WE are pleased to learn that the Charlottetown Woolen Factory has been obliged, owing to a rush of orders, to run day and night for some time past. This industry, it will be remembered, was established 1851, and has since grown rapidly under the fostering influences of the N. P. Every year improvements in the buildings and machinery have been made. Last year some $8,000 worth of improvements were effected, and this year, in addition to the building of a new warehouse and coal shed, the Company propose making the mills half as large again as at present. Should this idea be carried out, the mills will, we are informed, be the largest and best in the Lower Provinces. The manufactures of the Company are in great demand throughout Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, as well as on the Island, and as the wool season is now approaching a large increase in trade is anticipated. The Company altogether employs about fifty persons, and the weekly average of wages is in the neighborhood of $400. We wish the Company continued success.

WE regret to learn that Mr. Patrick Power, carpenter, of this city, and Mr. John Macdonald, of Tracadie, were seriously injured last Wednesday. Both are employed on the new Catholic Chapel at Corran Ban Bridge. Mr. Power was placing a window in position at a height of about twenty feet, and Mr. Macdonald was at work directly underneath him, a short distance from the ground. The ladder upon which Macdonald was standing slipped, and he fell heavily from it. In falling he came in contact with Mr. Macdonald, dislocating his shoulder and bruising his head. Both were carried to a house in the vicinity, Mr. Power being unconscious. Medical assistance was called in and everything possible was done to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunate men. Mr. Macdonald had his shoulder set, but we are sorry to hear that Mr. Power is still too ill to be removed to his home.

ON Saturday last a surgical operation was performed at the P. E. Island hospital on George DeCourcy, a well-known colored lad, about nineteen years of age. It appears that some three years ago, while at play with some other boys, DeCourcy's knee came in contact with an iron bar. The injuries received were severe and painful, but he did not pay much attention to them at the time. About eight months ago, however, the knee and surrounding parts became very much enlarged and painful. Medical aid was called in, and everything possible done to benefit the lad, but without avail. A short time ago DeCourcy was taken to the hospital where the knee was examined by the attending surgeons. It was then discovered that the bones were so much diseased that amputation of the leg was necessary, which was done at the knee joint. The patient is, we learn, progressing favorably since the operation.

ABOUT two o'clock Sunday morning a man named Gresham who keeps a small grocery store on the Lower Malpeque Road, was aroused from his slumbers by hearing a noise next door. He got up and opened the shop door and saw three or four men upon the road near Euston Street, and a woman standing a short distance down the road. He spoke to the woman and accused her of being the cause of bringing men about the neighborhood causing disturbances. She denied the charge and called the men back. Gresham becoming alarmed at the approach of the men shut and barred the door. The door was soon broken in and several of the men entered. Gresham seized a revolver which was lying on the shelf. The men grappled with him and soon secured the weapon, one of their number firing it over the head of Gresham. One of them held him while the other beat him about the head and face with the butt of the revolver. A young man was arrested Sunday forenoon as being the principal assailant. He was arraigned before the Stipendiary Magistrate this forenoon and remanded for eight days.

A Gay Adventurer.

ABOUT three months since there arrived on our hospitable shores a person representing himself as an ex-French Cavalry officer of wealthy parentage and distinguished connections. Society received him with open arms, and he was the "lion" of the day. Attentions were showered upon him, and in return he was prodigal in his hospitality. Many little eccentricities were looked upon as evidences of his "high breeding," whilst his reckless extravagance was but a sign of his unbounded wealth. The notice of our citizens was attracted by his many and elegant costumes, the elegance and number of the equipages he drove and the sang froid with which he lost (!) what to our people seemed immense sums of money, but to him were "trifles light as air." Hotels, livery stables, saddlers' stores, jewelry stores, clothiers, gent's outfitters and restaurants were taxed to the utmost for supplies deemed good enough to be in keeping with the style assumed, and all went merrily as a marriage bell—until Saturday last.

For some little time, however, reports have been in circulation that all was not right from a financial point of view and various and many were the conjectures made as to what the outcome would be. By a process peculiar to reports, the total amount of liabilities and assets were not only discovered but almost any one could give in detail the various items which went to make up each individual bill. A report that the ci-devant officer was negotiating for a passage in the steamer Clifton, which sailed for England on that day, aroused suspicion and a still hunt was begun for "spot cash," or its equivalent which culminated in the arrest and incarceration of the individual just as the shades of night began to fall—and the Olifton to get up steam. A concise account of the various creditors who presented themselves, and their claims would occupy more space than we care to give it; but a curious aggregation of queer facts was revealed. The one salient point brought out was that all the style had been kept up "on paper," and that some one other than our hero would have to pay the piper. A mad rush to "cover" shorts ensued, and hitherto indulgent creditors were glad to take whatever they could lay their hands upon in lieu of the cash. In this rush some were successful and some were not. More jewelry changed hands than has so done in Charlottetown for "many's the day"; while riderless saddles told their tale of woe. Clothiers were seized with a "tight fit," and bankers looked askance at anything in the shape of a cheque that was not gilt-edged. Curious stories of bogus telegrams concerning mythical remittances were afloat, and as the stories grew the claims grew, and are still growing. What the end may be no one at present can tell, but, while the matter is in abeyance, it will suffice to say that, having been consigned to the tender mercies of the Hotel-de-Harvie to avoid "leg bail," our hero remains there to ruminate on "what might have been," while his creditors take what solace they can from the saying "a bird in hand is worth two in a bush."

"Mary Ann, what were you sitting up last night reading? Was it a novel? Tell your mother." "Yes, it was a novel." "An' who writ it?" "Dumas the Elder." "Now, don't tell that. Who ever heard of an elder writin' a novel that you'd sit up half the night and read?"

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little shrub awakes as "bright as a button," and is very pleasant to taste. It softens the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "WINSLOW'S Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

ABSOLUTE PURITY.

THE following analyses (made by the Dominion Analyst) of three BAKING POWDERS sold in this market should put a stop to the unjust efforts of the Royal to mislead the public as to its being the only pure Powder. These impartial tests show that other Powders are as pure and wholesome as:

W. SAUNDERS, Dom. Analyst, St. John, N. B. reports: Royal—Contains Alkaline Carbonates—a mixture consisting mainly of Bi-Carbonate of Soda and Cream of Tartar—adulterated with about 20 per cent of Starch.

W. F. BEST, Dom. Analyst, St. John, N. B. reports: Pure Gold—Contains Cream of Tartar, Carbonate of Soda—(fresh and pure)—same as usual.

WOODILL'S (Nov. 19, 1882)—Not adulterated; same as usual.

MAYNARD BOWMAN, Dom. Analyst, Halifax, N. S. reports: Mr. McCoubrey has served a regular term in the United States and worked for five years in some of its principal cities, with sixteen years' experience, guarantees satisfaction or no pay—having now in his possession a Silver Pitcher, awarded to him for the Best Carriage Trimming, won at the Provincial Exhibition, held at Charlottetown in the year 1884.
