New Uses for Glass.

By a new process, glass is made to appear like wood with a very high polish. It is used in windows, and gives a peculiarly subdued and agreeable light. The glass is put through what might be called a veneering process, being coated with a liquid that represents the wood which it is desired to imitate. The color after drying is varnished.

Racked with Rheumatism

Unable to Walk, owing to excruciating pain.

After ten years' terrible torture, Cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

A. H. Christiansen, writing from the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, says: "I owe you more than I can ever pay. For ten years I suffered the tortures of the damned with rheumatism. Father had it before me, and I believe it is an hereditary disease. My knee joints would get inflamed and if I was out in any "weather" I was sure to be laid up, which to a travelling man is a calamity. In a score of Canadian towns local doctors treated me, some giving relief, others none. I read that Sarsaparilla was a rheumatic cure, and I asked a druggist for "a bottle of the best Sarsaparilla on the market." He gave me Scott's, remarking that it was an improvement on all others, and that he could honestly recommend it. I have taken four bottles, and am as free from pain as a man can hope to be. I was out in a rainstorm two days ago and never felt a twinge. As I said before, to Scott's Sarsaparilla I owe more than I can ever repay."

The best remedy for rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgic pains—all arising from the presence of poison in the blood—is Scott's Sarsaparilla, a modern concentrated medicine, prompt in its curative effects. Doses from one half to one teaspoonful. At $1 per bottle of your druggist.

Adella Cuzuy, who seems to be a sort of Cuban Joan of Arc, has been captured by the Spaniards, as Joan was by the English. If the Dons are guided by the lessons of history Adella will live to die a natural death. The English did not make anything by killing La Pucelle.

Build Up.

When the system is run down, a person becomes an easy prey to Consumption or Scrofula. Many valuable lives are saved by using Scott's Emulsion as soon as a decline in health is observed.

A man in West Virginia has just left $150,000 to the church, and two cows and his household furniture to his wife.

You can thoroughly enjoy all jolly summer outings even where you wear your best gowns, if they're interlined with Fibre Chamois. Because it will never become crushed, or let your skirts and sleeves loose their original stiffness and grace. It has an all enduring elasticity and spring, and what's more is of such a very light weight that its presence is never felt—and when you use the Rigby Waterproofed line in your skirts and wraps they are completely weather proof. This is the same price as the plain, but find the label on each yard, as imitations are always disappointing.

Swallows as Ornaments.

A flight of swallows made of the most glittering brilliants is one of the newest ornaments with which the summer matron delights to adorn herself. Each of the five jeweled birds can be separated and worn either as a brooch or as an ornament for the hair. For those who find the swallow too modest a device the robin redbreast is a fashionable substitute. The robin is mounted on a branch of leaves and berries, and has gay, jeweled wings and a breast of enameled iridescent red.

A conceit that is more odd than beautiful takes the form of a white rabbit, his body all pearls, his pink eyes of the balas ruby, and his long ears are pearls with suggestions of pink about their tips. Often, by way of further elaboration, the little rabbit is mounted upon his hind legs upon a gold bar, and is gazing upon a butterfly glistening with golden beryls and purple amethysts.

Many a Young Man.

When from over-work, possibly assisted by an inherited weakness, the health fails and rest or medical treatment must be resorted to, then no medicine can be employed with the same beneficial results as Scott's Emulsion.

A despatch from Neath, seven miles from Swansea, Wales, announces that 40 miners were entombed in the Bryncoch pit, near that place, by an explosion which occurred on Wednesday afternoon.

Completely Knocked Out.

"I was so much run down I had to give up work, and I felt as if life was not worth living," writes Wm. W. Thompson, Zephyr, Ont. "I took Scott's Sarsaparilla and am now feeling as I did years ago." Scott's Sarsaparilla tones up the entire system, purifies the blood, and eradicates rheumatic and scrofulous poisons. Ask for Scott's and get it.

In the Spanish chambers of deputies on Thursday, Senior Fernando Cosgavon minister of the interior, said that the government believed that the disorders in the province of Valencia were fomented by the friends of the Cuban rebels.

"To My Life's End."

Old age brings many aches and pains which must be looked after if health is to be maintained. This depends more than anything else on the kidneys. "I am 85 years old," writes A. Duffin, farmer, Aultsville, Ont., "and have had kidney trouble five years. My son advised Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I obtained immediate relief. I shall use them to my life's end." You will find Chase's Pills equally effective for that lame back.

Uniforms in Joliet.

According to report, an interesting experiment is soon to be made in the Joliet (Ill.) Penitentiary. It is proposed to have three kinds of suits for prisoners indicative of their deportment. Green suits will be worn by prisoners of good behavior, cadet gray by those who are less orderly, and red by those who are extremely unruly. It is claimed that this innovation will give the convict the idea that he can make an advance in his fellow-man's opinion, even while confined behind prison bars.

The Weather for Colds.

This is the time when colds are in the fashion—everybody who is anybody has one, if not himself there's one in the family. For no complaint under the sun are there more remedies than for a cold in the head, but of the thousands Chase's Catarrh Cure is the best. "In twelve hours I was cured of a bad cold in the head by Chase's Cure," writes Miss Dwyer, Alliston, Ont. 25c. of all druggists, with blower free.

WHEN IN THE COUNTRY.

Live Close to Nature, Seek Repose, and Cultivate Serenity of Manner.

In an editorial in the July Ladies' Home Journal Edward W. Bok discusses "When We are in the Country," a text he employs to show how far we are departing from the purpose residents of cities used to have in going to the country during summer time. Formerly going into the country meant an escape from city conventionalities; a living close to Nature, in the pure air and bright sunlight; a change of scenes, of interests, and of pastimes; absolute freedom from the tyranny of fashion. Mr. Bok contends that this has been entirely changed, and the benefits of the summer outings have been largely lost. Conventionalities have robbed the country of its greatest charm; and the diversions, pastimes, the nervous rush and hurry of the city have been transplanted to the country, and Mr. Bok well says: "We cannot afford to conventionalize the country. There is no truer saying than that 'God made the country and man made the town,' and we ought to carry out the spirit of those words. When we go to the country let us get out of it what we go for: rest, outdoor life and early hours—early, I mean, at night, as well as in the morning. Let us live truly in the country, and do as the country people do. Let us dismiss, during the only restful time of the year—as the summer is to so many of us—thoughts of dress, of indoor amusements, or matters of any kind that are apt to keep the mind at work and the body indoors. Let us seek repose—something which so many of us need. Our life during the winter makes us carry about with us an air of distraction and nervous worry. In summer let us cultivate serenity of manner. There is a restfulness about the restless sea that is peculiarly soothing and wondrously helpful to city people. There is a quietness in a leafy bower not to be had anywhere else on God's footstool. Nature speaks to us unerringly amid such surroundings. It is the absolute calm and quiet of leisurely enjoyment which so many natures crave, and which should be given them. And it is possible to attain this in the country if we will only seek for it and make up our minds to have it. Let us then use the country in this way, forgetting for the time being that there are such things as dresses, as cards, dances, bazars and dollies, throwing our whole natures into the spirit of our surroundings. Then will we extract from Nature what she is always willing to give us, what God intended us all to have: the calm and quiet of peaceful repose."

M. LEOD, MORSON & McQUARIE,

EVERY ONE SHOULD SING.

An Ingenious Theory Concerning the Training of Voices for Speech and Song.

In fairy days when the fox wished to make his voice sweet he went to the miller and asked for chalk. This he ate with such satisfactory results that his next call was made without any of the unlucky effects generally produced by his naturally harsh voice. It is very evident from all that one hears and reads nowadays that this end of the century is expecting to be told of some royal road to voice improvement. Why should not such a road be found? In these days of Roentgen and consumption cures, why should not the art of music advance tremendously?

The human voice is used for two purposes—by every one to speak with, by many to sing with. That many wish to sing but find themselves unable to do so is, unhappily, true. That all these could learn to sing is also true, though this is not without question in many minds.

Much has been written lately in criticism of he disagreeable qualities of the speaking voice, especially the harshness of the voices of American women. Little has been suggested, however, to remedy the defects. As for the singing voice, it has lately been stated that "of all branches of musical study the most discouraging, perhaps, is the cultivation of the voice."

Here is something which interests thousands of persons, and when we include in our subject the improvement of the speaking voice it is one which should interest millions. People are scarce who really care nothing about music; they are scarcer still who do not carry a musical instrument about with them wherever they go. The singer is at no trouble or expense to procure an instrument upon which to perform; all he needs to do is to open his mouth and it is ready. Moreover, this instrument, rightly treated, needs far less practice than any piano or violin; and there is a method of right treatment which can be described to "out-of-the-way students." This method consists of just two things—relax the throat, begin all practice at the top of the voice.

In order to gain a relaxed throat simply try to stretch the throat open, as in yawning, and to sing as low down in the throat as possible. Never imagine that any tones proceed from or go to the top of the head; but think that they all start from a point low in the throat, and must come directly out of the mouth, toward the front teeth. A contracted throat produces a rough, rasping or nasal voice; an open, relaxed throat produces a round, smooth, clear voice.

The second injunction, begin all practice at the top of the voice, is most important. More harm has been done by the training of voices upward than the world has yet any idea of and it is marvelous that we have not learned this fact before the end of the nineteenth century. Scales should never be sung upward by beginners, because this tends to emphasize, instead of to bridge over, any breaks that the voice may have. By always training the voice downward the difficulties with regard to breaks and registers are overcome without any theorizing and experimenting on the part of the student. An exercise which can be practised with immense benefit by every student is to begin at the highest tone that the singer can take easily and sing each successive tone downward to the syllable "ha" as low down in the throat as possible, using a great deal of breath for each syllable and taking fresh breath for each one. The extra breath helps to relax the throat.

Besides the question how best to improve the singing voice, persons are seeking answers to two other questions—how can we improve our speaking voices, and can we all learn to sing?

The speaking voice can be made pleasant and agreeable in the same way that the singing voice is improved. It is most emphatically true that many persons speak habitually in tones that are unnecessarily shrill and rasping. This is caused by throat contraction, which squeezes the tone and renders it rough. To relax the throat by stretching it open as in yawning and to speak low in the throat allows the tone to be smooth, round and clear. A very unwise injunction is often given in this connection—viz., "Do not speak in such a high key." The very opposite to this should be inculated. Voices are never shrill because they are high; they only sound shrilly because the throat is not to be contracted more on high tones. This weakens the high tones and the effort to speak loudly causes forcing of the voice. If people would relax the throat and then strengthen the high tones by their free and proper use they would soon notice a vast improvement in tone quality.

"Can every one learn to sing?" Unquestionably, yes. Every one who can speak can also learn to sing, if he will take a little trouble, for the very same instrument, the larnyx, furnishes the voice for both speech and song. The only difference between the speaking voice and the singing voice is that the former uses the lower and medium tones and the latter uses chiefly the higher and medium tones. If a person thinks he cannot sing, let him, in the first place, be satisfied to begin at the beginning, instead of at the end. Let him not be discouraged because he cannot at once sing a whole tune correctly, but let him believe that, if, as must be the case, he can form any single tone or two tones correctly, he can improve upon this ability, just as any one who can add two and two can also add three and three, and then four and four. The main thing to understand is that inability to sing is not generally caused, as is so often supposed, by want of voice or want of ear, but simply by lack of flexibility of voice—that is, weakness of the muscles which tighten and relax the vocal chords.

A Hint for Fishermen.

Dutch fishermen make astonishing catches by means of the following very simple plan: They put a number of live worms and insects in a bottle partially filled with water and then cork it securely. The bottle is dropped into the water, the fisherman sinking his line alongside. It appears that the sight of the wriggling contents of the bottle so excites the appetite of the finny tribes that they fall easy victims to the baited hooks.

So true is it that the simplest methods are the best!—Cosmos.

Health and Perspiration.

Perfect health is impossible without free perspiration. Perspiration is one of the methods adopted by nature to get rid of superfluous or waste material. To facilitate this delicate system of drainage the skin is perforated with pores. What is forced through them should be removed for excellent reasons. This cannot be effectually accomplished without frequent bathing.

Kind Words from the Fred Victor Mission Bible Class.

On behalf of the Fred Victor Mission Bible Class I wish to express our gratitude to you for the box of Chase's Ointment which you supplied in aid of our charitable work to the infant child of Mrs. Brownrig, 162 River Street. Ten days ago the child was awfully afflicted with scald head, the face being literally one scab from forehead to chin, and in that brief time a complete cure has been effected. Surely your gift was worth more than its weight in gold.
