The Irish Problem.

MICHAEL DAVITT'S OPINION—GLADSTONE GIVES WHAT HE WAS JAILED FOR ADVOCAT-ING—IF GLADSTONE'S BILL DOESN'T CARRY, THERE WILL BE A TREMENDOUS ROW IN IRELAND, AND AN AGITATION FOR IRISH SEPARATION.

A London despatch reports that a sensation has been caused by the sudden right-about-face of the Daily News, the ministerial organ, and the only London journal hitherto supporting Gladstone.

The News' editorial says this morning:—
"The state of Ireland during the past ten years has consisted of brutal murders, mutilating cattle, cowardly boycotting, and a general state of terrorism, in which society lived owing to the machination of secret associations, has aroused a feeling of deep indignation and disgust in the English mind. Beyond this is the conduct of the Irish members of the House of Commons. The nation has seen the traditions of its historical parliament traduced, authority defied, House of Commons turned into a bear garden, in the name of Home Rule. We can scarcely be expected to enthusiastically espouse a cause thus tainted. We are constrained to admit the conclusion that the country is not yet ripe for Home Rule." The interpretation of this charge, confirmed by several sentences about Friday's debate, is that the News has gone over to Chamberlain. What internal backstairs history has created the change is not yet known. But it is clear that the editor has completely been won over. This is likely to precipitate a second change of editorship in this journal.

The same correspondent writes:—I can personally vouch for the truth of the following highly significant fact. On the morning of the introduction of the bill, namely Thursday, the bill provided for the transference of the Irish constabulary to the Irish executive, but during the morning Gladstone received intimation from the Irish party that they would prefer this to be left to the imperial government for the present, so as not to increase their difficulties and create the risk of stirring up much bad blood. I have the very best authority for stating that Gladstone will introduce striking modifications of the points relative to the exclusion of the Irish members from Westminster, and the tribute that Ireland should pay.

Michael Davitt said yesterday:
"Irishmen generally approve of the first instalment of proposed Irish legislation, and I have no doubt will be reasonably satisfied with the second. As for myself, I object to the establishment of two chambers of Parliament in Dublin, and adhere to the theory of a single chamber.
Gladstone's scheme, or that part of it which he has presented, embodies many principles which I have advocated for years, and for advocating which I was sent to prison. I fancy the present franchise laws will be abolished as soon as the Irish people get firmly on a legislative stand. I agree with Gladstone that Irishmen should not sit in the Westminster parliament. The English betray a cowardly feeling by talking about disruption of the empire, through the concessions to the Irish. England has an immense army and powerful navy. Ireland has neither. Why, then, should Englishmen fear? Ireland wants only to be let alone and Irishmen should only wait the fate of this measure for their relief. If the bill is rejected, a tremendous row is certain, and Irishmen will then go in for nothing less than complete separation. I am not at liberty to speak about Chamberlain yet. If I open my mouth to express an opinion of him, I should not mince matters."

The Dublin Freeman's Journal says that the agitation of the Home Rule measure would result in an acute commercial crisis, and would provoke the unemployed of Dublin to commit excesses similar to those perpetrated during the recent riots in London.

Attorney General Russell taunted Churchill with infusing into his speech prejudice and passion. The English, he said, had tried to govern Ireland and failed. It was now time for Ireland to try to govern itself. (Cheers.) The speaker reminded the House that it had never been able to break the spirit of the Irish people. If the measure was not passed, if parliament refused it today, another parliament dare not refuse to pass it. When a just and practicable scheme like this was sanctioned by the Cabinet, when the assent of the Liberals only differed as to the means, when the Conservatives had no policy but repression, was it not the highest wisdom to pass the measure in a generous spirit?
If it were postponed till the military were used to enforce repression, it would still have to be done under conditions infinitely worse.

CURRENT NOTES.

A rumor is current in St Petersburg that the Czar and the Sultan of Turkey will meet some day next week on board of a vessel in the Black Sea.

In 1860 there were 357,838 "public houses" in France. Now there are 386, 185, or one establishment where drink is sold for every 97 inhabitants.

A French cynic says a French woman makes the best coffee for the salon, an English woman for hospitality, an American woman for pie, but a Creole for love.

Fred Gebhardt sailed for England a few days ago, and New York club gossip has it that he will bear the "Jersey Lily" back as his bride before the Newport season opens.

An interesting bust of Brutus, in white marble, from Rome has just been placed near the well known bust of Julius Caesar, in the Roman Gallery of the British Museum.

Benevolent old lady who has just given a penny to a small rustic—"Now, my dear, what do you say?" Small rustic, with native politeness—"Give me another." Collapse of old lady.

The Victorians have a very sharp way of dealing with the cheap labor difficulty.
No vessel is allowed to bring to port more than one John Chinaman for every hundred tons of its size. The law is enforced.

A novel case was tried in Boone, Iowa, recently. One man sold another a horse which he said was blind. On examination it turned out that the horse was not blind, and the purchaser sued to recover on the warranty, as he does not want a horse that can see.

The growth of the silk manufacturing industry in the United States may be judged from the large increase in importations of raw material. During the eight months ending February 28th, there was imported no less than 3,896,342 lbs of raw silk, valued at $15,206,882 against 2,443,178 lbs., valued at $8,821, 575 for the like period last year.

The Vienna newspapers are again devoting a great deal of space to recording the oddities of King Ludwig of Bavaria.
It is stated that when the Emperor of Austria was recently in Bavaria, King Ludwig took no notice of him, and that Prince Ludwig and King Leopold, the king's nephews, were compelled to assume all the responsibilities of entertaining the imperial visitors.

A few days ago 200 Italians assembled at the Canadian Pacific Railway depot in Winnipeg, to go to work on the road at $1.25 per day. Another body of men, who thought the wages not large enough, interfered and prevented the Italians from leaving. The strikers took possession of the cars and refused admission to the others. Clubs and stones were freely used and several were injured seriously.

The "Gladstone" is an English long coat which this spring takes the place of the ulster. It is a trim fitting wrap, simple in shape, without the usual boxpleatings in the back, and is double-breasted and fastened by a double row of good sized buttons which reach the entire length of the garment. The wrap has a graceful pointed hood in the back, which is lined with silk, matching, not contrasting, with the color of the coat itself.

A vigorous emigration from Europe to the Northwest is expected this year.
Reports on the prospect to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company are said to be encouraging. A long list of countries is given as likely to contribute to their surplus population; Wurtemberg, Weshphalia, Austria, Holland, Bavaria, Bohemia, and Hungary being mentioned. Several well-to-do English farmers are on the way. Already the insurrection, if not forgotten, has lost the terror which the fear of its renewal might have occasioned.

Last Wednesday the little state of Rhode Island took a new departure in prohibition. A popular vote was taken on an amendment to the constitution, providing that the manufacture and sale of liquor shall henceforth be unlawful in Rhode Island. Newport correspondence of the Boston Herald thus describes the result of the vote:—

The result of Wednesday's vote throughout the state, carrying the constitution amendment which forbids the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor has caused great commotion here, especially among summer hotel keepers. Many prominent liquor dealers are thus early arranging to meet the inevitable. One of the best known merchants has announced to his friends his determination to give up business in July, and four leading saloon dealers declare that they intend to close their saloons entirely, directly the law goes into effect, and will make an effort to evade the law, which will probably compel each city and town to enforce its provisions. The carrying of the prohibitory amendment has created an excitement not equalled for many years.
