

No Active RCAF Reserve Squadrons In The Maritimes

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(Special)—Through questions on the House of Commons order paper, J. Angus MacLean, Conservative member for Queen's, drew the attention from the Government that there are no active and equipped R.C.A.F. reserve squadrons in any of the four Maritime Provinces.

In distinction to this lack of R.C.A.F. active and equipped reserves in the east, there are six such squadrons in Ontario and Quebec, four in the British Columbia and two in the Atlantic Provinces.

In Ottawa recently, the F. C. A. F. purchased a handsome residence in the select Driveway area for an R.C.A.F. reserve squadron specializing in radar, paying upwards of $60,000 for the property.

Mr. MacLean hopes that by bringing to light the absence of active and equipped reserve air squadrons in the Maritimes, he may be instrumental in persuading Defence Minister Claxton to fill the obvious gap. He contends that value of such reserves in the east coast area would be at least as great as of similar units in other parts of the country.

MacLennan-Ivory Wedding

A quiet wedding was celebrated in Trinity Church yesterday afternoon when Wanda Ivory of Pownal became the bride of Vernon MacLennan of Alexandria. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Irwin.

Miss Sylvia Carver, half-sister of the bride was the bridesmaid. George Agnew of Charlottetown attended the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the Queen Hotel with about 50 relatives and friends in attendance. The toast to the happy couple was proposed by Mr. Benjamin Wood of Alexandria and responded to by the groom.

The newly married couple will leave for Toronto by plane on their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in Alexandria where the groom is a prosperous farmer. Before her marriage Mrs. MacLennan was the private secretary to the Manager of the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. MacLennan is a brother of Miss Mary MacLennan, noted Island markswoman, who represented Canada in the Elsiey Shoot in England last summer.

English Air Station Transferred To RCAF

Board Order Re One-Zone Rate Zone For Island

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Rutland, England, Nov. 15—(CP) — Some 1,200 acres of English countryside officially came under Canadian control today at a ceremony marking the transfer of the North Luffenham R.A.F. air station to the R.C.A.F.

As the Canadian ensign fluttered from a mast in the main hangar, Group Capt. R. A. Ramsay, R.A.F., handed over formal authority to Group Capt. Edward Hale of Hamilton, Ont., who will command the first R. C. A. F. base formed outside Canada since the war.

Guests at the ceremony included Dana L. Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, who inspected the R.C.A.F. guard of honor and watched a march past. He said the handing over of North Luffenham station "symbolizes the close co-operation" which has been long existing between the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.

Wilgress read a message from Lord De L'Isle and Duley, British Secretary of State for Air, referring to the new Canadian forces as a "powerful addition" to the air strength of the North Atlantic powers.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Ralph Cochrane, Britain's vice chief of air staff, said in a speech:

"The defence of these islands is vital to all of us, and it is with feelings of deep pleasure that we have watched the arrival of this wing, with its fine modern aircraft built in Canada."

A fly past by Canadian pilots in Sabre jet fighter planes scheduled to mark today's ceremony was cancelled when bad weather prevented the planes being flown from Glasgow, where they were landed yesterday from the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent.

North Luffenham will be headquarters of R.C.A.F. No. 1 fighter wing, which is expected to reach its full strength of three squadrons early in 1952. Members of the first squadron to reach here, No. 410 (Cougar) Squadron, arrived by train today from Glasgow.

NEW PROBLEMS Face Defence Plans In Europe

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.

Associated Press News Analyst

A multiplicity of problems now threaten the whole concept of the Allied defence plan for Western Europe.

The problems have been there all the time, or have been developing steadily. The appearance of crisis at the moment may be more apparent than real, since the countries now are tackling matters which have been laid aside for several months pending the elections. Because of this, the U. N. General Assembly began its meeting in Paris a month later than usual.

Creation by the United States Congress of a new mutual security set-up to supervise both the economic and military allotments of American financial aid brought a pause in this program.

Averell Harriman now is only beginning to clear up. Europeans have been blaming Americans for lack of decision which they hold partly responsible for gaps in the rearmament program.

These gaps, whatever their cause, have in turn handicapped General Eisenhower's program. More of his trouble, however, due to either the lack of European ability or willingness to strain their economies to the point necessary for carrying out the original mobilization program.

This is reported to have brought a decision that, instead of a long-range program for a big defence set-up, immediate concentration must be on equipment of smaller forces, so that something will be available soon rather than more a couple of years from now.

The greatest trouble, of course, is that France, Britain and all the countries are beginning to feel the crimp of a new financial crisis. American aid has brought their economies just barely to the point where they are on the verge of withstanding the slightest wind of adversity. The cost of the arms program is such a wind.

Amid these factors, the U. S. has sent a high level team to Europe in an effort to eliminate some of the chaos before the Atlantic Pact meeting in Rome starting Nov. 24.

Some observers have gone so far as to predict that the whole idea of a European army is a goner, with a return to the idea of an Allied rather than a unified operation. Certainly a trimming of sails seems to be in the making unless the United States can agree to shoulder more of the burden.

Salvation Army To Hold Reunion

November 23-24-25 promises to be an unusual week-end in the colorful history of the Charlottetown Salvation Army Corps. An energetic Committee is now preparing the agenda for a "Former Band Members' and Former Soldier's Week-end". Sr. Captain Les. Titcombe is anxious that none be overlooked in sharing this old-time re-union coupled with two generations.

Mrs. Hazel Carr, the secretary of the Home League, will pull the trigger of the starting gun when a 100 guests will sit down to a Corps supper to be followed by a variety program featuring the Charlottetown Corps Bands and in the years 1900, 1951 and 1950 respectively. Yugoslavia Complains Of Armies On Borders

By Francis W. Carpenter

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (A.P.) — Yugoslavia asked the United Nations to order off Russian satellite troops stationed along her borders and restore calm to the Balkans.

Edvard Kardelj, Yugoslav Foreign Minister, told the U. N. Assembly that Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria are keeping 25 divisions—almost half their total of 53 divisions—in frontier positions making his independent Communist country.

It became known as the general debate continued that secretary-general Trygve Lie planned to wind up the talk-fest with an appeal for representatives of France, Britain, the United States and Russia to meet during the assembly and seek an agreement. Lie may speak tomorrow or Saturday.

Kardelj said the Cominform neighbors are constantly strengthening their efforts on Yugoslavia's borders. The divisions have increased from 14 to 25 in two years, he said. He added that he was not counting Russian forces stationed in those countries.

Protestant Leaders Oppose New By-Law

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Protestant leaders in predominantly Catholic Montreal have rapped City Council's new by-law which forces retail stores to close on Roman Catholic holy days.

The by-law, approved last Friday, was termed a church-state link and an imposition of religious views.

The by-law applied mainly to department stores and similar retail outlets. Exempted are such establishments as drug, florist and tobacconist stores, soda fountains and places operated by news vendors. The exempted places normally are open Sunday also.

The holy days concerned are Epiphany, Ascension Day, All Saints' Day and the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, as well as Christmas and New Year's Day which are also Federal statutory holidays.

The by-law vote, 60-29, barely met the necessary two-thirds majority. Some Roman Catholic councillors voted against the measure and some Jewish councillors in favor of it.

Rev. J. S. McBride, moderator of the Montreal Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said in a statement that City Council had no business making such a ruling. He called the action a case of linking church and state although there is no state church in Canada.

Rev. Victor Rose, chairman of the Montreal Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, said the by-law is an "unwarranted imposition" of the religious views of a majority.

Discussion meetings already have been called by the executive of the United Church Presbytery, the Baptist Ministerial Association and the Presbyterian Presbytery.

Rev. Herbert A. MacDerm, minister of Kyd Memorial Church in suburban Rosemount, said: "It is really concern for holy days that is the basis of this action. City Council should be concerned about the day which all at least profess to regard as holy and should close all movie theatres, bowling alleys and that type of entertainment on Sunday."

Dr. J. A. Johnson, former vice-president of the Ontario and Quebec Baptist Convention, called the by-law an indication of religious dictatorship and said Protestants should get together to oppose it.

When the by-law was discussed by council copies of a letter from Magr. Paul-Emile Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, to Mayor Camille Houde were distributed.

The letter requested a "favorable decision" on the motion.

Yugoslavia Complains Of Armies On Borders

By Francis W. Carpenter

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (A.P.) — Yugoslavia asked the United Nations to order off Russian satellite troops stationed along her borders and restore calm to the Balkans.

Edvard Kardelj, Yugoslav Foreign Minister, told the U. N. Assembly that Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria are keeping 25 divisions—almost half their total of 53 divisions—in frontier positions making his independent Communist country.

It became known as the general debate continued that secretary-general Trygve Lie planned to wind up the talk-fest with an appeal for representatives of France, Britain, the United States and Russia to meet during the assembly and seek an agreement. Lie may speak tomorrow or Saturday.

Kardelj said the Cominform neighbors are constantly strengthening their efforts on Yugoslavia's borders. The divisions have increased from 14 to 25 in two years, he said. He added that he was not counting Russian forces stationed in those countries.

Protestant Leaders Oppose New By-Law

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Protestant leaders in predominantly Catholic Montreal have rapped City Council's new by-law which forces retail stores to close on Roman Catholic holy days.

The by-law, approved last Friday, was termed a church-state link and an imposition of religious views.

The by-law applied mainly to department stores and similar retail outlets. Exempted are such establishments as drug, florist and tobacconist stores, soda fountains and places operated by news vendors. The exempted places normally are open Sunday also.

The holy days concerned are Epiphany, Ascension Day, All Saints' Day and the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, as well as Christmas and New Year's Day which are also Federal statutory holidays.

The by-law vote, 60-29, barely met the necessary two-thirds majority. Some Roman Catholic councillors voted against the measure and some Jewish councillors in favor of it.

Rev. J. S. McBride, moderator of the Montreal Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said in a statement that City Council had no business making such a ruling. He called the action a case of linking church and state although there is no state church in Canada.

Rev. Victor Rose, chairman of the Montreal Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, said the by-law is an "unwarranted imposition" of the religious views of a majority.

Discussion meetings already have been called by the executive of the United Church Presbytery, the Baptist Ministerial Association and the Presbyterian Presbytery.

Rev. Herbert A. MacDerm, minister of Kyd Memorial Church in suburban Rosemount, said: "It is really concern for holy days that is the basis of this action. City Council should be concerned about the day which all at least profess to regard as holy and should close all movie theatres, bowling alleys and that type of entertainment on Sunday."

Dr. J. A. Johnson, former vice-president of the Ontario and Quebec Baptist Convention, called the by-law an indication of religious dictatorship and said Protestants should get together to oppose it.

When the by-law was discussed by council copies of a letter from Magr. Paul-Emile Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, to Mayor Camille Houde were distributed.

The letter requested a "favorable decision" on the motion.
