TRUE TO HIS COLORS

It was reported some time ago that there was a likelihood of Mr. McInerney resigning the representation of Kent County, N. B., for the purpose of opening that constituency for Mr. Blair. Those who were familiar with the tactics of Mr. Blair knew that he was fully capable of consummating a deal of this kind, providing the other party to the transaction were disposed to meet him half way. But Mr. McInerney was not the stamp of man that would be a party to such an intrigue, and he has requested the Richibucto Review to give the most absolute denial to any rumors which may have gained currency respecting his resignation. In this connection he has asked the Review to add that "there is no position in the gift of the Government which would tempt him to so traitorously sell out his supporters in the county. Elected as a Conservative, he represents the political principles and honor of the party in Kent, and holds those principles and that honor in too high esteem to shamefully sacrifice them for mere personal gain. While it might be an advantage for Kent to be represented by a Cabinet Minister, the county's honor is a matter of some importance; and it is not improbable that before very long Kent's honor and advantage may be guarded and promoted by being so represented—but not in the person of A. G. Blair."

THE BYE-ELECTIONS.

It is pointed out by the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette that Mr. Laurier is not carrying out when in office the policy so strongly advocated by him when in opposition of holding all the bye elections on the some day when a number of vacancies occur about the same time. Twelve of his Ministers, not counting the Minister of the Interior, who has not yet been appointed, require to go back to their constituencies for re-election, but only nine of these bye elections will take place on the same day, the 6th of August. The nomination in Queen's and Shelburne will not take place until August 5th, and polling one week later, so that Mr. Fielding will get the benefit of the result in nine constituencies should they all be favorable to Mr. Laurier before he has to put his fate to the touch. As for Messrs. Blair and Paterson, seats have not yet been arranged for them, and it now looks as if there was to be no hurry about finding seats for these gentlemen until after the other bye-elections are over. Of the nine elections, the nominations for which take place on the 30th inst., five are in Quebec, two in Ontario, one in Nova Scotia, and one in Prince Edward Island. If a wicked Tory Government had arranged a lot of bye-elections this way there would have been an outcry from the Grit press at the gross unfairness of the arrangement, but when a truly good Grit Government adopts such tactics, then the Grit press is sure that it is evidence of great statesmanship.

CONCERNING MR. TARTE.

There is, perhaps, not one department of the public service of the Dominion where the opportunities for boodling are greater than they are in the office of Public Works, to which Mr. J. Israel Tarte has been called by Mr. Laurier. It is of the highest importance, therefore, that the incumbent of that office should be a man in every way above suspicion. Is the present Minister of Public Works such a man? It will be remembered that Mr. Tarte was a beneficiary in the Baie Des Chaleurs Railway fraud, in connection with which an intimate friend of his, a gentleman named Pacaud, was ordered by the courts to restore to the Quebec Government the sum of $100,000. This money, or a portion of it at least, was distributed in the following manner:—

$5000—to pay a note to the order of Hon. H. Mercier, endorsed by him and other grits.

$5000 to pay for a bill of exchange in favor of Hon. H. Mercier.

$555—a gift to Hon. C. Langelier, a grit.

$1600—to meet election expenses of a grit in Chicoutimi.

$6000—to pay costs of Mr. Geoffrion, a grit, in the Tarte investigation.

$1000—part payment of a house for C. Langelier, a grit.

$500—to pay a note endorsed by Mercier, to Langelier and Pelletier; all grits.

$2000—to pay a note endorsed by Mr. J. Israel Tarte, a grit.

$400—to pay a note for Mr. Achille Carriere, M. L. A., a grit.

$1000—to pay on Mr. Langelier's house.

$1000—to pay for printing for various grit politicians.

$1000—to pay a note of Mr. Tarte—grit.

$400—to pay another note of Mr. Tarte.

$150—for a note of Mr. Deschene, M. L. A., another grit.

$1,000—to pay election expenses of Mr. Pelletier, Grit.

$50,—to pay an election bet—lost by a Grit.

$1,000—to same Mr. Langelier.

$300—to pay another note endorsed by Mercier, Pelletier and Langelier,—all Grits.

$5,000—to Mr. Langelier,—a Grit.

$5,000—more to pay another note by Mercier and others.

$3,000—loaned by Pacaud to Demers—a Grit.

$1,500—to pay Pacaud's expenses to Europe.

$5,000—placed in Langelier's hands to meet emergencies.

$500—to Mr. Tarte.

$20,000—deposited to Pacaud's credit in the National Park Bank, New York.

$3,000—deposited by Pacaud in La Banque du Peuple.

It is not very long ago since a leading Grit organ in the Province of Quebec pointed out that in forming his Cabinet it was the duty of the Premier to gather about him men who would be best able to keep the party in power. Mr. Laurier evidently had this advice uppermost in his mind when he demanded that he be given such men as Tarte. The records show that in the past Mr. Tarte has rendered the Grits much service along certain lines, and there is no doubt as to his willingness to perpetuate the labor of love in the interest of the party of purity. Bearing this fact in mind, it is not to be wondered at that Mr. Laurier should fall upon Mr. Tarte's neck and declare that there was nothing too good for him!

NOTES AND COMMENTS

—The Cultivateur, the organ of the Minister of Public Works, intimates that the old McGreevy-Connolly case is to be re-opened.

—No one would be surprised if it should turn out that Mr. Tarte had secured the portfolio of the Interior for one of his compatriots.

—With the Liberal Ministers gravely considering the buy-election question it is reasonable to suppose that the Liberal policy may make some one rich.

—The Boston Transcript remarks that when a man can carry 53 cents worth of silver to the mint and compel the government to give him a dollar for it, the counterfeiters can take a vacation.

—The Mail and Empire thinks that under the circumstances it would be quite in order for Messrs. David Mills, Joe Martin, Lister and McMullen, with Senator McInnes as chairman, to hold a meeting and adopt a resolution protesting against the exclusion from the Cabinet of the ablest men in the Liberal party.

—The Toronto Globe serves a notice to quit on a large number of public employe in the Northwest. The victims are accused of taking an interest in the election of Conservative candidates. They will be replaced by men who took an interest in the election of Liberal candidates. This is how the Globe would keep the public service free from politics.

—It is pointed out that in the coming Presidential contest in the United States there will be almost as many factions against McKinley as there were against Tupper. The Republicans will have to fight the prohibitionists and the prohibition nationalists, which latter party wants no whiskey and free silver, also the Populists, the Free Silver party, and the Democrats.

—Mr. Tarte's paper, Le Cultivateur, after reproving the Conservatives of the province of Quebec for shedding crocodile tears over the treatment accorded Mr. Mills by the Liberal leaders, assures its readers that "the eminent statesman will soon take his place on the Supreme Court bench, where he will be one of the ornaments." As the Mail and Empire remarks, the Sage of Bothwell evidently has a friend in Mr. Tarte, and these words should have a cheering effect. Possibly Mr. Tarte contemplates the dismissal of a few of the judges.

—Montreal Gazette: It is threatened by Liberal papers that the next session will be marked by the investigation of many Conservative scandals, in regard to which it is only necessary to say that if the new ministers or their friends know of any scandals affecting Conservatives it is hoped they will make their knowledge public, and that quickly. It may be remarked, however, that scandal sessions sometimes have an unexpected ending. The Liberals began one in 1891, and before it was finished the country knew how much had been stolen out of the Quebec treasury by its Liberal guardians to elect Laurier candidates to the House of Commons in the general election five years ago.

—A late despatch from Ottawa says the last cabinet meeting until after the bye-election was held on Friday. It is rumored that the only business of any importance transacted was the appointment of Dr. P. St. Jean, ex-M. P., for Ottawa, defeated in 1878, as superintendent of the Rideau Canal works which has been vacant since the death of Mr. Fred. Wise, some two years ago. This was one of the positions which Sir Charles Tupper desired to fill by recommending the appointment of Mr. J. B. Brophy, as engineered and a gentleman of experience and ability in every way qualified to fill the position well; but His Excellency did not sign the Order in Council, and now, it is said, Dr. St. Jean, who is not an engineer, who has no experience in canal work and does not possess any special qualification for the position, has been appointed.

THE HERBERT FULLER TRAGEDY.

Helmsman Brown Was Once Insane and Levelled a Pistol at a Stranger.

Halifax, July 26.—The crew of the Herbert Fuller were sent to Boston early Sunday morning by the American Consul. They left by steamer in charge of policeman Cline.

Sailor Charlie Brown, who manned the wheel of the Herbert Fuller at the time the three murders were committed, was once a patient in a hospital in Rotterdam confined there for a form of mental aberation, which had caused him to level a pistol at a stranger, who he wrongly imagined was seeking to take his life. This is Brown's own statement.

He made it in explanation of the story told by First Mate Brane and Frank Lohese, the Frenchman, that the man who accuses Brane of being the triple murder himself is a self-confessed manslayer, having killed a human being in Holland and escaped punishment on the ground of insanity. Loheese says that some days before the tragedy on the Fuller, Brown told him about the affair in Holland, and said that it occurred four years ago.

Brane says that Lohese repeated the story to him after the wheelman was put in irons on suspicion of being the perpetrators of three murders on the vessel. Brane supplements this statements by saying that Brown always appearer queer to him.

Halifax, July 26.—Charles Brown, who figures so prominently in the Herbert Fuller case, has confessed that he is sailing under false colors, and that the name of Charles Brown is an assumed one. Brown says his right name is Johese Vestbac, but he changed it to Brown to get clear of a captain, with whom he had trouble and who he understood was after him. The trouble, he adds, was not of a very serious character.

Boston, July 27.—[Special to the Guardian.]—The Plant liner Halifax arrived to-day with the crew of the Herbert Fuller. All were taken to jail. Mate Bram was charged with the murder, and Brown as an accessory after the fact, the others simply as witnesses. Monks was not arrested. The case was adjourned to give Bram a chance to secure counsel. The steward, Spencer, promises there will be sensational disclosures. He believes that mate Bram and another sailor had an understanding together regarding the matter, and promises to tell the court many suspicious circumstances.

A very interesting race took place a few days ago at the fair grounds near Plymouth, Ind., between a man named Grant and a horse. Grant was to run a quarter of a mile and the horse three-eighths of a mile, but heavy rain made the track muddy, so the distance was made one-fourth of a mile to one half-mile to favor Grant. He won easily in 57½ seconds.

A constable who recently died from fever at Menzies, Australia, is stated to have been heir to an English baronetcy. He inherited some years ago a large fortune, and squandered it in America, after eloping with another man's wife. He finally landed in Australia in impoverished circumstances and found his way to the gold fields, where he joined the police force.

Official information of the death of Jose Maceo, the Cuban insurgent general, has been received by the Cuban junta. A message dated July 13 from General Calixto Garcia reads: "It is with sorrow that I report the death of Major General Jose Maceo, commander of the first army corps. He was killed in an engagement July 5 at Lome del Gato. He died fighting in a glorious manner."

So far as ascertained 24 persons lost their lives in the great floods that swept down upon the towns of Morrison and Golden, in the foot hills near Denver, last Friday night, and it is feared that the loss of life will probably be greater than is now known. Some reports say that when Bear Creek canon is fully explored it will probably be found that no less than 50 persons perished in the flood.

A 10-year old girl of Zanesville, Ont., died recently under peculiar circumstances. She was a bright girl, read every line she could find, and after the St. Louis tornado was the victim of nervous prostration. She read everything about the calamity. During a thunderstorm that prevailed at Zanesville recently she said there was a tornado coming and soon suffered another prostration, from the effects of which she died.

Ed. Hanlan had a narrow escape from drowning at Halifax on Sunday afternoon. He was out practising when his boat sprang a leak, upset and began to fill. He pulled hard for shore, a quarter of a mile distant, and after a time managed to get near enough to wade ashore just as his boat sank. The gunwale, just aft the seat, had been spliced, glue only having been used where something strong was equally needed. The glue melted and caused the boat to split.

The strange fast of Mrs. Henry Ingram, of Battle Creek, Mich., still continues. Days and months roll by, and still Mrs. Ingram does not take nourishment of any kind. She has now gone 150 days without food. She still looks well, but has lost over 100 pounds in weight. When her fast began she weighed 210 pounds. Hundreds of people have visited her home to get a glimpse of this remarkable woman, and many enquiries concerning her are coming from abroad.

An index of the vast interest that is being displayed in the United States in the silver question and of the vigor with which the campaign is being prosecuted, is found in the marvellous demand for campaign literature. The number of documents to be issued by the Republican Congressional Committee will reach many millions, as from one State alone 700,000 have been ordered. The campaign of education should result in a fair understanding of a question regarding the simplest phases of which thousands of voters are now lamentably ignorant.

The Canadian Artillery team arrived in London at one o'clock on Saturday morning, and met with a cordial welcome from the officers of the artillery association. The Canadians were handsomely entertained at luncheon by the Lord Mayor, Sir Walter Wilkins, at the Mansion House, after which they visited the Guild Hall. They returned to the Mansion House at four o'clock, where they were served with tea, and at five o'clock they went to Tilbury. Gunner Bramas, who was injured at Quebec while engaged in assisting to ship the guns, was much improved by the ocean voyage.

BRYAN THE CHOICE

Of the Populist Convention—Thomas E. Watson Chosen for Vice President.

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—William J. Bryan of Nebraska, who was nominated by the Democratic national convention at Chicago a fortnight ago, was today made the standard bearer of the populist party by a vote of 1,042 to 321. The democratic candidate was nominated in the face of his own protest in the shape of a telegram directing the withdrawal of his name, sent to Senator Jones, sent after Sewell, his running mate, had been ditched for the vice presidential nomination last night, and Thomas E. Watson of Georgia had been named for second place on the ticket. It was also made in the teeth of an opposition so bitter that after the convention adjourned some radicals held "rump" conventions. As to the future all is problematical. Whether Bryan will decline the nomination is being canvassed.

London, July 25.—The Daily News has an interview with Joseph Herbert Tritton, a banker of the firm of Barclay, Bevan, Tritton, Ransom, Bouverie & Co., in which he is quoted as saying: "The possibility of Mr. Bryan's election creates great insecurity. The passage of a free silver bill would cause a rise in price and would glut America with silver from the eastern countries, causing a complete dislocation of the entire basis of exchange between the east and the west. The first cure for American financial distress must be the contraction of their paper issue, both bank notes and treasury issues."

LOTTERIES.

Sir,—Some months ago one of our large business firms was prosecuted under the Lotteries Act for selling goods and giving a numbered ticket to the purchaser, which entitled him to participate in a drawing for a prize at a certain date in the future.

At present we have a foreign company conducting a show on the same principle. Every Saturday night a drawing takes place. This is the second year that they have done this, and yet no action has been taken by the authorities. It would be easy to do business under such conditions. Do they pay a tax for this purpose?

Will Have to Look Elsewhere.

Ottawa, July 28.

James Somerville, M. P., was here yesterday under the convoy of chief whip Sutherland. It was thought he would resign in Wentworth and Brant to make way for Paterson, but the deal has apparently fallen through and Paterson will have to look elsewhere now. It is said that he will run in North Grey, made vacant through the death of the newly-elected Grit member, Clarke; but as Clarke's majority is only 60, Paterson will have no more than a fighting chance in Grey.

Will Remain High Commissioner.

Ottawa, July 28.

There will no change in the High Commissionship in London. Sir Donald Smith was here yesterday, and had a long interview with the Premier. The Premier afterwards told The Examiner correspondent that Sir Donald Smith had not resigned as Commissioner, but would leave for his post in London on Saturday.
