

Water Levels Reported Low

OTTAWA (CP)—Water levels dipped to record lows in June for the sixth straight month this year in Lake Huron and the fifth consecutive month in Montreal harbor.

The monthly water level bulletin issued Tuesday by the Canadian hydrographic service showed that levels increased fractionally from May in Lakes Superior, Huron and Ontario but that the levels in Lake Erie and Montreal harbor were below those of the previous month. The average June level for Lake Huron, measured at Goderich, Ont., was 575.91 feet, down from previous June's 576.89, the 10-year average of 577.80 and the former all-time low for the month of 576.13 in 1934. In May this year the average level was 575.35 feet. The average water level in Montreal harbor, measured at King Edward Pier, was 17.79 feet in June, down from 18.36 in May, the all-time record low of 17.01 in June 1963 and the 10-year average of 20.35.
