable time, and was in the highest degree affecting. When the mournful event was communicated to Her Majesty by the Archbishop of Canterbury, with the announcement of her own accession to Royal dignity, she was overpowered for a few moments by the intensity of her feelings; but her first impulse was to seek for regained her composure, and worthy of a Christian Sovereign she had been taught to remember her Creator in the days of her youth, as the source from whence all power and greatness emanated. She entreated the Archbishop to unite with her in prayer to the Throne of Grace, that she might be strengthened from above, and rendered meet for the high duties that had devolved upon her.

After the departure of the Archbishop, the first act of the new Sovereign was to write an affectionate letter to her widowed aunt; and forgetting, in the sympathizing emotions of her warm heart, her newly-acquired dignity, she directed it to "Her Majesty the Queen."

On placing her letter in the hands of one of her household officers, it was respectfully represented to Her Majesty, that the Queen of yesterday was the Dowager of to-day, and that it would be more accordant with etiquette were the letter so addressed.

For one moment Her Majesty considered the proffered advice; but the next, the native delicacy of her mind predominated.

"I will not," said she, with a mild firmness of the brightest promise, "be the first to announce the change: I wish you to transmit it as it is."

REVERENCE FOR THE LORD'S DAY.

The following interesting incident, which occurred at the beginning of her reign, was a striking evidence of Her Majesty's reverence for the duties of the Sabbath.

The Lord Chancellor, Melbourne's Ministers arrived at Windsor late one Saturday night, and informed his youthful Sovereign that he had brought some papers of importance for her inspection; but as they came on the Lord's day, and as he knew it will not trouble your Majesty with them to-night, but request your attention to them to morrow morning."

"To-morrow morning!" repeated the Queen, "to-morrow morning is Sunday, my Lord!"

"But business of State, please your Majesty;"

"Must be attended to, I know," rejoined the Queen, "and as, of course, you would not come down earlier to-night, I will, if these papers are of such vital importance, attend to them after we come from church to-morrow morning."

To church went the Royal party, and also the noble statesman, and, much to his edification we hope, the sermon was on the duties of the Sabbath.

"How did your Lordship like the sermon?" asked the young Queen.

"Very much, your Majesty," replied he, with the best grace he could assume.

"I will endeavor to profit by you," said the Queen, "that last night I sent the clergymen the text from which he preached. I hope we shall all be better for it."

"The day passed without a single word on the subject of the papers, and at night, when the Queen was about to withdraw, she said:—

"To-morrow morning, my Lord, at any hour you please—as early as seven if you like—we will go into these papers."

His Lordship could not think of intruding at so early an hour on Her Majesty; "Nine would be quite time enough," he said.
