The Outlook for Sugar.

EXCITEMENT IN THE BOSTON MARKET—ADVANCE IN RAW—REFINED IN GOOD DEMAND.

(From the Boston Journal)

The past week has been rather an excited one in the sugar market and a decided advance has taken place in raw. The deliveries for refining have been very large, amounting to 31,558 tons for the week, and this exceeds any previous week for a long time. The improvement has been brought about by more favorable advances from Europe and the large consumption at home and abroad. Prices are also very low and any unfavorable news reducing the estimates of the beet root crop would lead to a decided improvement. The beet crop is now the great regulator, it has reached such immense proportions, and cane sugars have lost their controlling influence. At the close of the week, however, buyers have been disposed to hold back and are reluctant to pay the advance demanded. We quote fair and good refining at 5 1/2 to 5 1/4 cents, and holders are not free sellers at these figures. At this time last year prices ranged from 6 1/2 to 7 cents for fair and good refining, and 1882 prices ranged from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 cents per pound. The receipts at this port for the week have been quite small, only 774 tons, of which 697 tons were on refiners' account.

GRANULATED SUGARS

have been in good demand, but no advance has been established. The price is 6 1/2 cents per pound, and this is but a comparatively small advance on the prices of raw. At this time last year granulated sugars were selling at 8 1/2 cents per pound on present quotations, and in 1882 at this time the price was 9 1/2 cents per pound, an advance of nearly three cents per pound on current rates. These are refiners' prices, and in jobbing lots from grocers an advance of 1 to 1 1/2 cents per pound is obtained.

RECEIPTS, CONSUMPTION, STOCK.

The circular of Messrs. Willett, Hamlen & Co., says the stock in all hands is reduced 15,398 tons, and is now 111,493 tons under the highest point of 1884. The consumption is large, and it is now within 30,000 tons of the entire consumption of 1883. Receipts thus far are in excess of the entire year 1883; but judging by the much smaller exports from Brazil and Philippines now afloat, the receipts for the balance of this year will prove considerably less than last year, and probably our present excess of stock will gradually disappear. This excess is now 48,000 tons against 63,988 tons shown last week. The receipts at the four ports for the week have been 13,443 tons, and for the month of October to date are 67,099 tons less than for same time last year. Receipts since January 1, are 167,657 tons in excess of last year, or say 22 per cent. increase against 22 per cent. last week. If this increase remains at 167,657 tons at the end of this year, it will be 18 per cent. increase on the receipts of the year 1883 against 18 per cent. last week. Since October 1, the receipts at the four ports have been 12,282 tons from Cuba, 9171 tons from British and French West Indies, 95 tons from Brazil, 4063 tons from Europe, 53 tons from Peru, 3140 tons from West Indies; total 30,743 tons, of which 16,403 tons arrive to refiners and 14,340 to importers.

SALES FOR THE SAME TIME

47,646 tons, and total deliveries 64,040 tons, which includes receipts to refiners. Stocks have decreased 33,306 tons since October 1. Deliveries for the week have been 31,558 tons, and for the month of October to date are 3,639 tons more than last year. The net meltings since January 1st are 134,136 tons over last year, or say 18 per cent. increase against 15 per cent. last week. If this increase remains at 134,136 tons at the end of this year, it will be 15 per cent. increase on the consumption of the year 1883 against 12 per cent. last week. The meltings for the week were 28,841 tons. Importers' stocks are 45,898 tons over last year. Importers' and refiners' stocks together are 48,121 tons over last year, or say 54 per cent. increase against 72 per cent. last week. Refiners' stock in New York is 14,419 tons against 18,387 tons last year, and refiners' stock in Boston is 16,705 tons against 10,514 tons last year. Total stock in four ports in all hands is 137,019 tons, against 162,416 tons last week and 88,897 tons last year.

SUGAR CROP REPORTS.

Nothing important has transpired about the beet crop. At a meeting of beet growers, held last week at Berlin, it was decided to take no action toward forcing a reduction of the sowings for the next crop, but leave this to the voluntary action of the parties interested. The weather has been warm and favorable for an increase in the size of the Louisiana crop, but it interferes with grinding operations. Latest advices from Cuba say the crop will be good and large and probably early. The financial position is as bad as ever, but the necessities of planters will cause them to make all the sugar they can, and if the crop is fully made, it may reach 650,000 tons under more favorable circumstances. A treaty of commerce is said to have been signed between Spain and the United States, the contents of which is yet unknown, but it probably does not affect sugar, all changes in the tariff in United States having to originate with or be approved by our house of representatives, which is not in session until December. The purchase of Cuba by the United States would meet with much more favor here than a reciprocity treaty including sugar—the duty on imported sugar from Cuba being out of all proportion to the value of our exports thence.

Good Words for Canada.

Lord Dufferin, who was so popular as Governor-General of Canada, never loses an opportunity to say a good word for this country. As the reader already knows, Lord Dufferin since he left Canada has filled some important offices in the British foreign service, and has just been made Viscount of India, the highest gift at the disposal of the Government. Previous to his departure from Belfast to undertake his new duties, the distinguished gentleman was entertained at a banquet, over which Sir David Ray, the Mayor of the city, presided, and among the guests being many noblemen, members of Parliament and others from all parts of the country. In response to the toast in his honor, Lord Dufferin, after acknowledging the manner in which the toast had been received, and after referring to the many occasions upon which, during the last thirty years he had appeared before them only to receive fresh proofs of their good will and indignant sympathy, made a characteristic reference to Canada and his relations with the Canadian people. He said:

Least of all can I forget that memorable night when, on the eve of my departure for Canada, this splendid chamber was filled with friends who had assembled together to bid me God speed, and to assure me that, in the opinion of those who had known me best and longest, the honor then conferred upon me by Her Majesty was not considered misplaced or undeserved. (Cheers.) That occasion ushered in the brightest and happiest period of my life, a period passed in one of the fairest regions within the confines of the Empire, among a people animated by the most generous instincts, endowed with all the noblest gifts and qualities which distinguish the British race, and to whom I owe a debt of gratitude and affection whose welcome burden I shall carry to the grave. Since that auspicious celebration twelve years have passed, during which in different capacities I have done my best to render faithful and loyal service to my Queen and country (cheers), and now again that I am about to proceed to a distant land to undertake a task more arduous, more responsible, and, I may add, more honorable than any which has ever been imposed upon me, can it be wondered at if, like the hero of old who was invincible so long as he was in contact with his mother earth, I come back here among you to gather fresh strength and vigor, and renew my youth by once more looking around on your familiar faces, by listening to your genial words of welcome and encouragement, and by taking a farewell grasp of your thousand friendly hands. (Cheers.)

Such words as these, coming from such a high and disinterested source, cannot but have a beneficial effect as far as this country is concerned.

DOINGS OF THE FIRST FAMILIES IN THE CITY OF CONVENTIONS.

(From the Chicago News.)

The elopement of one of our most beautiful and accomplished damsels with a handsome young coachman of the West side is an event which may be expected shortly. Mr. Hans Schwilger, coachman to our esteemed fellow-townsmen Colonel James K. Mahey, was the cause of all eyes on the Boulevard last Saturday afternoon.

The engagement of Miss Virginia Drury, the beautiful young heiress, to Mr. John Hodges of Landau Brothers' livery stable is announced.

Miss Birdie LaGrange eloped with her father's coachman, Mr. Fritz Beiswanger, are spending their honeymoon at Adrian, Mich., where they will remain until the bride's father cools off.

The hack drivers' ball occurred last Wednesday evening. By the many leading society belles present it was pronounced the most successful event of the season.

A duel between the handsome young coachman, Mr. Patrick McGaffney, and Mr. Timothy O'Meara, driver of the popular gurney, No. 4,083, will occur to-morrow morning. The cause belli is said to be the affections of a fascinating young lady residing on Prairie avenue.

Many elaborate collations are to be seen on the coachmen that adorn the boulevards every afternoon.

At the Michigan Avenue Fair last Tuesday evening, the gold-headed cane for the most popular young man was voted to Mr. Teddy McBride, the dashing young hostler of the Commercial Hotel.

It is understood that the marriage of Miss Stephenie Von Blincom and Mr. Nels Nelson, Secretary of the Hackmen's Union, will occur in one of the suburban towns very soon. The bride-elect is having her trousseau secretly made at a retired seamstress, on Blue Island avenue.

The marriage of the youngest daughter of Hon. William Pickett-Jones, the well-known millionaire, to Mr. Thomas Flynn, driver of Killan & Carver's meat cart, has been indefinitely postponed, owing to the arrival of Mr. Flynn's wife from the East.

Professor Louis E. Packard, professor of Greek literature in Yale College, died yesterday at New Haven. He was born in Philadelphia in 1836, and graduated at Yale in 1856. He was made Hillhouse Professor of Greek literature in 1863 and filled the position acceptably. In 1870 he married Miss Harriet Moore Storrs, daughter of Rev. R. S. Storrs, of Brooklyn. He leaves one daughter. He had in conjunction with Professor Seymour, of Yale, and Professor White and Goodwin, of Harvard, compiled a series of Greek text books, which are left unfinished by his death. He went to Athens a year ago, as director of the American School of Classical colleges. There he was taken ill with a low fever and returned about a month ago, and had been failing gradually up to the time of his death.
