The Morning Guardian.

JUNE 23, 1892.

In a recent issue we published a letter from Professor Vroom, of King's College, Windsor, denying the statement made by the Rev. J. De Soyres, of St. John, N.B., to the effect that "Sadler's Church Doctrine—Bible Truth" is prescribed as a text book for the students of that college. It now appears that the Professor has written to Mr. De Soyres admitting that the book does appear in the list of works recommended to Theological students in the Calendar of King's College, though it is not used as a "text book." It is a pity that the Professor should endeavor to mislead the public by a quibble of this kind. That the book is of decidedly High Church character was abundantly proved by the Rev. De Soyres in the article from which we quoted, and the authorities of King's College, Windsor, should either remove it from the list of works "recommended" to their students, or they should have the manliness to acknowledge publicly their approval of its contents.

Another party of American journalists are about to visit parts of the Maritime Provinces, and are to be in Halifax about the 28th inst. Representatives of the New York Sun the Tribune, the Boston Globe, Herald, Post and Transcript, and other leading American papers will be in the party. They intend writing up Halifax and its surroundings for their respective papers, and, no doubt, the Haligonians will see that they get the best impressions possible. Would it not be a good idea for the City Council of Charlottetown to extend an invitation to the visitors? Prince Edward Island was never born to blush unseen; here is a chance to make her sweetness known.

The Montreal Witness says that under Blake's leadership the Irish movement would not be one of disintegration. His conspicuous loyalty and uncompromising Protestantism were known, we must believe, to the men who invited him to accept nomination for an Irish constituency. The fact of their doing so, indicates a desire to clear themselves both of the fact and the imputation of priestly control, and also to work out the regeneration of Ireland within constitutional limits, for only on such a basis, we believe could they exect the assistance of Mr. Blake.

In the Commons the other day, in reply to Mr. Fraser, Hon. Mr. Bowell said that the receipts of the Intercolonial offices at Montreal for the past five years were $113,613 and the expenses $21,989, leaving a balance of $91,634. The receipts at the Toronto offices were $8,292 and the expenses $15,692.

Montague News.

On Sunday, 19th inst, the members of Court Sylvan, No. 218, I. O. F., met in their court room, Montague, where they were joined by a number of the brethren from Court Greenwood, and at 6.30 p. m. they formed in procession and marched to the Presbyterian Church, where Rev. R. Opie, chaplain of the court, preached the anniversary sermon to a large and attentive audience, in which he set forth the moral, social and financial advantages of the society.

While the farmers of this section of the country are rejoicing and congratulating each other on the promise of abundant crops, the lobster packers are still complaining of their poor success, many of the largest factories having discharged all their help and closed down.

George Wightman, Esq., has a finely modelled brigantine nearly ready for launching. The Three Rivers S.S. Navigation Co. have nearly completed a large coal and freight shed on Gaul's wharf, and the public are beginning to appreciate the advantages of regular communication with Pictou and Charlottetown.

June 20, 1892.

Obituary.

Lower Montague sustains the loss of one of its most highly esteemed and industrious citizens in the death of William Meggat, which took place on June 1st, after four days' illness of inflammation of the lungs.

Mr. Meggat was born in Sauquhar, Dumfries Shire, Scotland, and was forty-six years of age at death. He was married to Christina, daughter of William Harvey, of Templandshaw, Auchinleck, Scotland. With their family of two daughters, Agnes and Mary, they came to this country in May, 1887. Having spent three years on St. Peter's Road, near Charlottetown, they settled in Lower Montague. Deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church of that place and was deservedly held in highest esteem by all in the community.

The members of the Farmers Association in the community have presented Mrs. Meggat with a kind letter of condolence in which they speak warmly of the deceased as an obliging neighbor and a consistent Christian. His loss as President of the Farmers Association is also feelingly referred to.

METHODIST DIVINES.

Rev. Henry Pope, D.D.

All the Methodists, within many miles of Charlottetown, of middle age, know and revere the minister whose name is above. For several years he was stationed in the Charlottetown, Pownal and Cornwall circuits, and in many a quiet farm house where the occupants are not supposed to be perplexed by high theological questions will be found one of the two volumes of sermons published by Dr. Pope. It is easy to see that the book is treasured quite as much because of the love borne to the author as to the book itself. "Living Truths" is a work in two volumes, which may well give a man an honorable place as an author. The volumes are logical, orderly and thorough statements of the grand verities that are generally received in all churches. Many of the old people are full of excitement at the remembrance of the occasion when they heard some of those very sermons delivered with all that fervor and correctness of intonation and gesture that distinguished Dr. Pope in the days of his pulpit power. Though some say that his style was slightly too ornate for these degenerate days, yet the preacher was very popular in the best sense of that word. His sermons were not always delivered within the orthodox limit of thirty-five minutes, but so much was he beloved as a preacher that his hearers say that his sermons were never too long; and this cannot be said of many sermons that do not exceed twenty minutes in their delivery.

As a pastor he was greatly beloved. The humblest of his parishioners could appreciate the kindly intentioned visits of a true Christian gentleman. He was equally at home in the homes of sorrow and of gladness. There was an unusual blending of dignity and affability. These qualities ensured him respect and also made the people feel perfectly at home in his company. Few ministers in Maritime Methodism have been more honored by his brethren than Dr. Pope. He occupied the chair of the late Eastern British American Conference and was in '74 elected first President of the N B and P E Island Conference. He was a delegate to the first Ecumenical Conference in London, and also a delegate to the general Conference of '74. He was also a representative to the Methodist Episcopal church in '72. In addition to these honorable positions which he filled with great distinction, he was chairman of District for several years. In '77 he received the title of D. D. from Mount Allison University. Everyone agrees that he adds as much honor to the title as it does to him.

Dr. Pope is a master of choice adjectives. Whoever heard him at a loss for an appropriate adjective? Though he uses them freely, yet not one is superfluous. Perhaps no minister in the conference can draw up a series of complimentary resolutions with equal felicity and appropriateness with him. As a debater he is fair to his opponents, and in his palmy days generally contrived to say as much as could be said in favor of his own side of the question. If he had possessed a little more fire, he would have been irresistible in debate. One of his finest efforts was the speech he delivered in '83 in St. Stephen, when he spoke on the subject of Methodist Union. He took no advantage of those holding opposite views, and was always courteous in his treatment of all.

Dr. Pope bears a name that has exercised controlling influence in P. E. Island affairs. And Methodism throughout the world holds the name in high respect. Dr. Pope of Didsbury a relative—the distinguished scholar, the (almost) mystic, the Christian minister, the Theological Professor has made the whole Christian world indebted to him by his numerous contributions to sanctified scholarship. Then the Rev. Henry Pope—father—who passed away within the last few years at an extreme age was widely known throughout the greater part of Canada as a minister who did efficient work for the church. Physicially Dr. Pope seems to have been made for a strong man. His physique indicates wonderful powers of endurance. But for the last sixteen years he has been incapacitated from regular work—although he has often supplied for months together, and has rendered valuable service on several important Committees. Mount Allison Institutions have in him a firm friend. In St. John, his Catholicity of spirit is acknowledged in all the churches. He is staying with Dr. Johnson his brother-in-law.

Death of Emmons Blaine.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Emmons Blaine, son of James G. Blaine, died to-day. He had been ill several days from blood poisoning which originated in a disorder of the bowels. Emmons was the second son of the Maine statesman and next to Walter, who died suddenly just after New Year, 1890, was his father's favorite child. In 1889, he married Miss McCormick daughter of the great manufacturer of agricultural implements, who is one of the wealthiest women in the west. He was a graduate of Harvard. Young Mr. Blaine was a notable figure in the exciting convention scenes at Minneapolis that resulted in his father's defeat. He took the result greatly to heart, and was confined to his room shortly after his return. It is thought possible that the strain an excitement at Minneapolis, followed by the keen disappointment of the outcome, had not a little to do with the physical prostration ensuing.

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES BUT OURS.—That is quite a common saying, and the rule holds good even to the newspapers advertising; for how many times have you commenced to read an apparently interesting local, only to find that it is a local advising you to use Everybody's Pills "the best family medicine."

Englands New Coins.

Within a month or two, says the Manchester Evening Mail, we may look out for our new coinage. The coins will have been stamped in the Mint and be ready for our pockets before the designs are made known; though why the public need be treated as a child which is not to be entrusted with a description of its new toy before the toy is ready for its enjoyment it is difficult to say, and can only be explained on the supposition that the cynical and captious might indulge in offensive criticism. The names of the successful competitors are not yet officially proclaimed, though, as we have previously stated, they are Brock and Poynter. It is to be hoped that the designs will be more successful and satisfying than the Jubilee ones.

The Telephone Co'y
OF
P.E. ISLAND.

PERSONS using the Telephone would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following Rules:

1st. Speak with your mouth about four inches from the transmitter.

2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud, and distinctly.

3rd. Place the Telephone so as to cover the Ear, just as if you wished to shut out all other sounds. Do not press too hard on the Ear.

It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter, if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, is entirely unnecessary, and is a useless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.
