The Democratic Platform.

THE Democratic Party in Convention at Chicago have adopted a platform on which they hope to march to victory. They recognize (or say they recognize) that as a nation grows older, new issues are born of time and progress, and old issues perish, but the fundamental principles of democracy remain and will ever remain, as the best and only security for the continuance of free Government.

at the International Exhibition of dairy products in Hamburg, Germany; in 1879 at London, England; in 1880 at Holbaek, Denmark; and at the Centennial, and everywhere they like to exhibit. The Danish and Swedish butter makers carry all before them. They cannot supply the demand in England, and as a result England had to take 4,817,302 lbs. of butter from the United States last year.

Editorial Notes.

—In moving the third reading of the Franchise Bill, Mr. Gladstone made a speech in which he gave the House of Lords some pretty broad hints to take care that they do not necessitate an encounter with the sovereign public of Great Britain; and quoted insignificantly the words of Shakespeare,—

Of entrance to a quarrel; but being in, Bear 't, that the opposed may beware of thee, as representing the cause of the present moderation of the Government, and their future policy, should a conflict be brought on by reason of the Lord's rejection of the Bill.

—The July report of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, shows that the general average condition of cotton to be 86, against 87 in June. The area in corn has increased two per cent; total area between 69,000,000 and 70,000,000 acres. The crop is generally healthy in color and growing rapidly; the average condition 96. The average condition of the spring wheat is 100 and of winter wheat 94. The crop of winter wheat is estimated at 350,000,000 bushels.

—A London correspondent of the Manchester Courier, writing on June 26, says that "last evening when the black-gowned speaker left the chair at six o'clock, a bevy of ladies began to play at Parliament on the floor of the House. One in white attire took the chair, and looked charming in it. The others either took the clerks' seats or stood at the table or sat on the Ministerial benches. Not one of them had a fancy to betake herself to the cold shade of Opposition until it was suggested that we require an opposition to carry out our system of government. The officials of the House seemed quite delighted with the pretty little comedy, and a few members still lingering about seemed to see in the incident a foretaste of times to come."

—The question of the inspection of herrings which threatened to cause some trouble in the commercial relations of the Dominion of Canada and the colony of Newfoundland has been settled. It will be remembered that the Dominion Government made inspection compulsory, and that this threatened to prevent the importation of Newfoundland herring direct. It is understood that a plan has been adopted whereby Canadian inspection will be rendered unnecessary under certain conditions, and will not be compulsory. A more efficient system of inspection will, it is believed, be established in Newfoundland. The fishing is now going on, but fish do not arrive in Canada before the middle of September, so that the question has been settled in ample time.

What Our Councillors Must Think. That pump-troughs turned end foremost must be "aesthetic" as well as convenient. That pumps without handles are an ornament to our streets.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR. Correction. SIR,—In hastily writing my letter this evening, I inadvertently used Emerson's name instead of Bradbury's as the composer of "Esther." Please correct before inserting—if possible—and oblige Yours truly, K.

Butter. PROFESSOR FAUKAU, an eminent French Scientist and Professor of Agriculture, states that the Danish and Swedish butters bring the highest prices in the British markets on account of their keeping qualities, and that it is even shipped to South America and the West Indies, where it is exposed to the greatest variations of temperature.

AN EXPENSIVE LAWYER.—A despatch from Ottawa to the St. John Sun says:—By cables here, I learn that Doutré has won his case before the Privy Council which sustained the award of $8,000 and costs made by the Supreme Court of Canada for his services before the Fishery Commission, and from which award the Government of Canada appealed. Messrs. Weatherbie of Halifax, Davies of P. E. Island, and S. R. Thomson's estate, St. John, will, doubtless have their claims settled now.

Since the Duke of Albany's death the establishment at Claremont has been greatly reduced, and economical reforms of every kind are said to have been introduced. It is probable that eventually the rooms recently vacated at Kensington Palace by the Duke and Duchess of Kent will become the residence of the Duchess of Albany.

Germany Behind the Scenes. The despatches during the last few days have given a variety of rumors, regarding the delicate position of affairs between France and China. Now, the San Francisco Call comes out with an article declaring that Germany is behind China in this trouble. It publishes a letter received through Tong King Sing, President of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company, which says: "A secret treaty was made in December, 1883, between Germany and China, whereby the former will support the latter in a war with France. In return, Germany is to exercise a sovereignty over the island of Formosa, and to construct naval and military stations at different points for the Chinese Government. China will refuse the payment of $250,000,000 indemnity to France." The Call also publishes a letter from Tao Tsung Tang, military grand secretary, dated Tien-Tain, May 19, 1884, to a wealthy and influential Chinaman of San Francisco, announcing the determination to combat the French, and ordering that a tax be levied upon all Chinese in that city, in Denver and New York, and elsewhere in the United States, for the purpose of providing funds for the Imperial treasury. For this object, $500,000 raised in this way was sent to China on July 1st by the steamer City of Tokio. A like amount will be forwarded by the next steamer.

A Broken Down Man. A prominent journalist, who has had interview with General Grant within a day or two, says he is surprised and pained to see how much he has altered since the exposure of Grant & Ward's rascally operations. He seems very old and completely broken down, and the journalist thinks that he cannot fully recover from the blow. Although Grant makes no reference to it, he is evidently distressed by the failure of the House of Representatives to take any action on the bill, passed by the Senate, to give him the full pay of general, and by the complete ignoring of his name at the late Chicago convention; for he doubtless regards those facts as evidences of a certain loss of esteem and sympathy on behalf of his party and the public generally. It is understood that his horses and most of his private property have been surrendered toward meeting the debts of his firm, and that he now has nothing but the $5,000 income from the $250,000 Toledo and Wash. bonds, purchased by the fund raised some years ago by his friends.

The cholera is spreading rapidly in Europe. Cases have occurred in South-Western Germany, on the south coast of Spain and at many points in Central France. In the early part of the century cholera travelled slowly in the wake of caravan and sailing-ships from the East along the march of armies. Now it travels by steam over railways and by the ocean lines and as rapidly as commercial communication will allow. Now the disease and its means of communication are better understood, however, and methods of dealing efficiently with it have been learned and are sternly carried out on the first appearance of the disease, so that though it travels quickly from place to place, it does not take hold so easily as formerly. The disease is now discovered and dealt with in individual cases, while still in this incipient stage and efficient remedies are now known. There is not likely, therefore, to be a panic in Europe or even any great cause for general alarm, as the disease is not likely to seize thousands at each place as formerly, and the ratio of mortality is not likely to be great.
