

Gems of Thought.

Prayer is the voice of faith.—Horne.
She that is loved is safe.—Jeremy Taylor.
Too low they build who build beneath the stars.—Young.
Experience, that chill touchstone whose sad proof reduces all things from their hue.—Byron.

We should often have reason to be ashamed of our most brilliant actions if the world could see the motives from which they spring.—Roucheffoucauld.

Music is the art of the prophets, the only art that can calm the agitations of the soul; it is one of the most magnificent and delightful presents God has given us.—Luther.

Every man's experience of to-day is that he was a fool yesterday and the day before yesterday. To-morrow he will most likely be of exactly the same opinion.—Charles McKay.

Faith builds the dungeon and the lazarus-house it sublimes shrines; and up through roofs of stone, that shut out the eye of heaven, ascends the ladder where the angels glide to and fro.—prayer.—Bulwer Lytton.

The consciousness of being loved softens the keenest pang, even at the moment of parting, yea, even the eternal farewell is robbed of half its bitterness when uttered in accents that breathe love to the last sigh.—Addison.

"What is wanting," said Napoleon, one day, to Madame Campan, "in order that the youth of France be well educated?" "Good mothers," was the reply. The emperor was most forcibly struck with the answer. "Here," said he, "is a system in one word."—Abbott.

No language can express the power and beauty and heroism and majesty of a mother's love. It shrinks not where the man cowers, and grows stronger where man faints, and over the wastes of worldly fortune sends the radiance of its quenchless fidelity like a star in heaven.—Chappin.

Nature is sensitive, refining, elevating. How cunningly she hides every wrinkle of her inconceivable antiquity under roses and violets and morning dew! Every inch of the mountains is scarred by unimaginable convulsions, yet the new day is purple with the bloom of youth and love.—Emerson.

The little I have seen of the world teaches me to look upon the errors of others in sorrow—not in anger. When I take the history of one poor heart that has sinned and suffered, and represent to myself the struggles and temptations it has passed through, the brief pulsations of joy, the feverish inquietude of hope and fear, the pressure of want, the desertion of friends, I would fain leave the erring soul of my fellowman with Him from whose hand it came.—Longfellow.

When a pump is frequently used the water pours out at the first stroke, because it is high; but if the pump has not been used for a long time the water gets low, and when you want it you must pump a long while, and the water comes only after great efforts. It is so with prayer. If we are instant in prayer, every little circumstance awakens the disposition to pray, and desire and words are always ready; but if we neglect prayer it is difficult for us to pray, for the water in the well gets low.—Felix Neff.

Sensible Advice.

You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your Druggists to use something for your Dyspepsia and Liver complaint that you know nothing about, you get discouraged spending money with but little success. CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER.
The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more good in less than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered.
