

The Sense in which Longfellow was Original.

Longfellow, we have said, did not "originate ideas" to any great extent. Indeed, we have known a reward to be offered, in heated literary argument, to any one who could discover a single strong, imaginative thought in Longfellow, which was not obviously quoted from some other writer.

The poetry of Longfellow—to read it with care might also be called a "liberal education," from so many sources of history, of literature, of life, and of its nature is its inspiration drawn. We fear there is no one man who can fairly be called a typical American, but Longfellow was a type, certainly, of many Americans—a type of a large part of "the national mind."

When all with one accord give spontaneous testimony in favor of St. Jacobs Oil, we know that its virtues are such as to merit it, and we are heartily glad of the generosity which does not hesitate to give a good article its due meed of praise.

HOW TO MARK THE BALLOTS.

Be sure and mark your ballot for the Liberal Conservative Candidates. The elector, on receiving the ballot-paper, shall forthwith proceed into one of the compartments of the polling station, and there mark his ballot-paper, making a cross with a pencil on any part of the ballot-paper within the division (or if there are more than one to be elected, within the divisions) containing the name (or names) of the candidate (or candidates) for whom he intends to vote, and shall then fold up such ballot-paper, so that the initials on the back can be seen without opening it, and hand it to the Deputy Returning Officer, who shall, without unfolding it, ascertain, by examining the initials, and the number upon the counterfoil, that it is the same he furnished to the elector, and shall first detach and destroy the counterfoil, and shall then immediately, and in the presence of the elector, place the ballot-paper in the ballot-box. The Ballot Act, Sec. 45.

Counties should arrange (even if he has to leave for one of the points on the previous day) to vote in as many as it is possible for him to do.

13. An elector having more votes than one in the same electoral district should vote in that electoral sub-division in which he resides. Attention to this rule will facilitate the polling and possibly contribute to the individual elector's comfort.

REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY: "We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
