8th Siege Battery Holds Reunion At Summerside

The joys and hardships were recalled and the comradeship of bygone days was renewed as members of the 8th Siege Battery held their annual reunion and banquet at Howard's Restaurant in Summerside last evening.

A banquet, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, was the prelude to the organization's annual meeting which concluded with a sing-song of the melodies of World War I, and a rousing discussion of the events and experiences shared by the comrades during their days together as they travelled from Prince Edward Island to distant battlefields in Europe. Recalled also were the names of comrades of those days - some deceased, and others now scattered from many points distant from P.E.I.

Warm applause expressed the appreciation of those assembled for the interest indicated by many members of the 8th Siege Battery residing outside the Province who had written to the secretary expressing their reason and regret at not being able to be present at the reunion.

These letters were read by secretary J. J. Conolly, and were received with great interest by the comrades present.

During the banquet a toast to the 8th Siege Battery was proposed by R. L. Mollison of Summerside and responded to by E. A. Keeping, Murray, and other members of the 8th Siege Battery. Major would teach us each day, when as a matter of fact, we had received five times as good a course from Mr. Messervy in the Observers Class before this on the same subject. "Lieut. Messervy was Battery Commander and he handled the "Shoot" in a manner that would have done credit to a veteran Artillery Officer."

The officers referred to are the late Lieut. Col. A.G. Peake, Capt. Stanley Bagnall, recently retired Dean of Dalhousie Dental College, Lieut. H.A. Messervy, City Surveyor, Charlottetown, the late Lieut. H. Weston Peake, Lieut. Farquhar, Nova Scotia, and Lieut. A.B. Murphy formerly of Tignish, the writer, Sgt. Bonnell, is Rev. Dr. S.J. Burie, New York, now enjoying a vacation in his native Province as has been his custom for many summers.)

During the business period the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. J. Conolly, and financial statement showing a small surplus was presented.

The meeting was in unanimous agreement with a proposal to send copies of the Charlottetown Guardian containing a report of the Reunion to members of the 8th Siege Battery residing outside of the Province so members of the annual reunion.

A discussion was held in regard to the advisability of continuing to hold the reunion during the week of "Old Home Week" on P.E.I.

Dissatisfaction was expressed concerning the transportation problem to and from the Island during this week of congested traffic, and after discouraging experiences had been related in this resolution the annual meeting and banquet be held next year at a time other than Old Home Week, and at a date to be fixed by the executive.

A proposal was also endorsed that an advance notice of the next reunion would be sent out to individual members about February or March in the hope that it would offer sufficient time for those outside of P.E.I. to try and arrange to be present for the reunion.

It was also proposed that "follow-up" notices be forwarded at a later date.

A proposal for other units for an amalgamation of the associations was overwhelmingly rejected as it was felt that the 8th Siege Battery reunion should continue its

AT CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE - Three of screendom's all time greats, Alice Faye, Dana Andrews and L. Alice Faye, are top-lined in Twentieth Century-Fox's gripping encore hit, "Fallen Angel," at the Capitol Theatre.

Produced and directed by Otto Preminger, "Fallen Angel" had been acclaimed as a gripping drama of desire and murder, as powerful as the screen has ever shown. The story of the love of a woman for a man, a love over which hangs the terrible fascination of another woman's beauty, and haunted by the spectre of murder - is said to hit a new peak in sheer shock and suspense.

"Fallen Angel" marks Alice Faye's most important dramatic role. She had been previously noted for her performances in eight musical pictures and received accolades for her performance in "Fallen Angel."

Dana Andrews, who has a record list of hits to his credit, plunges headlong into this tense and gripping story of a man obsessed by the promising lips and taunting smile of a woman whom only murder can get out of his life forever.

Linda Darnell's role of Stella in "Fallen Angel" is said to be by far her most fascinating and important.

David Raskin is the author of the film's popular tune, "Slowly," which he wrote in collaboration with Kermit Goell. The screen play written by Harry Kleiner is based on the novel by Marty Holland.

A FINE RECORD

It is interesting to quote extracts from a letter received in Charlottetown in May 1917 in which reference is made to the magnificent "shoot" made by the 8th. Canadian Siege Battery "unsurpassed at the Lydd Range, England, since 1902".

Congratulations were extended to Mayor Peake, Capt. Bagnall, Lieuts. Messervy, Peake, Farquhar and Murphy and in fact the entire battery on their splendid shooting.

Sgt. Sydney Bonnell in a letter to a friend here said "It was amusing to us to see how dramatically the old "regular" Sergeant Major would teach us each day, when as a matter of fact, we had received five times as good a course from Mr. Messervy in the Observers Class before this on the same subject."

Dressed in the sari worn by people in the homeland of her parents, Anna Mahase, 22-year-old student at Mount Allison University is seen above while on holidays on Prince Edward Island.

Miss Mahase will complete her studies for her Bachelor of Science degree in biology next April and will be returning to her home in Trinidad, British West Indies, where she will be in charge of the science Laboratory at St. Augustine Girls High School.

Her parents, whose families belonged to the Brahmin Caste in India, moved to Trinidad from East India many years ago, and both, who are now retired, spent 43 years in the teaching profession in a Canadian mission school in Trinidad.

One of their sons is now a medical doctor in Trinidad, and another of their daughters is a pianist with the Birmingham Philharmonic Orchestra in England.

Miss Mahase, in photo above, received her preliminary education at a Canadian Mission school, the Naparima Girls High School, in Trinidad.

In 1953 she came to Mount Allison University in Sackville, New Brunswick, on a Scholarship awarded by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, and this vivacious girl from down near the equator was immediately popular with all her class mates.

In her first year she was a cheer leader and a candidate for campus queen. In her second year she was a member of the girls' field hockey team and the university tennis team, and won the University ping-pong singles award. She was elected to the Women's Administrative Council and the class of 1956 dance committee.

Her hobbies include photography, music and dancing. She is a member of the University Photography Club, plays both classes and jazz on the piano, and one of her favorite pastimes is dancing, particularly the current popular rumbas, sambas, mambo, and tango.

Her parents, who fled to Canada almost three years ago to complete her university studies, is looking forward to returning home where she can carry on the example of her parents in their work of service to the people of Trinidad. (Photo by Wotton)

DARTMOUTH, N. S. (CP)—A naval officer stationed at the nearby Shearwater air base has been sentenced to a five-day jail term for causing unnecessary suffering to cats.

Lieut. Frederick W. C. Stymest, who first refused to take the Bible tendered him and insisted on a new one, was released on bail pending an appeal.

He told Magistrate N. D. Murray Monday that he had thrown the stray cat off his cot in the watch house twice one day. He described it as a stray making a nuisance of itself and said he did not approve of the cat's morals.

Two ratings, G. Billis and N. Rowe, said the officer had picked up the cat and thrown it out of the door. Stymest said the cat got up and walked away both times.
