HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Fred MacRae has returned to her home in Charlottetown after an extended visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William MacRae in Montreal, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hamm, Hamilton, Ontario.

Mr. Tracey Sweeney, Brocton, Mass., was a recent visitor to Kinross, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Gillis and family.

Miss Florence Gillis, RN, returned by car to New Bedford, Mass., after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Gillis, Kinross. On her return trip she was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Gillis, Pinette, and the Misses Marie Russell and Margaret Hughes, Charlottetown, all of whom are spending their holidays with friends and relatives in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Joseph Rooney, Morell, returned home recently from a visit to Providence, R.I., where she was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Charles E. Dodge. En route home Mrs. Rooney spent some time visiting friends and relatives in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Donald A. MacIntyre, Boston, Mass., is spending a vacation in P.E.I. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rooney, Morell.

Colorful autumn flowers, leaves and fern formed a seasonal background for the annual Notre Dame Alumnae Tea held Saturday afternoon in the Academy auditorium.

The Reverend Sister St. Helen, Superior of the Academy, Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald, Alumnae president and Mrs. Matthew Lee, vice-president, graciously received the guests who were ushered to the prettily decorated tables by Mrs. Gerard Burge and Miss Millie Mullen.

The centre table was especially attractive with its hand embroidered Madeira linen cloth, a centerpiece of bright hued fall flowers, and silver candelabra with pink and yellow tapers.

The gleaming silver tea service were presided over by Mrs. Carl Green and Mrs. J.F. MacMillan for the first hour. Mrs. Mitchell MacDonald and Mrs. John Butler poured for the second hour. Misses Patsy Laurie, Ann Lawlor and Ann Connolly replenished, assisted by the ladies of the Alumnae who joined in the work of supervising.

College students, Carol Ann Blanchard, Catherine McGINN and Lauretta MacDonald, Mary Doran, and Jacqueline Christian attentively served the guests.

Mrs. Henry Blanchard was in charge of the candy booth.

Throughout the afternoon softly recorded music added much to the enjoyment of the guests.

ORWELL COVE W. I.

The ladies of Orwell Cove W.I. met for the October meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. MacLeod. The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory sum on hand, most of which came from the proceeds of the annual supper held in September.

The correspondence brought three "Thank You" notes, on encouraging report from the public health nurse, a letter concerning lone Scouts, and a paper from the convenor of U.N., all of which were read and attended to. Cod liver oil capsules which had been ordered were distributed.

The highlight of the evening came when the ladies received their Home Nursing Certificates. This course had been finished some time ago under the instruction of Mrs. Edison MacLean, R.N.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. F. E. Rooney. Roll call is to be answered by paying fees. Mrs. Walter MacLeod will provide the program.

Church Women Form Group To Help Protestant Bureau

A meeting of the newly formed Women's Auxiliary of the Protestant Family Service Bureau was held recently. A representative from each of the principal Protestant Churches was present and plans were made for work to be carried on during the coming season.

The new director Mr. Laws is scheduled to commence his duties the first of next month and the members of this auxiliary are ready and willing to help him in any way where help is needed.

The work of the bureau was explained in detail by Mrs. J. A. Lawson, a member of the board of directors.

The ladies looked over the quantities of used clothing on hand for distribution and a group from Zion Church agreed to help at the bureau every Tuesday and Friday afternoons in November.

This help is greatly appreciated for on those days the clothing room is open and Miss Stewart the office secretary cannot handle alone the work of selecting what is needed for the many families seeking clothing.

Plans for the street collection in the annual campaign for funds were discussed and a steering committee comprising the convenors of the different zones, was made up.

It was drawn to the attention of this committee the importance of stressing the need for larger contributions this year if the bureau is to carry on its work as it should. The bureau has a deficit of over $2,000. This must be cleared up and funds made available for both maintenance and relief.

The campaign slogan is "Free! Ye have received, Freely Give."

That I mind" she confessed, "It's that they must be done again and again - three times a day and more!" This we can appreciate, since we too have survived it and lived to enjoy life withal, is only a passing little-girl phase.

"Dump a paper - lowel, open the stove-cover and pick up a bit of the ashes," we advised her. "Ashes?" she exclaimed.

"Certainly - how else did your great-grandmothers keep their knives and forks and spoons, clean and shining? They used ashes too-or sand to scour their cooking pots."

"Oh dear!"

"As time passed, they went modern," we chuckled, "they used whiting to clean and polish the silver, but the everyday flannelware was cleaned at least every Saturday with ashes. And the nickel on first ranges was kept shining too with its use."

"Was there no Bon Ami?"

"Not in those days. You'll never know the thrill its first use here occasioned-away back in the years! Your great-grandmother (paternal had discovered how good this new cleanser was so she brought a cake with her on a visit here. It was truly magical. Not messy. And it had so many uses - a great help in cleaning our little panes in windows and cupboards, and the old mirrors."

"And now," she smiled, "there's spread on, wipe off, . . . but there, the ashes have cleaned the spoon see, it shines!"

"There's ice on the birdbath," Mack reported this morning, coming by checks red from his early excursion about. It was cold today, but now a wind of the south brings rain in its train.

This afternoon along the farm-lands, folks gathered their potatoes or harvested their roots, making haste now that the season threatens them with the bleak fall weather.

"I feel, Ellen," James says, come in now through the shower from the stables," as though I had no supper. How about a bite of something? . . . they say there's nothing better to bring on sleep than a cup of hot milk." He smiles. "There'd be no harm in trying it, would there?"

Until tomorrow - - -Diary-Good-night.

CORRECTION

The Book Fair to be held at the Queen Charlotte High School in November will be in charge of the QCIS Library committee, not the CPWU club as erroneously reported.

RACIAL TROUBLE

DERBY, Eng. (Reuters)—Two hundred workers at an iron foundry here, who went on strike to protest the hiring of a colored man, Friday agreed to return to work Monday, the management said. But Jack Wathall, foundry secretary for the union, denied that the men had agreed to return. "As far as the strikers are concerned we are still out and date has been fixed for a turn," he said.

Autumn Afternoon Wedding Solemnized At Bride's Home

The home of the bride was the setting for a pretty wedding on September 12th, at four o'clock, when Anna Phyllis Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hansen was united in marriage with Harley C. Ings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Ings, Mount Herbert, P. E. I.

Rev. A. F. MacLean performed the double ring ceremony.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with baskets of gladioli and fall flowers, forming a lovely background for the bridal party.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a street length gown of royal blue velvet. The fitted bodice had a scoop neck, three quarter sleeves and a full skirt. She wore matching shoes and small hat. Her nosegay was of red roses and her only jewellery was a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Ings, Montague, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, were their only attendants.

Mrs. Ings wore a red velvet gown with black accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a black sheath dress, featuring a large collar of white taffeta with black polka dots. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of red carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a coffee colored gown with teal blue hat, black gloves and purse. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception for over fifty guests was held following the wedding, at which the toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. A. F. MacLean and responded to by the groom. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, which was topped with a small vase of tiny fresh yellow and white flowers. Mrs. F. R. MacLaine,

Indian River W. I.

Mrs. Hilda Ramsay entertained the members of Indian River Institute for their regular monthly meeting. Seven members and one visitor were present. The president Mrs. Hilda Ramsay presided.

Roll call was answered by members donating books to the library for junior grade pupils.

A special meeting held by members of the institute and trustees of school to discuss plans for remodeling basement of school was discussed.

The treasurer reported $59.75 realized from a social evening held at the school, and after paying expenses of social evening, and repairs of school, there was a balance on hand of $146.10. A penny box realized $2.57.

School committee reported buying a bucket for the school and advised having a closet built for brooms.

Mrs. Hilda Ramsay and Mrs. Monica Gillis who were delegates to the T.B. meeting held in Charlottetown gave an interesting report of the meeting. Correspondence was read by secretary, Mrs. Rita Mann, namely, a thank you letter for the remittance of $36.65 for cancer campaign collected by members.

A paper on United Nations from united service committee, questionnaires on fire safety in the home and elsewhere, were distributed among members. Mrs. Monica Gillis entertained with piano selections. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. Lilian Hickey's.

ROLLO BAY C. W. I.

The members of the Rollo Bay parish council of the Catholic Women's League met in the side chapel of St. Alexis Church for their monthly meeting.

The corresponding secretary was asked to send a get-well card to a sick member and a treat was ordered for same member.

After the business meeting the guest speaker Rev. Sister Mary Henry of the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau was introduced by the president, Mrs. Edwin Peters.

Sister Henry gave an interesting and instructive talk on the various phases of social work.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mrs. A.J. MacDonald and presented by the president.

Granddaughter Learns Use Of Old Time Cleaning Agent

"Now, how will I clean this?" Granddaughter questioned holding up a stained spoon when she helped wash dishes this morning. "I see you're 'fresh out' of that cleaner. . . . She is a neat housekeeper, smart at dusting and tidying a room and apparently enjoys that chore. Ornaments are left at exact angles, books arranged nicely, bouquets brought in, cushions set primly on the couch. But when it comes to washing dishes, she must drive herself to the task.
