

"Drops into Poetry."

Great emergencies bring out great minds. The necessities of the advertiser evolve the poet. This, for example, is from a tailor:

Oh? come into the garden, Maud, And sit beneath the rose, And see me prance around the beds, Dressed in my Sunday clothes.

Oh! come, and bring your uncles, Maud, You sisters and your aunts, And tell them Johnson made my coat, My waistcoat and my pants!

More substantial is the following, where-in the mingling of mackerel and emotion is really touching:

Oh! say not I love you because the molasses You purchased at Simpson's was golden and clear; The syrup, the sugar, the jelly in glasses, The crackers, the mackerel, I know were not dear.

But when you came to me with Simpson's smacked salmon, And showed me his samples of Limburger cheese, I felt that his claim to be cheap was not gammon;

I loved you, and said so, dear Jane, on my knees.

Is it Another Fraud?

We are constantly receiving inquiries from all parts of the country, asking, "Is this true?" "Will you do what you claim?" or "Is this another humbug?" We are not basing our claim for public patronage upon new and unestablished articles for which there is little or no positive evidence of value—but upon old standards of merit, one of which has been in use over eighty years, generation after generation of families in the last four score years have vouched for it.

Odds and Ends.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The most important thing in life Is what the neighbors say, The thing that stops or starts up strife Is what the neighbors say.

You know yourself how much you care For what the neighbors say, Sometimes the hardest thing to bear Is what the neighbors say.

You may pretend that you don't mind, But still you wince when they're unkind, The chief thing in this life, you'll find, Is what the neighbors say.

Epitaph for a photographer—Taken from life. Epitaph for an aeronaut—Gone up.

The man who is going down hill meets lots of people with their noses turned up.

A horse has the advantage over man in one thing, he's worth more after he's broken than he was before.

Acquaintance—"So you have determined to marry?" "Girl of the period (sadly)." "Yes; I see nothing else before me."

Check not good as currency.—Thirsty, but impetuous individual (confidentially to bartender)—Is my face good for a drink? Bartender (with emphatic candor)—No; 't would be much better for a wash.

"Waiter," said the smart young man, pushing his plate away from him, "you may bring me a glass of aqua pura to wind up with." The waiter, who had romped on Boston common in the gullest days of his boyhood, brought a glass of water to the smart young man and changed the figures on his check from 35 to 60.

"Articles not down on the bill of fare charged extra, sir," he said.
