Wanted a Platform.

EVIDENTLY the Grits believe that a general Dominion election will take place sometime next fall. The grounds on which they propose to meet the electors have not yet appeared. They have no political platform; but they should lose no time in trying to arrange one out of the numberless odds and ends still at their service. They have already found that the Free Trade cry is a failure. Indeed, they are all at heads and points on that subject as upon others. Instance, the conduct of that Free Trade disciple, Mr. McCraney, from Halifax. In the Commons on the 16th, this Free Trader strongly advocated a duty on strawberries, giving as one of his reasons for so doing the statement that many are raised in his County. Again, the Government proposed putting a duty of 10 cents a lb. on butterine and oleomargarine in the interests of our Canadian farmers, but this was not considered sufficient by Grit Free Traders. They wanted a still higher duty imposed, and the Government accepted their proposition. Such is the inconsistency of so called Free Traders. So on the other party question, they are woefully at sea. Mr. Blake, in his London, Ont. speech had "no desire, he said, to construct a platform out of the Regina scaffold." Still, when Parliament met, he did his best to upset the Government over the hanging of Riel. His miserable failure ought to teach him a lesson on that subject. A majority of ninety-four (94) in favor of the Government, the largest majority ever recorded on any question since Confederation, should convince even Mr. Blake that it would have been much better for himself and his party if he had stuck to his London banquet sentiments. When the Riel debate came to a vote in the House, he voted with the "bolters." And how did our Island Grit representatives act? Mr. Davies voted with the Government, Mr. Yeo left the room and thus shirked the vote, while Mr. McIntyre stood up with the bolters. After all the loud talk and wicked threats, there was found only one representative from this Island stupid enough to declare, by his vote, that Riel was, according to Grit writing, "a patriot and a martyr."
If Mr. Blake and his solitary follower from this Island has no better material than Riel sympathy and Free Trade doctrines out of which to form a platform, they had better look around for something else before appeal is made to the people at the polls.

Sons of Temperance.

The quarterly session of Grand Division, held at Hunter River on the 22nd inst., was one of the largest ever held in the Province. Nearly one hundred delegates were in attendance, representing some twenty-six Divisions. A large number of visiting members were also present.
Officers present—James McKinnon, G. W. P.; H. H. Pollard, G. W. A.; Jesse S. Burns, G. S.; William Brown, G. T.; D. W. Henderson, G. C.; Wm. McN. Simpson, P. G. W. P.
Rev. W. P. Archibald was elected Grand Chaplain in place of Rev. Wm. Grant, who is removing to a new field of labor.
The reports of officers show the Order to be in a very prosperous condition, numerically as well as financially.
Twenty-eight new members were admitted to seats in the Grand Division, and a large amount of routine business transacted. Ten Divisions were instituted the past quarter, making in all 47 working Divisions. Forty-four Divisions had forwarded returns to the Grand Scribe previous to the session. These forty-four report a membership of 2,050, the admissions during the quarter amounting to 620.
A public meeting under the auspices of the Grand Division was held in the evening. A magnificent audience greeted the speakers who were listened to throughout with marked attention. Although many were unable even to procure standing room in the building yet the order was such as to reflect credit on the good people of Hunter River.
The Chair was occupied by the G. W. Patriarch.
The meeting was addressed by Wm. McN. Simpson, Rev. W. P. Archibald, Jas. Carruthers, R. M. Barratt, G. W. Bentley, M. P. P., Jas. Wall and John P. Tanton.
The speeches were interspersed with excellent vocal and instrumental music, furnished by a local choir, for which they receive the hearty thanks of the audience.
Recitations were given by J. West and Edith Kitson and G. W. Millner in his usual inimitable style gave "Beautiful Snow."
The members of Hunter River Division and people in the community received the thanks of members of the G. Division for their unbounded hospitality.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Waterworks Question.

SIR,—There must be a hitch somewhere in the popular expectation of getting Charlottetown supplied with pure water in abundance and at once, else we should see large type announcements in the city papers, and live people who attend improvement meetings would be rubbing their hands together for joy, as if Pears' soap and some good clean water had at last come to the front. Yes, it is quite possible that a positive, comparative, or superlative hitch has caught on to the braggadocio that launched the subject, and that the good ship "Waterworks" is dragging her anchors, and going to shoal, or shoal, (which ever the proper word may be) and will be wrecked. Now, whether so sad a catastrophe lies before the waterworks question or not, it is the duty of the taxed public to keep their "eye peeled" as they say over our Southern border, and look after their public affairs in a business like manner.

On such questions as that of supplying wholesome and abundant water to a city like Charlottetown of some ten or twelve thousand users, it would seem criminal to draw the line short of an exhaustive examination of all the ways and means of accomplishing the object. That this has not been done is evident, from the fact that the power of dammed heads (there is no pun meant here) is all that the public brains have been cited to observe. There are, however, three potent factors within the question. The three powers, are wind and steam and water. Each could be made efficient and sufficient, but only the merits or demerits of one has been tapped. Certainly not for want of opportunity, for the Ontario Pump Company wrote to His Honor the Recorder, on the subject and for information with a view of tendering for the job—as we know from private correspondence of which the following is a copy: "Your letter of 11th (March 1886) to hand. We have written to Mr. R. R. Fitzgerald in reference to the proposed water supply, and on receipt of his answer we will put in our tender for same. We may say that we are in a position to supply either steam or wind power, pipes, hydrants, etc., and guarantee a first class job or no pay."

There are three important advantages connected with a water supply by wind power, 1st, Fresh, pure water, unexposed to contamination of any kind. 2nd, Perfect reliability, freedom from accidents, and extraordinary durability. 3rd, Moderate cost, and the expense of running and keeping in order comparatively nothing.

Whether this can or cannot be claimed by the other powers is not here entered upon. The only suggestion being, the common sense one of writing to the Ontario Pump Company, at Toronto, telling them the depth of water to reach, supply required, and height necessary to obtain an unobstructed and

FREE WIND.

The Irish Question.

SIR,—Your correspondent "Galway," in your issue of the 27th inst., on the Irish question, suggests that both branches of our Provincial Legislature pass a resolution endorsing the action of Mr. Gladstone in his efforts to restore to Ireland her National Parliament. This suggestion is timely, and it is to be hoped it will be acted upon. From Australia, from the United States, from other parts of Canada the Legislatures are forwarding their appreciation of Gladstone's great work in the cause of freedom. We who live in a country enjoying the privilege of legislating for ourselves, should rejoice to see the same privileges conferred upon others. England has been truly called the "Mother of Parliaments," and the restoration to Ireland of her ancient rights will be but the development of that freedom which is Britain's proudest boast. Let our Local Legislature pass the resolution.
Yours truly,
IRISHMAN.

The Prince of Wales is a rigid martinet concerning all questions of etiquette and precedence, and I hear that His Royal Highness has "put his foot down" in a very decisive fashion so as to prevent Prince Henry, of Battenburg, from assuming a position at state functions to which he has no right. At the Savoy ceremony, Prince Henry was made to stand behind with Lord Lorne, while Prince Christian was emphatically directed to place himself in front of Her Majesty's morganatic son-in-law. Prince Christian is "born" and is a bona fide royalty, so that he is on an equality with the members of any ruling family. Prince Henry is not "born," and therefore possesses neither rank nor precedence, while the style of Royal Highness which the Queen foolishly bestowed upon him (having absolutely no power whatever to do anything of the kind), is of no avail at any court in Europe except our own, and only at our own to a very limited extent. There was a fuss after Lord Lorne's marriage because he was excluded from the royal supper-room at the state balls, nor was he allowed to join in the royal procession at those entertainments. People are now speculating whether Princess Beatrice and her husband will attend a ball, and if so, what arrangement will be made, as Prince Henry could not be given precedence before the ambassadors, and if he were to occupy the very humble place to which he is entitled he would be separated by some score of couples from his spouse—London Truth.
