

Touring Party From Quebec Is Warmly Welcomed

A hearty welcome to the City was extended last night by Mayor B. Earle MacDonald to the members of the touring party of La Survivance Francaise. His Worship spoke at a dinner to the visitors held at The Charlottetown last night.

Mayor MacDonald bravely started his speech in French but quickly switched to English to finish it. However, he received a great ovation from the gathering for his effort. He told them they were always welcome in this Province, and especially so in Charlottetown. He particularly mentioned those from the Central Province and asked the gathering to support this Province in its requests at Ottawa.

But the European countries, being to build their air forces anew, are quite willing just to get basic training for their men and by this fall Canada is expected to be in a good position to do more in that field.

There are two main reasons. One is that war veteran airmen have reacted in considerable numbers to the bid for instructors.

Meanwhile, many of the prairie, wartime schools selected for the scheme, as it now exists are beginning to come back into operation. It was announced some months ago that seven prairie airfields would be reactivated to help train 1,700 Canadian and 1-300 pact airmen annually.

The basic training is to be given at Centralia, Ont., Claresholm and Penhold, Alta., and Moose Jaw, Sask. with the present basic centres at Gimli, Man., eventually switching to advanced training. Other advanced schools are to be at Saskatoon and Portage La Prairie, Man.

Honored At Recent YMCA Convention

One of Charlottetown's residents is utilizing his spare time to promote the cause of goodwill and understanding in the world, and at the same time is performing a noteworthy service for a great organization, by which he has recently been honored.

Mr. Ernest V. Bell has for several years been International Philatelic Director of the Y.M.C.A. His work consists in the sorting, cleaning and selling of stamps sent to him by Y's Men collectors from all countries in the world in which the organization operates.

The money thus obtained is placed in the Bishop's Fund, which is used for the purpose of transporting foreign delegates to the annual international conventions.

At the centennial convention of the Y.M.C.A., held in June in Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Bell was fittingly honored by the organization which he has served so faithfully.

At the "Ernie Bell Breakfast" — an assembly of all the delegates — tribute was paid to his untiring efforts, and he was presented with several gifts, evidence that his contribution to the cause of Christianity has not gone unrecognized.

At the same time, Mrs. Bell was commended for her assistance in the purchase of a beautiful scroll signed by Y.M.C.A. directors from all over the world was presented to them, and both spoke to the delegates on the significance of their work.

Not only are the Bells doing a great job for the Y.M.C.A., but they are helping to make Prince Edward Island better known throughout the world.

Civil Defence Release On Atomic War Measures

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP)—The Government today issued a 10-cent, 48-page booklet with a grim, life-saving message for Canadians. It tells you how to live through and survive the terrors of an atomic attack.

Entitled "Personal Protection Under Atomic Attack," it gives instructions on what to do before, during and after the three main types of atomic explosions — the airburst, the underwater burst and the groundburst. It indicates your chances of survival if an atomic bomb is dropped on your town, providing shelters and other precautionary measures have been taken.

The Health Department, which handles the Government's civil defence planning, has run off 130,000 copies of the booklet in a preliminary step to give the public the lessons already learned about atomic dangers. It covers the dangers in the home, in the factory, the office and on the street.

It tells you how to build a basement shelter in your home, what foods and other emergency equipment to keep on hand, what other precautions to take, what to do quickly if a raid comes and what post-raid medical treatment is necessary.

The booklet can be obtained at 10 cents a copy from municipal and provincial civil defence authorities to keep on hand, what other precautions to take, what to do quickly if a raid comes and what post-raid medical treatment is necessary.

It was issued along with three other civil defence booklets, one on Canadian organization for civil defence, another on training for civil defence workers and the third on the effects of an atomic bomb explosion on structures and human beings.

Minees No Words

The booklet on survival minees no words, it says, in a preliminary chapter entitled "we may be bombed," that it is possible that atomic bombs may be dropped on Canadian cities in the event of war.

The things you should do now are to get rid of all fire hazards in your home or apartment, prepare a suitable shelter (preferably in the basement), place emergency supplies in the shelter and hold air raid drills every now and then so the household will know what to do if a raid comes.

In preparing the shelter, choose the basement space with the thickest walls and the fewest windows, converting a window into an emergency exit in case the house should collapse and you could get out the ordinary way. Strengthen the walls and ceilings of the room with extra supports and beams.

Put in the shelter the things you may need in a raid.

For Apartment Dweller

Similar precautions hold for the apartment dweller with the added suggestion that management-tenant committees be formed to share the responsibilities. Corridors should contain shelter direction pointers and containers of sand and water. Air raid drills should be held about once a month.

If you are caught in the open, go to the nearest public shelter. Lie flat on your stomach near an outer wall or at the base of a strong supporting column and press your face and eyes into your "older arms. This will give you "the greatest protection possible in the circumstances."

But there may no warning. In that case, the first sign of attack will be a dazzling flash of light. To look at it would cause temporary blindness. The booklet instructs: "Forget about protecting your face, running to a shelter or doing anything that takes time. 'Act immediately to save yourself.'"

If it has been an airburst, there won't be any radioactive particles to worry about. You can make your way home if you are uninjured. Dealing with dreaded radioactivity, the booklet says death or serious injury can be caused by full exposure to radiation up to two-thirds of a mile from where the bomb bursts. It can cause injuries even a little farther away than a mile, but its

Mystery Balloon Drifting Over U.S.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 1—(AP)—A mysterious silver balloon, 150 to 200 feet in diameter, was drifting high over the earth today towards the eastern coast of the United States.

Where it came from, what it was, no one could immediately explain. But airline pilots—two United and one Capital—and two army fighter plane pilots agreed after looking at it that: It was soaring with the wind, at a speed of about 50 miles an hour, and at an altitude of 30,000 to 50,000 feet.

Seifridge Field fliers said they believed it was a weather balloon but were not absolutely certain.

Canada, U.S. Seek To Halt Price Climb

RT. HON. C. D. HOWE

CHARLES WILSON

Canadian and American representatives attending a meeting now underway in Washington, D.C., are attempting to seek new ways of holding back price climbs in essential materials which threaten the vast rearmament of both countries. This latest industrial mobilization conference called by Charles Wilson, U.S. defence mobilization and attended by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's defence production minister, is understood to be a direct outgrowth of U.S. concern over recent price increases of Canadian essential materials such as aluminum, nickel, copper, zinc and newsprint.
