

Drafting Drama Festival Constitution

Mrs. Eddy Morrison, president, was in the chair for the meeting of the Executive of the Prince Edward Island Drama Festival Association which was held Friday, March 4, in the Council Chambers, City Hall, Charlottetown.

Mrs. Harold Laird and her committee have been working on a constitution and by-laws and have completed the work subject to minor revisions. The preparation of a constitution and by-laws is a considerable undertaking but it will be ready for presentation at the annual meeting in June.

A letter from Mr. H. Barry Bugden was read. This letter expressed the thanks of the P. E. I. Regional Festival Committee of which Mr. Bugden is chairman for the splendid job by the P. E. I. Drama Festival Association in organizing the sale of tickets for the recent regional festival.

P. E. I. Drama Festival Association has a larger membership than at any time in the past. Scholarships will again be made available this year, and an advertisement will appear in this paper in regard to making application for scholarships.

U.N. Israeli

man said Saturday night he had received unconfirmed reports the Israeli army was moving armored car units to points near the Gaza-Isreali border.

At UN headquarters in New York, UN sources said they expected Maj.-Gen. Burns, to report in person to the Security Council early this week on the Gaza clash.

In Damascus, a Syrian military spokesman announced his country had complained to the Syrian-Israeli mixed armistice commission that 200 Israeli soldiers had violated armistice rules Saturday by invading a demilitarized zone and firing on a Syrian outpost. No casualties were reported.

The Syrian complaint followed a similar one Saturday night by Jordan, another Arab neighbor of Israel, which said an Israeli armed patrol shot five kidnapped Arabs to death in a revenge slaying.

An Israeli army spokesman countered that an "immediate and thorough investigation" had established no Israeli army units were involved.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Smith Leave Today

Mr. Smith, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Charlottetown United Baptist Church during the past five months as Interim-Pastor, preached his farewell sermon last evening. Notably large congregations attended both services.

In the morning Mr. Smith took as his sermon topic "The Guest Chamber" and the choir under the direction of Mr. Royston F. Muggford, A.R.C.O., sang very effectively Maunders' "O Worship the King". The subject of his evening sermon was "Two Asounding Evils" while the choir gave a fine interpretation of "Sun of My Soul", by Turner. At the close of the morning worship service the ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed. Deacons G. Lewis and J. Lohnes offered the prayers of thanksgiving.

Following the mid-week prayer service on Wednesday evening upwards of one hundred members and friends gathered in the church hall to extend to Rev. and Mrs. Smith their best wishes and to express their appreciation of the fine Christian leadership they have shown during their stay.

Speculation of international disarmament. Said Attlee: "It's no good going to the Kremlin and thinking you can read them the sermon on the mount. You have to talk to them straight."

PAKISTANS BACK BEVAN — Bevan has not argued against building the bomb. His line has been that Britain should pledge not to use the bomb unless an enemy uses one against the British first.

BEVAN had the support of about one-fifth of the party strength in the House of Commons, including Ardent Pacifists. Emrys Hughes voiced the view of pacifist Labor members with this words: "I would prefer to see Russian communism in this country rather than see the country become a mass of radio active ruins. The great majority of the people would prefer any kind of system rather than suicide."

WASTEFUL DUPLICATION — In the wake of Churchill's disclosures there were good reasons to believe he is striving for close co-operation with the U. S. in developing nuclear weapons. Churchill is understood to hold the view that as matters now stand there is a wasteful duplication in the 20 Allies' defence programs. In the British view both programs might be speeded if U. S. laws prevents any exchange now.

The government refuses official comment but senior officials do not hide the British intention to press for a new understanding with Washington.

Eisenhower prospects results from the uncertainty concerning the position of some Democrats from southern states, usually staunch supporters of reciprocal trade and lower tariffs.

Then the southern states were primarily interested in agriculture and exports to foreign markets. This changed with the decision of northern industrialists to open factories in the south where wages and production costs are lower.

The economic shift created new textile industries and resultant heavy pressures upon the former-most produce, in 4 consecutive years 2,000 lbs. of fat. The Clark Farm also has a top producer in "Nedeeles Jester Evelyn" which was high senior two year old with a production of 9,600 lbs. of milk containing 668 lbs. of butterfat. Dr. G. R. McCall of Lachute, Quebec with his senior two year old "North River W. E. Maid" won a silver medal certificate with 8,094 lbs. of milk and 490 lbs. of fat. This cow is the daughter of "River North Maid II" which was bred by Mr. E. B. Mutch of North River and acquired by the Quebec doctor.

Personals

Mrs. Leo E. Carragher, Charlottetown, left Tuesday morning to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Croken, in Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. Carragher have been residing here since last fall, when Mr. Carragher was appointed foreman of the Canadian National Express. He was formerly with the C. N. E. in Ottawa.

hostess in the Parsonage, extending to each and every one genuine and wholesome hospitality at all times.

We will miss you very much but our parting is brightened by the thought that we will be separated only by a few short miles.

As you are about to leave our fair shores, we would like you to accept these scenes of our Green Isle to grace your walls as pleasant reminders of many fond and lasting friendships which you have made among the people of the Charlottetown Church.

"May you walk o'er life's path, with the Glory of God, Shining round you as days come and go; May the shrine of your heart with its gold without price— Keep a place for the friends that you know."

A close friend, Mr. J. A. Webster, also spoke in a complimentary manner of their jovial personalities and how much their friendly smiles will be missed in our church.

Delicious refreshments were served by members of the Auxiliary and the singing of "Blest Be The Tie" brought to a close a very pleasant and delightful evening.

Los Alamos Specifically, they went from 10 tons of TNT in the biggest conventional bomb of the Second World War to the equivalent of 200,000 tons in the early A-bomb.

The weapons are approaching—who will say?—a power of 20,000,000 tons of TNT. And there is more to come.

Instruments that boggle the imagination, not necessarily bombs, are in the making at Los Alamos. Nobody talks about them.

If you ask a scientist here to evaluate the race for great wealth with Russia, he tends quietly to express an opinion that the West is ahead, "and indeed well ahead," and then change the subject.

Los Alamos holds a surprise at every corner. In appearance it is a slightly bewildering combination of a college campus, a mountain resort, a military post and the chrome-bright suburb of any American city.

It has a handsome shopping centre, open movie theatres, a lodge, a beauty shop, a laundrette and even a curio store. Beyond on curving hillside streets, are the residential areas. Further beyond is the golf course and picnic grounds.

SINGLE FUNCTION — All this has a single function: to serve and support the laboratory. The town bears the same relation to "the lab" as everything on a battleship to the gunnery.

Los Alamos has only one industry—ideas. There are no farms or factories, no products loading on a railway spur.

Picture a community of nearly 13,000 people, geographically isolated in the New Mexico mountains, 30 miles from the nearest city, closed to all but relatives of personnel, or persons on official business.

Mission For Women Closes

The close of the married women's mission renewal of Holy Redeemer parish took place Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Rev. Robert McKenna, C.S.S.R. gave the announcements and Rev. Arthur J. Kelly, C.S.S.R. delivered the final sermon. He congratulated the married women for the splendid manifestation of their Catholic faith and encouraged them to remain faithful to their good resolutions.

Solemn Benediction followed the sermon. The celebrant was Very Rev. J. Gregory Murphy, C.S.S.R. The deacon was Rev. F. Coghlan, C.S.S.R. and the sub-deacon Rev. E. Doyle, C.S.S.R.

The mission for men of the parish opened at 7 p.m. The service was delivered by Rev. Robert McKenna, C.S.S.R. This mission renewal for the men will continue throughout the week.

Discipline Police

MONTREAL, (CP) — The police department's board of discipline Friday acquitted two and reprimanded four of the six constables suspended Monday on charges of accepting bribes and protection money.

Constables Andre Miron and Charlemagne Durand were exonerated of all charges and returned to regular duties.

Two others were cleared of the bribe charges but faced reduced charges of accepting "tips," were reprimanded and will be posted to other stations.

Earlier the city's executive committee accepted the resignations of police captains Sydney Letchford and Eugene Duchesne, also suspended following the investigation.

ILFRACOMBE, England (CP) — Butch, a six-year-old lion at the local zoo, attacked keeper Charles Trevisick and tore his coat off. Trevisick's only injury was a bruised nose which he hit on the floor. He said "Butch's temper must have been affected by the cold weather."

crime. The last death in traffic happened nearly two years ago.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Still, the town has problems special to itself. For example, this is all government property, so nobody can own his home. Not infrequently this causes people to leave. But the great majority who stay spend their money for lawns and gardens.

Here's another. A scientist pointed out: "A man in any other business can bring his problems home at night. He talks things over with his wife. She knows a good bit about his work, and what may be bothering him."

"Here, we can't do that." Probably not even a Los Alamos wife can listen intelligently while a nuclear physicist stew over his problems.

NO SHOP TALK — But even if she could, it's unlikely that he would bring them home. You quickly discover that people just don't "talk shop" outside the laboratory. You can eavesdrop assiduously in the town's one bar, coffee shops, or anywhere else, and never hear a word about the work. As a result, tensions may develop in families.

Does the special purpose of Los Alamos, its relation to war and potential disaster, create any unusual sense of insecurity in the children?

Police chief Ralph Kopansky said he saw no signs of it. "They are pretty much like kids anywhere... maybe a little higher I. Q. or more precocious because of their parents. It's hard to say."

Special Names Committee Has $7,000 Objective

Mr. Frank A. MacKenzie, chairman of the special names committee for the Charlottetown Red Cross campaign organization, stated last night that the 16 teams which comprise his committee have had an objective of $7,000 set for them. In order to collect this amount by the end of the present week, members of the teams were urged to impress upon those on whom they call the necessity for increasing their contributions if at all possible. This is in order to make up for the fact that the Red Cross campaign has not reached its objective in this province during the past few weeks, in spite of the increased costs of expanding services.

It was again pointed out that it cost $43,000 to maintain Red Cross services in this province during 1954 although only $25,000 was raised in last year's campaign. The additional funds had to be supplied to Prince Edward Island by the national headquarters of the Society. The 3,095 bottles of blood supplied the 1959 patients who received them saved these people in the vicinity of $80,000. This is the amount these transfusions would have cost had it been necessary for the recipients to pay for them at the rate of $25 per bottle, which is the average rate charged in hospitals in other places which do not have this Red Cross service. All other Red Cross services have expanded equally as much, and this is the reason that Prince Edward Island should increase their contributions.

Following are the members of the 16 teams which form the Special Names Committee for Charlottetown: Team 1 — Dr. Owen Curtis and Mr. George A. Walters; Team 2 — Mr. A. B. Belcher and Mr. J. A. MacIsaac; Team 3 — Mr. Frank Curtis and Mr. Alan Holman; Team 4 — Mr. Arthur H. Mould and Mr. William J. Brown; Team 5 — Mr. Ralph Jones and Mr. Allister MacLeod; Team 6 — Mr. A. W. Gaudet and Mr. E. C. Johnston; Team 7 — Mr. Frank J. Storey and Mr. M. Alban Farmer; Team 8.

Middle East Defence

LONDON (Reuters) — A new Middle East defence system, based on Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan, may be set up shortly with Britain playing a major part. Preliminary reports from Foreign Secretary Eden, now visiting the Middle East, indicate enthusiasm in Pakistan and Iraq for integration of their separate pacts with Turkey into a single defence program.

The Turkish government is known to be agreeable, and Britain hopes Iranian public opinion may enable the government of Gen. Faziollah Zehedi to join as well. Eden is conferring today with President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon, and members of the Lebanese government. He will visit Ankara later this month. Sources here say the Middle East defence plan would go ahead regardless of the attitude of such hostile Arab countries as Egypt, or uncommitted ones like Lebanon. But Britain would like to see all the Arab states associate with Western-sponsored defence planning, they add. The U. S. supports the scheme.

Offer Food To Albania

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower has offered food supplies to Albania to ease what he called the "current food shortage" in the Communist country. He made the offer Friday through the League of Red Cross Societies. The White House said the program would cost approximately $850,000 and would include wheat flour, corn, dry edible beans and vegetable oil.
