Game Bird Population Restoration Is Urged

A committee of the P.E.I. Tourist Association urged the cabinet to form legislation aimed at restoring the province's game bird population and prevent the depletion of sports fish and wildlife yesterday morning. Also heard by the cabinet was a two-man delegation from the P.E.I. Fish and Game Association which called for the setting up of private and public fish and game preserves and the appointment of a game management officer for each of the province's three counties. The tourist association submission was presented in the form of a resolution by Charles Linkletter, Wallace Rodd and Lt. Col. E. W. Johnstone, members of an association committee appointed to study proposed amendments to the P.E.I. Fish and Game Protection Act. The proposed amendments have not been made public but will be known when the bill is given second reading in the Legislature. The association pointed out in its resolution that "our sports fish and wildlife resources are an invaluable recreational asset to the tourist industry and the situation and pollution of our trout streams plus the downward trend in our game-bird populations are subjects of considerable concern to the members of the association." It was also pointed out by the association that the basic requirements of "a modern fish and wildlife management program—biological, information, revenue, qualified staff and proper terms of reference—are not available at present." Immediate implementation of amendments to the fish and game act "as a preliminary step to obtaining the basic needs referred to above" was called for by the association. The provincial fish and game association was represented by its president, Nelson Hurry and its Queens County president, George Murray. This group also favors the proposed amendments to present fish and game protection legislation.

Spring Fashion Direction Arrow Narrow or Gently Curved

Arrow-narrow styles are seam-shaped to give a young, lean look. Gentle curves appear with bias cuts, elongated bodices, clever gatherings and animated pleats. Dresses, coats, suits and even sportswear adapt these two style themes in many pretty ways. Millinery brims are on the move — they dip, roll or shoot straight out. Handbags are small. Rounded toes, slings and above all, lower heels identify the newest in shoes. Textured stockings single out the fashionable, especially if they're lightly coloured and lacy. Gloves are short. Jewellery sparkles with a "Crown Jewel" look. 5.98 to 35.00
