The Railway Re-adjustment.

In reply to the Toronto Globe, the Mail says:—

"It assumes that all the vacancies made have been filled up with Conservatives, and that Ministers' relatives and 'Conservative brawlers' are filling the line. Nothing could be more misleading. The Opposition papers do not furnish the fullest information on this subject, even in the east. It is from the Conservative journals that the Globe gets its facts, and if it were honest enough to confess it, it would admit the fact that the complaint is that the dismissed men are all, or nearly all, Conservatives, and that a reduction of pay has been adopted all round without any exception. Men are dismissed, and their places are not filled at all. No one regrets having to do this more than Sir Charles Tupper. He is almost risking his political life in this effort to fulfill his promises and save the country some portion of the loss on the Intercolonial railway, which in two years amounted to the fearful sum of eleven hundred thousand dollars. A speedy stop must be put to this sort of thing. As our correspondent points out, the Intercolonial railway under the late Administration was made, or attempted to be made, a gigantic political engine. But the attempt in great part failed. The expenses swelled up; salaries were increased; running expenses increased; contracts were made political footballs, and much work was done without contracts at all. Sir Charles Tupper is determined that the deficit shall be reduced; that money shall be saved somehow. If the road was run by a company it could at this time get men in hundreds for less salaries than are paid the present employees, even at the reduced rate. That they should complain is natural. But that Sir Charles Tupper should so energetically carry out his policy of economy at so much evident risk to his own political future, is an evidence of his high determination of character, and is a policy which should meet with the approbation of all Canadians.

This is well as far as it goes. But the true cause of the dissatisfaction with the re-adjustment is—not the economical policy of Government. Every one—at least every one worth regarding is pleased with it. But it is the blind, headlong, indiscriminate way the economical changes were made which gives offence.

In this Island dead men have received appointments; while some of the oldest and most capable men on the road have been discharged. Strong opponents of the Government, who have been in office but a short time, have taken the places of officials, neutral or Conservative in politics, who were employed on the road since its opening, and are now sent about their business. It is of such wrong acts as these that the Conservatives of this Province justly complain. Of course the Minister of Railways (though responsible) cannot properly be blamed for them. He cannot be expected to attend to details which his Superintendents are paid to see after. But if he permits Mr. Schreiber to go on as he has begun, the support of the Government will undoubtedly be weakened. In the interests of the Government, we advise the exercise of more discriminative care respecting the changes of the future.

Government Appointments, etc.

We learn that Nicholas Conroy, Esq., has been appointed Registrar of Deeds, instead of Benjamin DesBrisay, Esq., who has been transferred to the Land Office.

Mr. Conroy resigned his seat in the Government, and Mr. Peter Gavin, the junior member for Tignish, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the Executive Council.

Mr. F. W. Hughes has been appointed Assistant Librarian, instead of John McGowan, Esq., whose appointment has been cancelled.

The appointment of Mr. John W. Scott, clerk in the Land Office, has been cancelled.

PETER CAVIN, a farmer, of London, Ontario, has a son who is a somnambulist, and who, on Wednesday night last, walked out of a second story window and broke both of his arms. The fall did not waken him, and it was not till he had gone quite a distance, and jumped over a high fence, that he was captured and awakened.—Exchange.

P. S.—Arrangements have been made for the accommodation of all the ministers of the Conference and for the Candidates for Ordination. It would be esteemed a great favor if any member of Conference not intending to be present at Charlottetown would send an early intimation to that effect.

JOHN LATHERN.

Ch'town, May 30th, 1879.

It is reported that good coal has been discovered a few leagues from Ottawa, but whether or no the seam is workable is not said.

The Londonderry Iron Mines.

A portion of the Grit press, particularly those who are apt to send telegrams to one another, on very slim information, will be somewhat disappointed at the very satisfactory arrangement secured to the Steel Company of Canada in the matter of freight. We are glad to learn that difficulties are all removed, and to-day the works present a scene of unusual activity. We would rather see two or three governments upset than to know that these works were in the least hampered, and from the very first murmurings of discontent we felt assured that the Government would make matters right. It would, however, have been bad for the Company had the Grits been in power.—Truro Sun.

Gladstone on the Church of England.

Mr. Gladstone recently spoke as follows about the Church of England: "We all of us believe that the difficulties of the Church of England are great. She has had difficulties to encounter, and she may have more; she has had controversies within and without, and we cannot hope that the voice of controversy will all at once be lulled. It is not difficult to find matter for criticism in her laws and in her actions. But, wishing above all things to know the truth, and not wishing to conceal from ourselves any of our defects, it would be shortsighted policy to do so, even if there were no other reason, I believe that we who are here assembled, and thousands, tens of thousands and millions, outside these walls are united in the firm belief that the Church of England has still a great work to perform for herself, for the people, and for Christendom at large."

"A Night in Scotland!"

The "Fairbairn Family" will give two of their popular entertainments on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next in the Market Hall. Speaking of their recent performance in Boston, the Journal says:

"The Fairbairn Family gave one of their unique entertainments in the Association Hall last evening. All the seats and standing room were occupied. The programme consisted of eighteen numbers, and almost as many encores. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, the entire audience remaining until ten o'clock, and reluctantly leaving even then. There was a delegation present from the Caledonian Club, in full Highland costume, who were highly applauded as they entered the Hall just after the singing of 'A man's man for a' that.' The explanations of the origin and incidents of the songs, by Mr. Angus Fairbairn, were of equal interest with the rendering of the music. No entertainment of the kind, of equal merit, has been given in Boston by other parties, and it is to be hoped that the public may have a speedy opportunity to hear these justly celebrated vocalists again."

The statements of a reckless contemporary that the City Council bought refined iron for bolts for the addition to Pownal Wharf at five cents, while iron costing three cents would have been quite good enough, is entirely incorrect. The price paid by the Council for the iron referred to, was three cents per pound—and not five cents.

The steamer Valetta arrived from Montreal this morning with a cargo of general merchandise, and after discharging sailed for Pictou.

The immigration into the United States from Europe has this year largely exceeded any period since the depression set in, a fact which may be attributed to the gradual revival of industries on this Continent at a time when the crisis is being most severely felt in the Old World. In May the arrivals at New York were 18,109 emigrants against 12,213 in May last year; an increase of about 50 per cent.; and in the year ending June 1st, there arrived at New York from Europe, 92,801 emigrants, against 71,091 in the preceding year. The greater number of those who emigrated to the United States last month were Germans, Irish, English, Swedes and Norwegians.

A St. Petersburg despatch reports on unimpeachable authority that the Czar renounced his visit to Berlin because the German police had received intelligence that it was highly probable his assassination would be attempted there.
