Island Girl Is Victim Of Tragic Accident In Ont.

Tragedy greeted a Prince Edward Island father when he made a weekend visit to his family in Brantford, Ontario. Thomas E. Noonan of Albany, a crew member of the "M. V. Abegweit", now in drydock at Lauzon, Quebec, left last weekend to visit two of his daughters and a son living in Brantford, Mrs. Noonan was already in Brantford visiting with the family. On Saturday evening, Nooran, 24 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noonan was riding in an automobile when the door opened allowing the girl to fall to the pavement. A car following, ran over her body killing her almost instantly. The late Miss Noonan was well known in Charlottetown where she worked for over two years at Milton's Old Spain Restaurant. She later worked for a time at T. Eaton Company here. Surviving besides her father and mother are Eldon and Geraldine (Mrs. Walter Dorsey), Brantford, Ontario and Ambrose at home. Burial will take place in Brantford.

SYRIA DEMANDS PLEDGE

Old Water Dispute Arises To Plague Peace Mission

JERUSALEM AP) — The old Arab-Israeli dispute over waters of the Jordan river arose again Tuesday to plague Dag Hammarskjold's search for peace. The United Nations secretary-general cancelled plans to fly to Rome today and will return to Damascus for another round of talks with Syrian officials. Informed sources said he will make one more try for an unconditional cease-fire agreement between Israel and Syria, Jordan and Lebanon. Egypt and Israel already have agreed to a cease-fire along their frontier. But informed sources said Syria has demanded that any new accord include an Israeli pledge not to resume work on plans for diverting the Jordan waters for power and irrigation projects. REFUSE DEMAND

The sources said Israeli refused to accept the demand. The Israelis maintain the Jordan workings would be within Israeli territory and therefore have nothing to do with border questions. Israel and her Arab neighbors have been feuding over the Jordan waters for years. Syria and Jordan, backed by the other Arab nations, have said they would consider any attempt by Israel to carry out her projects as aggression against their rights and interests. The UN Security Council ordered Israel in 1954 to stop work on a diversion canal for a power project. Despite this setback, Hammarskjold was able to report a fresh success. The UN truce supervision organization announced both Israel and Egypt have approved the establishment of UN observation posts and mobile patrols on the troubled border around the Gaza strip. Officials said 20 or 30 more truce observers would be recruited to man the new installations. HELD AT AIRPORT plane in the service of Egypt was intercepted by Israeli planes Tuesday and forced to land at Lydda airport. An Israeli military spokesman said all aboard—five Dutchmen and an aerial photographer of the Egyptian air force—were held at that airport, some 10 miles south of Tel Aviv. He said planes of the Israeli air force had found the Dakota flying over a desert canyon named Mikhlat Haramon where Israel is prospecting for minerals. Israel was reported reliably to have complained to the UN Egypt-Israel mixed armistice commission that the incident was a violation of Israeli air space and of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

In Cairo, an Egyptian government spokesman claimed the plane was flying over Egyptian territory at the time it was intercepted. KIM headquarters in The Hague, Netherlands, said the plane was chartered by the Dutch Aero-karto Co., an aerial photography firm. WANT ISRAELI PLEDGE
A Syrian foreign ministry spokesman said Hammarskjold would arrive in Damascus today at Syria's request for a second round of talks directly concerning the Jordan water question. The Syrian spokesman said Israel must pledge not to divert the Jordan river in return for Syria's agreeing to a cease-fire.

Sees Women Bringing About Better Gov't

OTTAWA (CP)—The increasing interest of women voters in the provincial field will bring a "happy change" of government in most of the provinces, Mrs. C. J. Embree of Halifax, president of the National Federation of Liberal Women said Tuesday.

The change will come in provinces "where promises of paradise on earth have brought about exactly the opposite state of affairs," she said. The text of a speech was made available to the press. Mrs. Embree was scheduled to deliver the address to a closed session of the NFLW which began a three-day conference here Tuesday. Mrs. Embree did not indicate to which provincial government, or governments, she referred. Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island have Liberal governments and Manitoba has a Liberal-Progressive government. OFFER LEADERSHIP
"The national federation can only offer leadership and organization suggestions to those Liberal women who are determined to do a thorough housecleaning job in their own provinces," she said. Addressing nearly 600 delegates, Mrs. Embree noted greater opportunities to serve the "cause of liberalism." No party in Canada could hold power without the women voters' support, "since they form nearly half the electorate," she said.

More Evidence At N.S. Mental Hospital Probe

SYDNEY (CP)—A receptionist at the Cape Breton count mental hospital told the Potter royal commission Tuesday of seeing naked patient paraded before other patients and two tubercular patients confined to a single-strong room. Dorothy Quirk, a registered nurse, was on the witness stand for more than three hours. Her other charges said there were opposing factions on the hospital staff and lack of religious services for patients. Miss Quirk was one of the hospital employees who helped launch the investigation into the institution by talking about conditions to members of the joint expenditure board.

LACK OF SERVICES
She said there was too much "intrigue" at the hospital between the "old and new staffs" and Mrs. MacPherson, the matron, had a feeling of insecurity. She told of a conversation she had with Dr. G. B. Lynch, hospital physician, Dec. 4 when she criticized lack of religious services and lack of post-mortems of patients who died in hospital. She said she told the doctor there should be Catholic and Protestant chaplains in the hospital, but he said both religions knew of the situation and didn't do anything about it. "I told Dr. Lynch there shouldn't be a body removed from the hospital without being pronounced dead by a doctor. His comment was that they were not burying anybody alive." "I told him that at least he should have a nurse use a stethoscope to pronounce them dead. He said, 'What does any nurse know about the heart?'"

Hearing Delayed In Murder Case

BRIDGEWATER, N.S. (CP)—Preliminary hearing of a murder charge against 44-year-old Leroy James Llewellyn, charged with beating a farmer to death, has been postponed for a week. It now is scheduled to open May 9. Llewellyn is charged in connection with the death of William Cross, 76, of nearby Italy Cross. His beaten body was found in his farmhouse kitchen April 18. Mrs. Cross, 73, was also beaten, but is recovering in hospital. The preliminary hearing, originally scheduled for today was postponed due to the illness of magistrate Parker T. Hickey, now in a Halifax hospital with a severe attack of asthma.

Simonds Critical Of Jet Decision

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C. (CP) Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, a former chief of staff of the Canadian Army, Monday night criticized the defence department's decision to order a new super-sonic fighter plane, the CF-105. He termed it "money down the drain" and suggested Canada would be better off with British or United States jet bombers which can out-manoeuvre jet fighters. In an address to the Canadian Club, Gen. Simonds also said Canada can live up to her obligation to NATO only by instituting national selection for military training. Canada was the only NATO member without selective service. In aerial warfare, he said, the offensive strategy is in the ascent and no matter how many bombers are destroyed some will get through and the devastation will be enough to paralyze a country's heart. "There is no defence against 100-per-cent attack." Gen. Simonds said instead of concentrating on a super-sonic fighter Canada should have adopted jet bombers similar to the U. S. B-52. Referring to ground-to-air missiles and inter-continental rockets, which he said were only five years away, Gen. Simonds said the forecast time of flight of a "guided missile was 30 minutes from Russia or anywhere in Europe to anywhere in North America.

POPE PIUS MAKES PLEA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A religious note mingled with traditional parades, speeches and rioting in the observance Tuesday of May Day, a labor holiday in many nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain. The Pope urged "the whole world of labor" to turn to Christ. The Pontiff spoke before members of a lay organization, Italian Workmen of Catholic Action at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome in an observance of the liturgical feast of St. Joseph. He proclaimed the church holiday last year in a clear effort to strip May Day of violence and give it a more Christian direction. May Day, designated by the International Socialist Congress in 1889 as a workers' holiday, is celebrated with particular enthusiasm within the Communist sphere, in parts of Western Europe, Latin America and the Orient. aloof. They celebrate Labor Day the first Monday in September. BRIEF SHOW Moscow's military show was one of the briefest and least warlike veteran Western observers ever had seen in Red Square. Only some 5,000 troops turned out and no new military equipment was unveiled. The traditional fly-past experts called improved models of the MiG-17, first displayed in a Moscow air show last June. Of the traditional speeches, Soviet Defence Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov's was notably lacking in bellicose phrases. There was a routine blast at "reactionary and imperialist circles" continuing to follow the policy of the cold war," but Zhukov said peace and friendship were the Russian aims. Of the traditional rioting, France ran into trouble again with the Algerian national movement. Four thousand Algerians poured out of the native quarter of Algiers and clashed with French police in the city's European sector. Ten were injured in the fight. In Paris, 2,500 North Africans who tried to parade in protest against French policy in Algeria. RIVAL RALLIES

In Berlin rival rallies turned into propaganda barrages. West Berliners released more than 8,000 anti-Communist balloons in a rally at the city hall. Communist East Berliners showered the city hall area with pro-Communist leaflets launched by rockets. In the East sector the Reds paraded part of their National People's Army—successor to their militarized people's police—for the first time. Nearly 6,000 goose-stepping East German infantry took part.

Open Ancient Egyptian Coffin But No Mummy

HAWARA, Egypt (Reuters)—A 27-ton red granite sarcophagus, believed to be that of a pharaoh of Egypt 4,000 years ago, was opened Tuesday—but no mummy was found. It was discovered when a limestone block was removed from the burial chamber of the Hawara pyramid.

Ten sturdy Egyptian workers chanted the praises of Allah raised the cover by chain pulley in the presence of Egyptian Education Minister Kamal Eddine Hussein and senior officials of the department of antiquities. The coffin was filled with water, presumed to have seeped in from the nearby irrigation canal. When it was drained off, it revealed scraps of gold leaf, broken alabaster jars, offering tables and three small silver vases for cosmetics. There was no sign of the mummy of the Princess Hetepu, Ptolemy's daughter of the third pharaoh of the 12th dynasty, which the discoverers had hoped to find. The pyramid, built of mud bricks, is a ruin. It was located in 1936.
