Engineers Hold Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada was held Monday evening at the Charlottetown Hotel with president Clive W. Currie in the chair.

The highlight of the meeting was a report by Stewart Veale on the annual meeting of the E.I.C. which was held in Quebec last week.

Plans were made for the annual picnic which is to be held at Keppoch the latter part of July.

Liberals

with this problem, what could?"

He also criticized the way in which the government provided an additional $25,000,000 a year to the four Atlantic provinces in adjustment grants.

They had not been bas on any principle that could be applied to all provinces.

"In other words, they were a handout. Certainly a better way could have been devised . . . there should be no special deals that will not apply to all provinces who qualify for extra help."

Mr. Fleming replied that the interim one-year increase to the provinces in tax-sharing had been made last winter because the provinces then were preparing their annual budgets and had asked for an immediate federal decision.

As for equalization payments to the less-wealthy provinces, Mr. Fleming said, the government had carried the equalization principle of the former Liberal government farther than ever before.

NONE SATISFIED

Not a single provincial government — even the three Liberal ones—had been satisifed with the tax-sharing plan of the former federal Liberal government.

The Conservative government was not waiting for a conference to deal with unemployment. It had launched a program of public works and resources development to provide jobs.

Mr. Fleming said he was surprised that Mr. Pearson mentioned the Atlantic adjustment grants. The Liberals had vigorously opposed the principle that the Atlantic area was entitled to recognition of its special needs.

Mr. Martin challenged the government to state which works projects have been started, and how many jobs they provided.

It was "one of the biggest mysteries of political life" that the Commons could get no indication of when a conference with the provinces might be reconvened.

Was it because of "serious differences" on policy between Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fleming? Was it because Premier Frost intended to ask for another $78,000,000 or because Quebec's Premier Duplessis would make demands that the government knew couldn't be accepted?

"I don't say these are the reasons," Mr. Martin said. But in the light of the prime minister's stubborn refusal to say when the conference would be held, such an argument was neither exaggerated nor unfair.

LONE SUPPORTER

Among government members only the prime minister had said he supported the principle of equalization payments to the provinces. Mr. Fleming's statement Monday was more in harmony with those of Mr. Frost and Mr. Duplessis than with the prime minister.

The government still could not escape the fact that in last year's election campaign it had promised to call a conference and settle finally the question of federal-provincial fiscal relations.

That still has not been done, Mr. Martin said. The provinces simply had been given a take-it-or-leave-it proposition in January with no chance to discuss it at a conference.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, supported Mr. Pearson's non-confidence motion.

He said the delay in calling a conference violates a "clear, definite" promise made by Conservatives in election campaigns this year and last.

Unemployment was of the greatest urgency. He estimated that between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in "real wealth" had been lost since unemployment became serious last year.

A conference could also discuss the problem of low farm income, and the need for federal aid to provincial road construction.

Edmund Morris (PC—Halifax) said the Liberal party was trying to "erode" the progress made by Atlantic provinces since the 1957 election. The Liberals were exploiting each small sign of trouble there, including unemployment.

Belgian Gov't Defeated In General Vote

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Belgium's next government is likely to be headed by one of two Catholic leaders, both former post-war premiers, following the surprise rebuff in Sunday's general election of the previous Liberal - Socialist coalition government.

Favored candidates for the post of premier are Gaston Eyskens, 53, former finance minister and premier briefly in 1949, and Jean van Houtte, 51, premier from 1952 until the Liberal - socialist victory in the 1954 election.

Sunday's election marked a general shift to the Catholic right. There was a slight Socialist setback, a defeat for the Liberals and a collapse of the Communists.

The Catholics—the Social Christian party—emerged as the biggest single party in the 212-seat House of Representatives with 104 seats, compared with 96 in the last House.

SOCIALISTS WEAKER

Socialist strength dropped by two seats to 83 and their Liberal coalition partners slumped by four to 20. Two candidates running as Liberal - Socialists were returned, giving the coalition 105 seats, compared to 111 in the last House.

Two of the four Communist representatives lost their seats and one Flemish People's Party candidate was returned.

The Socialist - Liberal coalition also lost control of the Senate. Of the 106 directly elected senators, 54 are Catholics, 51 Socialist-Liberals and one a Communist.

The 69 other senate seats are filled with 49 appointments by the provincial councils — voted into office on Sunday—and 23 by the senators themselves. The Catholics were assured of a senate majority.

But the Catholic gains still failed to give them complete control of the key lower House, where they are three seats short of a majority.

POWER DEADLOCK

The result produced a virtual deadlock with Premier Achille van Acker's 105 - seat coalition, leaving the country's future administration uncertain.

The future of Belgian foreign policy under a Catholic administration was the chief topic of conversation Monday in diplomatic circles. Since the war, regardless of the party in power, Belgium has been the spearhead of the movement toward a united Europe.

Politicians from Belgium have played a leading role in the creation of the Benelux Economic Union, the five - nation Brussels Treaty which grew into the Council of Europe, Western European Union, the organization for European Economic Co - operation and the common market.

But the man most often tipped as probable Catholic foreign minister, Paul Struye, is only a lukewarm supporter of European supranational organizations such as the common market and coal-steel pool. He is known to prefer co - operative organizations, such as NATO or the Council of Europe.

Steel Industry Is Picking Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry, a major barometer of economic health, will increase production for the sixth straight week, the American Iron and Steel Institute said Monday.

This week's output is estimated at 1,641,000 tons, a high for 1958. This is equal to 60.8 per cent of capacity.

Last week production totalled 1,567,000 tons or 58.1 per cent of capacity, considerably above the forecast.

A month ago the mills turned out 1,334,000 tons and a year ago production totalled 2,240,000 tons. At the low point in late April, the industry operated at 47.1 per cent of capacity.

Mills report the increased buying comes largely because of low or unbalanced inventories in the hands of a wide range of consumers. In addition, some companies have bought steel to beat a price increase July 1.

Fined For Failing To Stop In Boat

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)-A boat chase across Yarmouth harbor had a sequel in police court here Monday when fisherman Clyde Crosby was fined $50 for failing to obey a fisheries patrol vessel's order to stop.

Crosby was charged with failing to stop at the command of the patrol boat Serpula May 24. Witnesses said Crosby's boat sped across the harbor before it was overtaken by the Serpula. During the chase several objects that looked like bags were dropped from Crosby's boat.

Crosby said the bags contained used bait.

Explorer III May Fall Soon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Explorer III, the second U.S. U.S. Army satellite, is losing about 15 miles altitude daily and is expected to plunge to its end late this month, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory estimated Monday.

Launched March 26, the army rocket-satellite originally had a high point or apogee of about 1,700 miles. This point is only half as high now. The low point or perigee, which decreases slower, has dropped from about 120 miles to 110 miles.

Astronomer Jack Slowey of the Smithsonian estimates the rocket of Russia's big new Sputnik III may plunge to its end in November. It was launched May 15.

Use Part Of Park For Power Plant

OTTAWA (CP)—A small area of Cape Breton Highlands national park may be withdrawn for use in a Nova Scotia power project.

A resolution to introduce a bill to withdraw about nine square miles from the 390-square-mile park area was placed on the Commons order paper Monday by Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton.

Department officials said the area — at Wreck Cove on the park's east coast—would be used as part of a drainage basin and reservoir for the Nova Scotia Power Commission project. The project will form part of the province's power system.

FRIENDLY EXCHANGE

BELGRADE (Reuters) President Tito told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a telegram Saturday Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union should lay stress on those ties "which brings us closer together." The telegram, emphasizing that the two countries "have much in common," was a reply to greetings sent by Khrushchev last Sunday on the Yugoslav leader's 66th birthday.

More Communities Insist On Pasteurized Milk Sales

Morell and Murray Harbour are the most recent of Island communities to pass a by-law prohibiting the sale of raw milk. These two villages enacted the ruling last week to become effective on the first of June so as to elliminate any possibility of pollution which is more prevalent in the warmer weather.

Montague was the first incorporated town to pass such a by-law. They have prohibited the sale of other than pasteurized milk for some time. Charlottetown brought the law into effect last year and Summerside, this winter. Other places that have insisted on a supply of pasteurized milk within recent months are Souris and Parkdale.

SUPPLIED FROM SOURIS

Morell will get its milk supply from a Souris pasteurizing plant three times a week or oftener, if required. Murray Harbour is supplied from Montague.

Kensington, O'Leary, Alberton, Murray River and Mount Stewart use pasteurized milk exclusively without the aid of a by-law. Considering the passing of the by-law are Borden and Tignish.

Co-operating closely with all municipalities, the Sanitary Engineering Division, Department of Health collects weekly samples of milk once a week and makes butterfat tests at least every two months.

They point out that raw milk can be the carrier of such diseases as tuberculosis, gastro enteritis or food poisoning, diphtheira, strepto coccal infection typhoid fever, scarlet fever, brucellosis (undulant fever) foot and mouth disease, Q fever as well as a variety of summer complaints including diarroheal and dysenteric diseases in adults.

SAFEST WAY

The Sanitary Engineering Division point out that never has an epidemic been traced to a pasteurizing plant where milk is heated to 143-145 degrees for 30 minutes and cooled quickly to 43 degrees followed by refrigeration.

The Division makes no attempt to make a systematic check on the sale of raw milk because of the inconsistency of the quality. That is to say, a test taken one day might pass requirements and the following day from the same source show a high pollution content.

They have co-operated in certain area where raw milk is being sold and their findings have, according to records, been anything but favourable.

NO COERCION

The Department does not pass the by-laws. This matter is left entirely to the Village concerned. They merely point out their findings through tests and the rest is left to the village commissioners.

Officials stated yesterday they were very happy regarding the rapid strides that have been made by these communities to ensure to their citizens a pure supply of milk and they express the hope that areas that have not as yet taken such steps will see fit to do so as soon as possible.

Under the Public Health Act it is compulsory for all eating establishments to use pasteurized milk. The Island has 13 pasteurizing plants stretching from Alberton to Souris and it is pointed out that no place that really desires to have a pure supply of milk need be without it.

Says UC Favors Welfare State

HALIFAX, — (CP) — Rev. Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church Board of Evangelism and Social Service, says the United Church is fully in favor of the welfare state.

Dr. Mutchmor, preaching here during a weekend stopover on his way to a church conference at Corner Brook, Nfld., said the welfare state fulfills the teaching that 'the strong must help the weak".

He noted, however, that to be successful the social welfare state must have an honest and responsible people.

"Any social security scheme can be wrecked by chislers," he said.
