(Continued From Page 1) mature Cheddar cheese on the British market, we may assume that the production of cheese in this area will be at least equal to 1963 and possibly 10 to 12 million pounds higher. But production may be down possibly three percent or 10 to 12 million pounds.

Following the trend of butter production with which it is closely associated, we may expect a decline in the production of milk and cream in 1963 in excess of 10 percent. The president said, "that the total sale of margarine in Canada was in 1963 almost 10 percent in excess of surplus butter in storage and here are those who are enjoying the benefits of the surplus of margarine on Prince Edward Island. As I see it this would be to the benefit of the dairy farmer."

Mr. MacPherson earlier reported that the farm cash income received from the sale of milk and cream in 1963 is estimated to be $246,000, up slightly more than one per cent from a year ago.
