Premier Concerned Over Trend Away From Rugby

Premier J. Walter Jones expressed concern at the attempts being made in some quarters of the Maritime Provinces to replace the traditional English rugby game with Canadian football during a public ceremony yesterday afternoon at which the Provincial Government honored the Saint Dunstan's Maritime senior and inter-collegiate rugby champions. The members of the Saint Dunstan's team, their coaches A. J. McAdam and John Eldon Green were presented with suitable mementoes from the Provincial Division of Physical Fitness during the ceremony which took place in the Confederation Chambers. Speaking of the attempts in the Maritimes to replace rugby with Upper Canadian football Premier Jones stated "I have been following this trend for some time and I am somewhat concerned about it. "In my opinion this would be a very unwise development and would ultimately mean the ruination of football in the Maritimes," he continued. "The Canadian game is more expensive; it requires very expensive equipment and highly trained and expensive coaches." He added the smaller centers in the colleges and high schools in the Maritimes have not got the money to support the Upper Canadian game and that in no time the game of football would be played only in the large centers like Halifax. The Premier stated the efforts to bring Canadian football to the Maritimes is centered in Halifax. Premier Jones classified the Canadian game as a spectator sport which "smacked of professionalism." "Those who are attempting to bring it here are not thinking of the good of the Maritimes as a whole but only of one or two areas of concentrated populations which could support the game," he stated. Comparing the two games from his years as a stand-out player of both, the Premier stated "Rugby is by far the better game. It requires more of the players themselves and less of the coaches. The players must think quickly as the play develops on the field. There is no pattern of play prepared for them. Like no other game it develops a team spirit of good fellowship that will stay with the player and will affect his behavior all through his life." Premier Jones urged the players to support the English rugby game as the traditional game of the Maritimes and as the only game economically possible throughout the provinces. Mr. R. R. Bell, Leader of the Opposition, supported the Premier's stand on English rugby and urged that efforts be made to have it re-established in the High Schools of the Province. Clair Callaghan, captain of the Saint Dunstan's team thanked the Government officials and the Physical Fitness Department on behalf of his team-mates for the presentations. The members of the Maritime championship team are Clair Callaghan, co-captain; Phil Coyle, co-captain; Al Pendergast, Charlie Cheverie, Cy MacIsaac, Ronnie McEvoy, John Mullally, Pete Dunphy, Freddy Driscoll, Joe Mullally, Clarence MacDonald, Paul Jay, Lloyd Gaudet, Jack Reardon, Bob Mooney, and Aquinas Ryan.

Plan Tic Williams Night At Stellarton

Charlottetown born Tic Williams, whose goal scoring feats have become legendary throughout the Maritimes, is to be honored with a "Night" this evening between the second and third periods of an exhibition game at Stellarton Memorial Rink. For the past ten years the amazing Williams, who has become known as Mr. A. P. C. League, has burnt up the Nova Scotia Senior circuit with his goal scoring prowess. During that time he has played his trade for Pictou where he now lives and it is quite appropriate that Pictou fans have decided to honor him in such an outstanding manner. Complete figures of the number of goals Williams has scored throughout his hockey career are not available but a Williams admirer in Pictou has come up with the information that the "Ticker" has scored 438 times since he came into the A. P. C. circuit ten years ago. In that time Williams won the League scoring championship on six occasions, tied for the league leading honors once and finished with a second, third and a fourth. Whoever he has played Williams has left him behind him a legend of stories concerning his hockey ability. He played for a year with Timmins in the Northern Ontario League and they still talk about Williams in that area. Gus Gustavson, the Islanders big defenseman, was only a boy at the time but the scoring feats of Williams are still outstanding in the mind of big Gus who watched many of the N. O. H. A. games. In Halifax they still recall the night in 1940 that the Sydney Millionaires benched Williams during a Maritime Senior play-off game because he was scoring too many goals. Williams possibly holds the

In Cape Breton they remember the night that the Sydney Millionaires attempted to "net" Williams. It was 1941 and Tic was playing with North Sydney in the play-offs against the strongest Sydney team on record. All that Williams did was skate through the Sydney team from the face-off to score the opening goal. When the teams face-off again he repeated the performance. Tic broke into hockey fame with the Junior Abbies back in 1934. The Abbies won the Maritime Championship and the Eastern Canadian Championship before being defeated in the finals by the powerful Saint Michael's Junior. The Saint Mike's team of that year had numerous stars on its lineup many of whom went into the N. H. L. the following season. The Abbies won the Maritime title without too much difficulty and walloped the Quebec Junior Champions, the Mount Royal Cranes in a two games series here. In the final game the Abbies were victorious by an 8-1 score. One of the players on the Quebec team was Buddy O'Connor. The next year Tic along with a group of local players, played in Denver, Colorado where Williams proceeded to win the League scoring title. Professional scouts were hot on Williams trail and Tic was given the opportunity of turning pro with Kansas City but he declined the offer. The next year Tic split his time between Hershey and Baltimore of Eastern Amateur League and the following season he played with Reserve in Nova Scotia. Tic followed a year with Sydney and a season with North Sydney after which he played in the N. O. H. A. League. The next year he joined the A. P. C. League and has played with Pictou Maripacs since then. When he played in Sydney Tic was a team-mate of Johnny McCready who later went on to play with the Toronto Maple Leafs. One night on a radio show McCready was asked who was the greatest player he ever saw and the N.H.L. forward replied Williams. At the time McCready was a team-mate of Syl Apps, one of the finest play-makers in the history of the game. But it wasn't only in hockey that Williams excelled. Wednesday night "Had" MacInnis estimated that Tic had more natural athletic ability than any other athlete the Island ever produced and that takes in a lot of ground. Williams was outstanding in track and field events. He could do eleven feet in the pole vault and was a good one hundred yard man. For a number of years he was top point winner at the Caledonia Meets in Cape Breton. He was also a star baseball player. Hockey fans throughout the Maritimes will appreciate the efforts of the Pictou Maripacs hockey executive and the people of Pictou in honoring this great athlete with a "Night". They started with the objective of presenting Williams with an automobile and the cash along with numerous articles of clothing has been rolling into the members of the executive. The matter of contributions is being handled by Bobby Beaton, Harry Trainor and Nonnie Morgan of Pictou.
