NOTICE.

THE Charlottetown Gas Light Company have imported a fresh supply of Bray's Patent Burner's, especially made to consume only three feet of Gas per hour with the tap turned full on. These Burners are intended for use in Halls, Bedrooms, Kitchens, and other places where a light from a small consumption of Gas only is required.
By regulating the tap, the Gas consumed can be reduced to any desired quantity less than three feet per hour.
These Burners are so scientifically made that they will give a light equal to about ten candles at a cost of three quarters of one cent per hour.
The price of these Burners to consumers of Gas will be ten cents each. [in 10 cent pat]

Variations from an Old Song.

PARTLY PARAPHRASED FROM THE GAELIC BY VICH DHOMHUIL NAN ORD.

AIR—"The good old English Gentleman."

I'll sing you a good old song, that was sung by a good old pate,
Of Sir Ewen Cameron of Lochiel, who had a good estate.
And kept up good old customs, at a bountiful old rate,
And never let a poor man go unaided from his his gate,
Like a fine old Highland Gentleman, all of the good old time.

His Hall was hung around with Guns, with Hackbuts, and with Bows,
With spears and swords and targets, that had stood some good old blows.
'Twas there the Cameron sat in state, in belted plaid and hose,
And drank his wis' (a true SCOTT ACT), to warm his good old nose!
Like a fine old Highland Gentleman, all of the good old time.

Within his old Ancestral Hall our good old Chieftain staid,
And kept his Clan in peace at home, from foray and from raid;
But, when they talked of oaths and bonds, he touched his glittering blade,
And pointed to his Bonnet Blue, where swung the White Cockade
Of this fine old Highland Gentleman, all of the good old time.

But now our Sovereign's eldest son, Prince Charles, is come to claim
The Title due, the Royal Rank, pertaining to his NAME,
A name which thunders through our Glens, and sets our hills on flame,
And soon shall England's southern shores re-echo to the same.
Say all the Highland gentlemen (as in the good old time!)

So let us sing "Long live the King, and good Prince Charles his son!"
He comes to do what every true good Scot would fain see done!
Let all the Clans support his plans, with broadsword and with gun,
And soon, through Killiecrankie's Pass, Clan Chattan's Race shall run,
And Scotland's name be glorified.

If e'er a Cameron should rise, a scandal to his clan,
Afraid to act or speak aright (as even a Cameron can),
You'd soon expel him from your ranks,—you'd pelt him as he ran,
And bid him "Turn," like Whittington, and be a better man,
Or never hope that good Lochiel will own him of his Clan!

And now, my Dunbar reasel friends, I say, as oft of yore,
"Shamus a Hoch" Gres ort, gres ort!" in battles wildest roar;
Let every man take up his gun, and sharpen his claymore,
Dio slaint an Righ!—Gres ort! Gres ort! as said Vich Ian Vohr!
And all our Highland Gentlemen, as in the good old time!

For Office Seekers Only.

A number of politicians, all of whom were seeking office under the Government, were under a tavern porch, when an old toper named Joel, a person who was loquacious when corned, but exactly opposite when sober, said that he would tell them a story.
They told him to "fire away," whereupon he spoke as follows:

"A certain king—I don't recollect his name—had a philosopher upon whose judgment he always depended. Now it happened one day that the king took it into his head to go hunting, and summoned his nobles, and making the necessary preparations, he summoned the philosopher and asked him if it would rain. The philosopher told him it would not, and they started. While journeying they met a countryman mounted on a jackass.

He advised them to return, "for," said he, "it will certainly rain." They smiled contemptuously upon him and passed on. Before they had gone many miles they had reason to regret not having taken the rustic's advice, as a shower coming up drenched them to the skin. When they had returned to the palace the king reprimanded the philosopher severely.
"I met a countryman," said he, "and he knows more than you do. He told me that it would rain, whereas you told me it would not." The king then gave him his walking papers and sent for the countryman, who soon made his appearance.

"Tell me how you knew it would rain?" said the king.
"I didn't know," said the countryman, "my jackass told me so."
"And how, pray, did he tell you?" asked the king.
"By pricking up his ears, your majesty," said the rustic.
The king then sent the rustic away, and procuring the jackass of him, he placed him, the jackass, in the office the philosopher filled.

"And here," observed Joel, looking very wise, "is where the king made a great mistake."
"How so?" inquired the auditors.
"Why, ever since that time," said Joel, with a grin on his phiz, "every jackass wants office."

Methodist Union.

THE COMMITTEE AT TORONTO REACH AN AMICABLE SETTLEMENT.

After a long and earnest discussion, the Methodist Union Committee sitting in Toronto, have come to an agreement upon what are regarded as the fundamental principles of union; these are the representation of the laity in the annual conference and the government of the church. On the former point, it has been decided to admit laymen in equal numbers with the ministers, but to exclude them from the stationing committee and all matters directly relating to ministerial functions and characters. The minor bodies have agreed to accept in limited form a principle to which they attach great importance. The principle of governing the Church excited deeper interest. The basis finally adopted by an overwhelming majority recommends one or more superintendents, holding office for eight years, though if two are at first selected, one is to go out of office at the end of four years to allow of the principle of rotation, one new man coming in at the end of the general conference. The general superintendents are to share with the presidents of the annual conferences the duty of presiding at these bodies. The onus of deciding the union question seems now thrown on the laity and the annual conference.

A Few Simple Remedies.
For croup administer a tablespoonful of strong alum water; repeat the dose every fifteen minutes until free vomiting occurs. Put the feet and limbs in hot water and then wrap up in flannel; place on the chest a poultice of cornmeal sprinkled with mustard. Beware of cold draughts. As the attack departs administer a dose of magnesia, rhubarb or castor oil. When children are liable to croup, always keep the alum water solution ready on the washstand.
Toothache may be speedily ended by the application of a small bit of cotton saturated with ammonia to the defective tooth.
It may be useful to know that hoarseness may be relieved by using the white of an egg thoroughly beaten, mixed with lemon-juice and sugar. A tablespoonful taken occasionally is beneficial.
Children are subject so hard to bear and so difficult to cure as carache. A remedy which never fails is a pinch of black pepper gathered up in a bit of cotton batting wet with oil and inserted in the ear. It will give immediate relief.
Remedy for chilblains—Take a piece of lime the size of your double fist; put it in warm water and soak the feet in it as warm as it can be borne for half an hour.
For a scald or burn, apply immediately pulverized charcoal and oil. Lamp oil will do, but lard is better. The effect is miraculous.
For chapped lips mix two tablespoonfuls of clarified honey with a few drops of lavender water, or any other perfume, and anoint the lips frequently.
To remove warts, get a little bullock's gall, and keep it in a bottle, rub a little on the warts two or three times a day, and in a short time they will disappear.
To remove cold sores, rub the first finger behind the ear close to the part which is joined to the head, and then rub the sore. The secretion removes the sore in a short time if applied every twenty minutes.
To make good sticking plaster, put two spoonfuls of balsam of Peru to six of isinglass, melted with very little water, and strained. Mix these well together in a small stone jar over the fire. Pin out some black Persian or sarsenet on a board, and dipping a brush into the mixture, pass it over the silk five or six times; then hold it to the fire, but not very near, and it will soon become black and shining.
A good wash to prevent the hair from falling out is made with one ounce powdered borax, half an ounce of powdered camphor, one quart of boiling water. When cool, pour into a bottle for use, and clean the head with it, applying with a flannel or sponge once a week.
For dyspepsia pour one quart of cold water on two tablespoonfuls of unslacked lime; let stand a few minutes, bottle and cork, and when clear it is ready for use; put three tablespoonfuls in a cup of milk, and drink any time, usually before meals.

The annual report of the Treasurer of the United States demonstrates the extraordinary prosperity of the Republic. The figures are interesting.—The receipts of the Government show an increase over those of 1881 of $22,251,054.23 in the revenue from Customs; $11,233,209.94 from the internal revenue; $2,551,277.90 from sales of public lands, and $6,707,416.34 from miscellaneous sources—making a total increase in the net revenue of $42,742,957.71. The total net revenue was $403,525,250.28. The net expenditures decreased from $260,712,887.59 to $257,981,440.20 a reduction of $2,731,447.39; which, added to the increase in receipts, makes an increase of $45,474,405.10 in the surplus revenues applicable to the reduction of the public debt. The expenditures on account of interest on the public debt show a reduction of $11,431,534.39, from $82,508,741.18 in 1881 to $71,077,206.79 in 1882. The excess of revenues over expenditures was $145,543,810.08, and the amount applied to the reduction of the debt $166,281,505.55.

Pearl fishing is pursued by about 1,000 divers on the coast of Lower California. The pearl oysters are found from one to twenty fathoms deep. The yearly product is about $500,000.

In Paris a duel was fought between an editor and an ex-ambassador. Contrary to all established usage, one of the combatants was slightly hurt.
