Leaves Monday

Continued from page 1 ed at the Canadian National Hotel in Winnipeg, following appointments to Minaki Lodge, Picou Lodge, Jasper Park Lodge and "The Beasboro" in Saskatoon. He entered the service of the Canadian National Hotel System in 1950.

Mr. Foster in possessing courtesy and affability to a high degree, has won for himself a host of friends in the travelling fraternity, among the summer vacation visitors, and Island residents generally with whom he is in constant contact. In the social and fraternal activities of the city he has identified himself wholeheartedly with the Rotary Club, the Golf Club, the Curling Club and St. Paul's Anglican Laymen's Association. He has been particularly active in the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, being provincial chairman of the organization for the past five years and general chairman of the last successful province-wide campaign for assistance to those who suffered the loss of sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster and their two sons, Craig and Tupper may look forward to a hearty welcome back to the Island on their annual vacation or at any time such a visit becomes possible.

Stresses Need For Early Care In Eye Ailments

"Of the twenty thousand Canadians who are handicapped by blindness at least two thousand would have retained their sight had they been treated in the early stages of their difficulty," said Mr. R. J. Hill, Maritime Supervisor, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, in addressing the Rotary Club at the weekly meeting held in the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

"Twenty-five hundred blind persons from a single cause, Trauma, has brought vividly before the people of Canada and elsewhere, the need of care and early treatment of this insidious eye trouble, which as a rule is progressive in its inroads on sight," Mr. Hill said.

A major objective of the C. N. I. B. is the distribution of literature to school associations, talks by various staff members and to create a sustained interest in groups of every kind in the possibilities of helping those who might otherwise become blind, or have already been called upon to lose their sight. Mr. Hill explained the voluntary nature of the C.N.I.B. and the need for support from those who realize the need of the great benefits which may be derived from their interest and generosity.

As a prelude to the timely and informative address by Mr. Hill, the moving picture "Hold Back the Night" was run off which showed vividly an arrested case of trauma and the happy issue out of a situation that would have otherwise been tragic. Rotarian Stan McInnis of the National Film Board presented the film.

The speaker was introduced by Col. K. S. Rogers, chairman of the Advisory Board of the C. N. I. B. and thanked for his thought-provoking address by Rotarian Fred Moore.

Rotarian Frederic Large, Q.C., was called upon to express the regret of the club at the impending departure to Newfoundland of Rotarian Gordon Foster, Manager of the Charlottetown Hotel, which was followed by a presentation to Mr. Foster by Rotarian Frank MacKenzie on behalf of the Fellowship Committee and the members generally. Judge Elliott Hudson of Halifax was the only guest.

Blind Helped To Be Effective In Society

"The Canadian National Institute for the Blind employs more blind people on its staff than any other agency in America, if not in the whole world," said Mr. Clarence MacGuigan, Chairman of the Provincial Campaign and member of the P. E. I. Advisory Board to the C.N.I.B. "It is not a government organization but it is recognized by the Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments and given financial support. The main bulk of the funds required by the Institute, is provided by the public through their generous support of our annual campaign."

"The guidance of the program of the Institute is in the hands of elected boards, none of whose members are employees of the Institute. Some of the members of the National Council are blind as it is the policy of the Institute to consult with men with the practical experience of blindness in the development of a program of social service for the blind of Canada. He is, as a matter of fact, one of the best known Canadian—Colonel E. A. Baker, O.B.E., M.C., Croix de Guerre. There are many other blind people employed by the Institute in executive positions. The guiding principle of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is that if a competent blind person is given some assistance and a measure of well-directed co-operation, he can take his place alongside his sighted fellows in many occupations and positions. In its 35 years experience, it has proved that the principle is sound. When it is considered that there are more than 20,000 blind people in Canada, the extent of the work undertaken by the Institute can be appreciated.

"To carry on its great task," concluded Mr. MacGuigan, "it needs funds, and this week the C.N.I.B. is asking the people of P.E.I. to subscribe $7,000.00 to ensure the carrying out of the program of services which has been approved by the P.E.I. Advisory Board for the current year."

Dr. McCoy, head of the group, described it as another step in the medical profession's answer to the need for a national health insurance scheme.

It is composed of Physicians' Services Incorporated, Maritime Medical Care Incorporated, Maritime Hospital Service Association, Quebec Hospital Service Association, Windsor Medical Services, Manitoba Medical Services, Saskatoon Medical Service Incorporated, Regina Group Medical Services, Medical Services (Alberta) Incorporated and Vancouver Medical Services Association. More than 2,000,000 Canadians are enrolled in the combined plans.

Flow of Tourists Here Continues During October

That Prince Edward Island is rapidly gaining a reputation for itself as a tourist resort for the late summer and fall seasons is apparent from the large number of visitors here this month.

In the famed Confederation Chamber there have been several hundred visitors during October. Of the 10 Canadian Provinces only one, Saskatchewan, was not represented by a name in the visitors' book. United States residents accounted for a large group of callers as they came from Texas, California, Michigan, Indiana, Maryland, New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut. They also came from several other States, but did not bother to register. The rest of the world was not ignored as visitors arrived from England, Germany and Alaska. Their occupations are as varied as their home towns. They ranged from Miss Canada to mechanics and included firemen, farmers, students, teachers, stenographers, salesmen, lawyers, ministers, artists, photographers, reporters and physiotherapists. It was the same story again all month at the Travel Bureau where large numbers also registered.
